HEAT BLANKET COVERS COUNTRY

Nine Cities Suffer Temperature of More than 100 Degrees; Climbs to 106 at Wichita.

CHICAGO'S MAXIMUM IS 95.

Despite the Soaring Mercury Only One Death and Five Prostrations Are Reported.

HEAT MAKES MORE RECORDS.

Following is a list of cities where the mercury yesterday reached 100 degrees or more:

Abilene, Tex.....100	McAlester, Okla..105
Concordia, Kas..100	Oklahoma, Okla.100
Denver, Colo.....100	Topeka, Kas.....102
Dodge 102	Wichita, Kas. ...106
Kansas City, Mo..102

Nine of the eighty-two cities throughout the United States from which returns were received at the local weather bureau last evening reported temperatures of 100 degrees or over. Thirty-six of the eighty-two reported temperatures of 90 degrees or over. Chicago with its 95° maximum was among the thirty-six.

Such an array of "maximums," indicating a heat spell covering the entire country, it was said, has not been seen in the last ten years.

Objections to its being called a "heat wave" were made on the grounds that a wave moves, while the present torridity seems to have settled like a great blanket over the country, with Wichita, Kas., and its record of 106 as a center, with the 90 degree lines reaching to the Atlantic coast at the south and as far north as Canada in the central west. The Pacific coast, shut off by the Rocky mountains, appeared alone in its escape from the severity of the sun.

Goes to 95 in Chicago.

In Chicago Sunday's record of 97 was not equaled, but all previous records of the year—those of July 8 and 9—were met at the 95 degree notch. Better things are in prospect for the city today, with probabilities of local thunder showers; but the most sanguine weather prophet refused to predict a lifting of the heavy blanket from the country at large.

In addition to the list of high temperature cities at the head of this column, some of the towns with a score of over the 90 mark were:

Amarillo, Tex........96	Madison, Wis.........96
[illegible], S. D.......90	North Platte, Neb....98
Charles City.........9[illegible]	Omaha, Neb...........92
[illegible], Wyo........94	Parkersburg, [illegible]..90
Davenport, Ia.........96	Peoria, Ill............94
Des Moines...........92	Philadelphia, Pa......90
Dubuque, Ia...........94	Pueblo, Colo..........94
El Paso, Tex..........96	Rapid City............92
Helena, Mont..........90	Salt Lake City, Utah.92
Huron, S. D...........90	San Antonio, Tex.....96
Jacksonville, Fla.....90	Springfield, Ill.......90
Lander................90	Springfield, Mo.......90
Little Rock, Ark......90	Washington, D. C....94

Clouds Are Scarce.

Not one of the communities among those that suffered most reported a drop of rain during the day. "Fair" or "clear" was the report from the great majority, while some found hope in the word "cloudy" that was sent in.

Even the Atlantic coast has not been spared in the last few days. Boston and New England points, which saw the mercury in the 90s, reported it had dropped back into the 80s, but at many points in the eastern section it still was felt that they were in for more uncomfortable days.

In the scanning of the records of the last four days Wichita, Kas., proved a record breaker. On Saturday the themometer there stood at 96, on Sunday it went up to 104, then held there over Monday until it jumped to high mark for the country—106.

Denver in Heat's Grasp.

In Kansas, Concordia reached its record, and North Platte, Neb., scored 104. Denver experienced a slight relief on Monday when its mercury dropped from 100 down to 94, but it gasped again when its former mark was equaled. Kansas City, which reported 96 on Sunday, went up to 102. Abilene, Tex., with a record of 100 on Monday, Dodge City, Kas., with 102, and Oklahoma City with 100, remained unchanged so far as the maximum was concerned.

Chicago suffered most from 3 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when the mercury stood almost exactly at the 95 mark, once getting above it the tenth of a degree. A breeze from the southeast that carried with it the coolness of Lake Michigan and dropped the mercury to 74 about sunrise, gave way shortly after to a renewal of the west and southwest winds of Sunday, and the silver liquid again sped upward.

The lack of humidity made the day more bearable here than the thermometer would indicate.

One death and five prostrations were reported during the day.

The Dead.

LEONARD, PATRICK, 42 years old, 909 Lowell street; died at county hospital after attack said to have been due to the heat.

The Prostrated.

PETERS, ANDREW, 24 years old, 2318 Grand avenue; overcome at South Robey street and West Jackson boulevard; taken to county hospital.

SOLOMON, JOSEPH, 64 years old, 562 Maxwell street, a laborer; collapsed from the heat at 1407 West Taylor street; taken unconscious to the county hospital; condition serious.

SOPER, W. O., 1465 North Talman avenue; overcome by the heat while at work at 117 Market street; resuscitated by police ambulance physician.

[illegible], WILLIAM, 26 years old, 645 West Madison street; overcome at Throop and West Monroe streets; taken to county hospital.

KATES, W. T., 55 years old, 235 West Fifty-eighth street, a plumber; overcome while at work in the residence of Mrs. F. Richards, 239 West Sixtieth street; taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

North Shore Gets Showers.

Prof. Cox's prediction of local thunder showers was fulfilled before it was put in type in the newspaper offices, for about 9 o'clock there were showers in Edgewater and along the north shore, although not a drop fell in the downtown district or other sections of the city.

What Is There

about some want ads that makes them jump out at you from a long column and fairly grip your attention?

Their human interest, in most cases. Whoever wrote them thought the best way of selling you something was to give a vivid picture of it—to bring out all the good points so strongly as to make you want to buy.

Cut and dried phrases won't do this. Of course, almost any sort of a Tribune want ad will bring some results, but that isn't the point. Make your ad real—different—one that will capture the cream of the day's replies.

REMINGTON HEIR SHOOTS HIMSELF

Nephew of Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and Member of Family of Typewriter Makers Attempts to End Life.

"DISCOURAGED," HIS PLEA

City's Failure to Adopt His Recent Invention Is Sequel to Series of Reverses in Business.

Carver Remington attempted to kill himself by shooting yesterday afternoon while in the tailor shop of Tanner & Conley, 99 Washington street. Remington is a member of the family known for the Remington typewriter and firearms. His mother was a sister of Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and he is a cousin of Joseph Leiter and of Payson Thompson of Chicago. Remington's chances of recovery are slight.

Remington was found seated on a chair in the rear of the tailor shop. In one hand was a revolver of the family make. In the other were a number of letters.

"Never mind me. See that these are mailed," he said. Then he keeled over.

His wife was immediately notified, and she and Mr. Thompson spent the night at the hospital. Mr. Leiter was apprised of the tragedy by telegraph.

One letter Remington had addressed to his wife at Ellis hotel, Forty-second street and Ellis avenue; another to his brother, Franklin Remington of the Foundation company, 115 Broadway, New York; a third was addressed to Thomas Conley, 99 Washington street, and the fourth to an undertaking company, in which he gave instructions that he be buried in a $30 coffin.

Rallies at Hospital.

The wounded man was taken to the Practitioners' hospital, Franklin and Washington streets. Dr. Forrester found that the bullet fractured the fourth rib and lodged in the muscles of the back. An operation was performed.

Remington rallied from the effects of the anesthetic and conversed with his wife and Mr. Thompson. The wounded man expressed disappointment that the bullet had not ended his life.

Remington has been a promoter for several years. Recently he invented an appliance for shutting off gas in pipes at the curbing, and his inability to have the Chicago city council adopt it is thought to have preyed upon his mind.

The letter written by him to the undertakers is:

"Gentlemen: Kindly take charge of my remains and furnish a $30 casket. Have the outside box of fairly good material [illegible].

"Also notify my brother, Franklin Remington, 115 Broadway, New York City. He will see that your bill is paid. I have written him and he will communicate with you. My wife is at 4201 Ellis avenue, where we have been making our home since early winter. Very truly yours,

"CARVER REMINGTON."

Writes "I Am Just Discouraged."

The letter to Mr. Conley reads:

Dear friend Conley:—Pardon me for putting you to so much trouble and annoyance, but I just had to do this act while in the mood.

"Kindly see that the letter to my brother and also the one to my wife are posted. There is nothing in them that will throw any light on my act, so the coroner will have no use for them.

"I am just discouraged, that's all, and there is no use in struggling along further. Please call up Oakland 819 and notify Miss Hill, the lady who runs this house. She will break the news to my wife. The house is known as the Ellis. Thanking you for your kindness,

"CARVER REMINGTON."

The letters addressed to his brother Franklin and his wife were sealed and stamped, and for that reason were not opened by the police.

For several months Remington had made the tailoring establishment of Tanner & Conley a lounging place. Scarcely a day passed that he did not put in an appearance for what he jokingly called "roll call." On entering the tailor shop he would cry out "Carver Remington," and then answer "Here."

This never failed to provoke laughter from the proprietors of the shop and also from Remington.

Wife Collapses When Told.

When Mrs. Remington was notified of the shooting she collapsed. When she reached the Practitioners' hospital later her husband had been taken from the operating table. She remained at the hospital all night.

"Things have been going against me and I just could not stand the strain," Remington is said to have told his wife.

Mrs. Remington said that her husband had been despondent for some time over his failure to float bonds for Arkansas coal lands. He had a similar experience some time ago with a zinc mine at Joplin, Mo.

Remington has lived in Chicago about twenty years. He was president of the Remington Construction company.

Notify Daughter and Joseph Leiter.

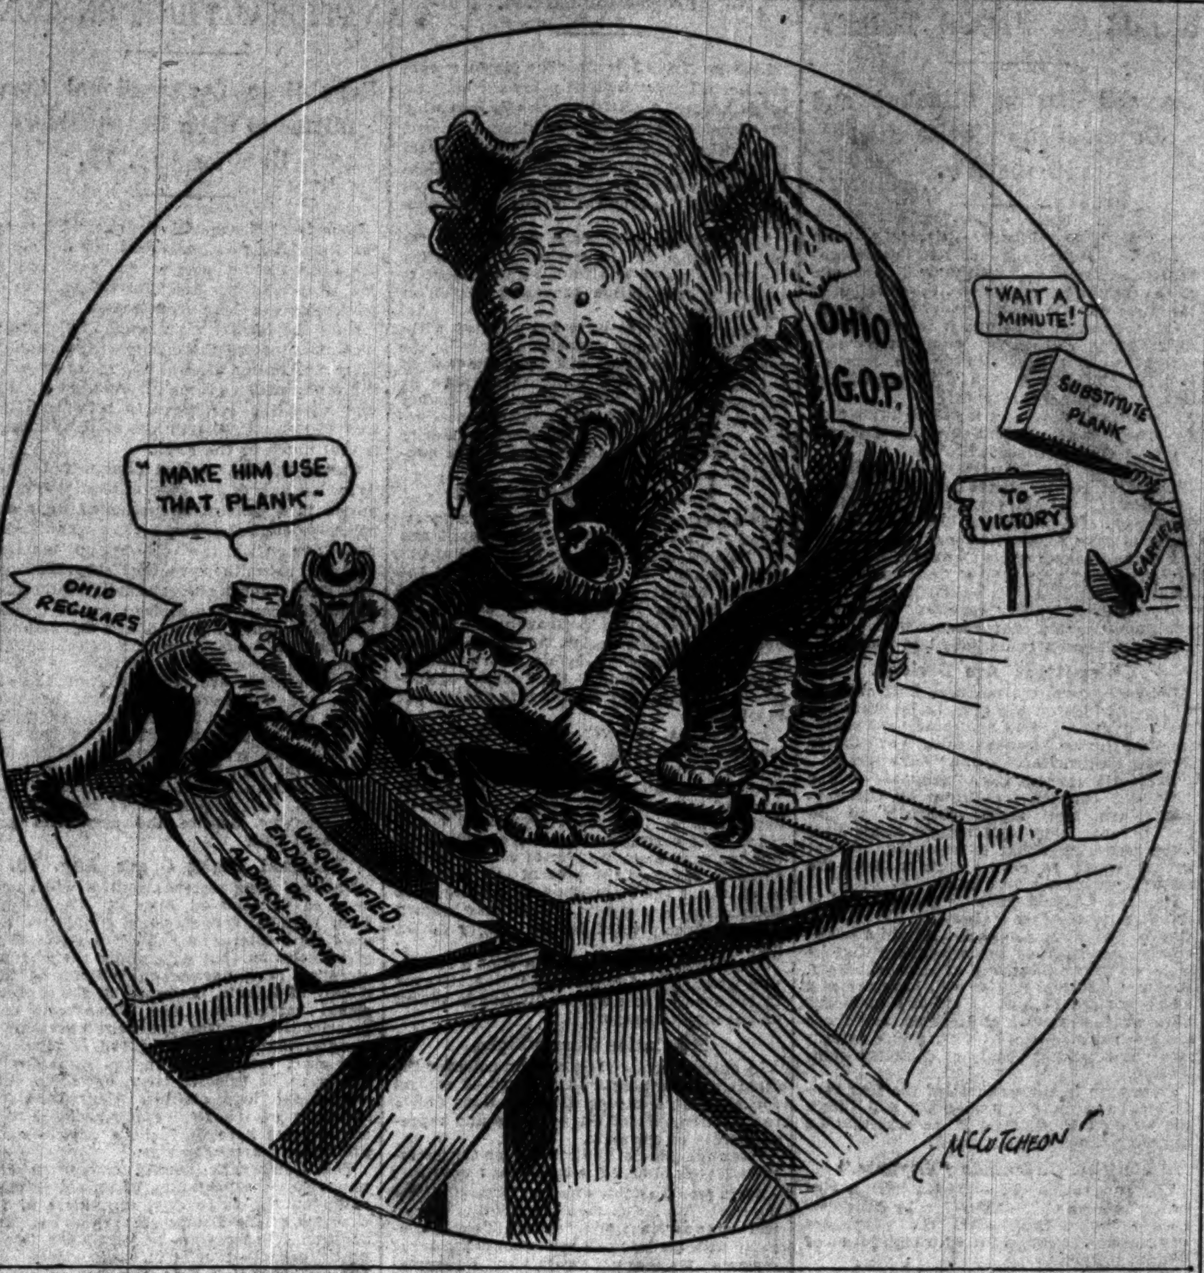
Mr. Thompson, after learning from Dr. Forrester that Remington has only a fighting chance, sent a telegram to Mrs. Nellie Golden of Houston, Tex., his only daughter, who is now visiting relatives at Ilion, N. Y., the birthplace of her father. Telegrams were also sent to Joseph Leiter, who is at Beverly, Mass., and other relatives.

Dr. Henry Hooper, 1210 Astor street, was summoned to the hospital by Mr. Thompson later. Dr. Hooper, after visiting Remington, said that there was small hope for his recovery. Thompson refused to talk about the affair, as also did Mrs. Remington.

Remington's mother was a Miss Carver. One sister, Mary Theresa Carver, was married to Levi Z. Leiter. The other sister is Mrs. Victoria Thompson, who lives at 915 Dearborn avenue. Remington has a brother, Franklin Remington, who lives in New York, and a sister, Mrs. William Pittyman, who formerly lived in Chicago but who now lives in London.

The brother was reached by telegram at his summer residence in Oyster Bay and replied that he had had no intimation that things were going wrong with his brother. Mr. Remington said he hadn't seen his brother in two or three years, but that letters frequently passed between them. Carver Remington's letters appeared cheerful of late, he said, and he could not offer any explanation of the attempt at suicide beyond temporary derangement.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS IN THE OHIO CONVENTION.



BATHE ALL YE OF AURORA!

Each Person Must Use Tub or Run Chances of Arrest.

KEEP WINDOWS OPEN, TOO.

Chase Flies, Sweep Floors, and Be Tidy About Premises.

AURORA'S NEW HEALTH LAWS.

Take a bath once a week.

Do not spit on the floors, even of your own house.

Sinks, wash bowls, etc., must be kept strictly clean.

Keep out the flies.

Sweep the floors thoroughly each day and scrub them at least once each week.

No more than two persons may sleep in a small room and not more than five in a room of moderate size.

All rooms, especially sleeping rooms, must be kept clean and well ventilated.

Windows must be kept open in all bedrooms.

Bed clothing must be thoroughly aired at least once a week.

Yards must be kept free from disease breeding rubbish and refuse.

Place garbage in regulation cans and set them out on day of collection.

Publication of the above rules yesterday by Aurora's board of health was accompanied by a notice from Dr. A. R. Reder, health officer, that they would be strictly enforced and that violations would invite prosecution "to the fullest extent of the law." Moreover, Frank Mitchell, chief of police, signed his name below Dr. Reder's as a warning that seekers for leniency need not look to him.

"Those rules go," said the police chief, grimly. "Every one must take his bath and do the rest of the stunts. And I want to say right now that we are not working in the interest of the bathtub trust, either."

Dr. Reder further announced that he or some other attaché of the health department would visit every residence each week to see that the new rules were being observed.

Residents Hear, Then Wonder.

As soon as the new health laws become known there was trouble in Aurora. Former Senator A. J. Hopkins said he thought the regulations were "sane and conservative," but there were others who wondered how Dr. Reder would be able to satisfy himself, on his inspection tours, whether the one a week bath had been taken as required.

"That may be a puzzler occasionally," said the doctor, "but if I should hale the wrong man, woman, or child into court, wouldn't it be a matter of evidence? The wise ones will have their alibis—I mean they will be able to show that they took their dip or soak or whatever the variety was. Proof will lie with members of the family, you know, or receipts at the barber shop."

Every portable bathtub in Aurora was bought up within an hour after Dr. Reder's proclamation was made. Dealers in plumbing supplies all sent in rush orders for bathroom equipment and hot water attachments for kitchen stoves. The towel departments of the dry goods stores did a rushing business. Drug stores made record sales of shower apparatus.

Excited by Ban on Flies.

Next to the bathing regulations, the ban on flies most excited the Aurorans. Although Dr. Reder told inquirers he "did not intend to be unreasonable," he wouldn't say how many flies to the cubic yard would be allowed without a penalty.

However, less blue bottle flies than of the ordinary or garden variety will be permitted. He suggested that parents offer rewards of say five cents a hundred to stimulate the activity of their children with wadded newspapers.

SEE WHO'S HERE! BERRY WALL! AND DOESN'T LIKE CHICAGO.

Former King Bee of "Dudes" Makes Visit to "Wild and Woolly" West—Surprised at Absence of Many Residents.

Evander Berry Wall, who won the title of "King of Dudes" by his domination of New York's ultra fashionable set a quarter of a century ago, arrived in Chicago yesterday on his first venture into the wild and woolly [illegible].

He is going back to "The Avenue" right away, although he graciously admits that Chicago is possibly all right in the winter. He is accompanied by his multi-millionaire nephew, Harvey S. Ladew, whose father left him one of the largest leather belting concerns in the world. When thus accused of being in trade by his uncle Mr. Ladew admitted it, but remarked in extenuation that he had so little to do with the business that he really didn't know on what street his Chicago plant is located.

Mr. Wall explained his demure attire as due to the fact that he is in mourning for the death of his sister, Mrs. Louise Berry Wall Ladew, mother of his companion. Out of her $2,000,000 fortune his sister left him an income of $250 a month. At one stage in Mr. Wall's career he received $300,000 in a lump. Shortly thereafter he had $250 worth of cuffs and other clothing in proportion. And three years later a check of his for $25 went to protest and bankruptcy followed.

Mr. Wall was most displeased with Chicago weather, next with Chicago streets, and finally with the absence of much of Chicago's population. He refused to express an opinion on the clothes of Chicagoans further than to remark that they evidently "don't worry much about such things."

DESERTS DISHWASHING TASK.

Lad Takes to the Road When Domestic Duties Threaten to Become Permanent.

Leonard Taylor, who is only 9 years old, doesn't believe in taking any chances with this suffragette movement. Accordingly, when his mother, Mrs. James Taylor, 7246 Prairie avenue, asked him to wash the dishes after dinner, he entered a loud protest. When she put him at the task again after breakfast, he deserted—he was afraid it would become habit. Leonard took to the road and walked as far as Lincoln park when he fell asleep on a bench. Patrolman Von Pyon found him there early yesterday morning and took him to the Chicago avenue police station. Dishwashing or no dishwashing, Leonard says he was glad to return, when his father came for him.

HERE'S NEWEST CALLING CARD.

Specimen from White Salmon Has Family History and Census on Back.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—A new idea in calling cards reached New York today by way of White Salmon, a small town in Washington state. The card was first seen at the Hotel Astor, where it was presented by Al H. Jewett of White Salmon.

The face looks like any ordinary card, with the address in one corner. The new idea is on the back, where a brief history of the family name appears.

According to the card presented by Mr. Jewett, he is the tenth son of a family of boys. The names of all the male members of the family are on the back of his card, numbered in rotation.

OLGA MENN IS ILL IN VIENNA.

Fiancee of Suicide Baron Rothschild Never Recovered from the Shock.

Dr. Rudolf Menn, 1832 Lincoln avenue, who has been connected with the German hospital of Chicago for many years, has left Chicago for Vienna, Austria, where his daughter Olga Menn, is reported to be seriously ill. It will be remembered that Baron Oskar Rothschild committed suicide about a year ago because he could not win the hand of the talented Chicago singer. Miss Menn is said never to have recovered from the shock of Baron Rothschild's death.

MANY POISONS IN ONE DRAFT

Connecticut Doctor Ends Life by Quaffing Deadly Compound.

AILING, HE SOUGHT DEATH.

Believed Paralytic Stroke Would Come Soon and Prove Fatal.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 26.—[Special.]—Dr. Frederick L. Graves, one of the foremost medical practitioners of western Connecticut, died here today eighteen hours after taking a deadly draft compounded from many poisons with suicidal intent. Dr. Graves had been melancholy because he believed himself incurably ill.

Graves' wife found him lying under a tree at the rear of their summer home, Laurel Beach, Milford, yesterday morning when she returned from a stroll along the shore. She saw he was not himself.

"Why, Fred, what's wrong?" she asked.

"Nothing," he replied, drowsily. "I'm tired out. Please let me rest."

She knew something was wrong and summoned other members of their house party.

Find Poison Bottles Empty.

Doctors John Wright and Charles H. Sprague of this city, raced to the doctor's aid in automobiles. They found him unconscious. They first believed he was suffering from morphine poisoning, but soon were puzzled by conflicting symptoms. When they examined his medicine case they found every poison was missing. They remained at his side until midnight. Then summoned an automobile ambulance from this city and sped with their patient to Dr. Wright's private hospital. He died at four o'clock this morning without regaining consciousness.

Dr. Graves suffered a fall on the streets years ago that injured his head so badly as to disable him for more than a week. He frequently complained of pains in the head. On July 5 he was stricken with a mild paralytic shock. He immediately went into a decline.

Feared Fatal Second Stroke.

Though his friends tried to cheer him, he insisted the first shock was merely the harbinger of another, and he felt convinced the second would prove fatal.

Though Mrs. Graves' friends today insisted religious differences between the couple never led to more than an interesting controversy, fellow practitioners were equally certain the enthusiasm Mrs. Graves manifested for Christian Science caused the doctor uneasiness. Mrs. Graves' father was Silas Damon of New York and Bridgeport, mental healer and advocate of electric treatment.

Drs. Wright and Sprague notified Medical Examiner F. B. Downs of the death of Dr. Graves this afternoon. He investigated, satisfied himself death was suicidal, and his report was accepted by Coroner Clifford B. Wilson as final.

HONOLULU WON BY THE WETS.

In Special Election Provided by Congress Vote Is 3,833 to 915—All Returns Not In.

HONOLULU, July 26.—In the special election offered by congress to determine whether the Hawaiian Islands shall become "dry" and the importation of all liquor be prohibited, the "wets" won in Honolulu today, by a vote of 3,833 to 915. Returns from other parts of this and other islands have not yet been received but are expected to add to the majority for the "wets."

GETS SHAVE IN QUICK ORDER.

Mustache, Eyebrows, and Part of Hair Go When Spark Hits Facial Adornment.

One way of getting a shave was found last night by Cornelius T. Callaghan, 5205 South Carpenter street. The experiment cost him mustache, eyebrows, and part of his hair. Mr. Callaghan was on the front platform of a north bound Halsted street car, when a fuse blew out at Sixtieth street. The next minute he looked like a human Chihuahua.

DEPOSE BRYAN AS NEBRASKA LEADER

Democratic Convention Turns Down Three Times Presidential Candidate, 647 to 198.

COUNTY OPTION IS ISSUE.

Cheers Greet Vote When Downfall of Commoner Is Certain; Howls Drown Friend's Plea.

Grand Island, Neb., July 26.—Nebraska Democrats tonight wrested the leadership of their state organization from William J. Bryan on the issue of county option.

By decisive votes they registered their unbelief in his present policies after listening to an impassioned appeal from Mr. Bryan, who declared the liquor interests were in an organized attempt to secure political control of the state.

The minority plank submitted by Mr. Bryan was brief and his opponents declared was an effort to recede from his former radical attitude. But the workers against the county option plank were unappeased and stood firmly against it.

The attitude of many of Mr. Bryan's former lieutenants toward him was evinced in the speeches of several who addressed the convention after him. His reference to "assassins" in the party was frequently referred to, and as each speaker denounced his present position the cheers of the delegates showed that the appeal of Mr. Bryan had been ineffectual.

The vote by which his county option plank was rejected was not taken until nearly midnight. It resulted 647 to 198.

Mr. Bryan made no comment after the vote, and in his answer to questions referred to his speech in which he proclaimed his fealty to the Democratic party and its platform.

Governor Won Every Point.

The principal figures in the fight were Bryan, Gov. Shallenberger, and James C. Dahlman of Omaha. Here is what each asked for in the convention and what they got:

Bryan asked for adoption of county option plank, the initiative and referendum, and the elimination of the brewers from Nebraska politics. He got the initiative and referendum.

Shallenberger opposed any plank on county option, but will sign a county option law if one is passed by the legislature; asked an indorsement of his administration and the initiative and referendum, also an indorsement of the 8 o'clock closing law. He got everything he asked for.

Dahlman asked for a [illegible] county option [illegible] o'clock closing law, no indorsement of the Shallenberger administration. He failed to score a point.

The test vote that foreshadowed the downfall of Bryan came on a motion made by Congressman Gilbert M. Hitchcock, a candidate for the senatorial nomination, which, in effect, was to eliminate the introduction of platform planks with acompanying speeches, unless submitted as a section of the majority or minority report of the committee on resolutions.

Cheer as Vote Shows Bryan Defeat.

Mr. Bryan, seated as a member of the Lancaster county delegation, was upon his feet at once, with a protest and offered an amendment, to modify the intent of the original motion.

A dozen delegates made as many motions and heated speeches on the subject, the Bryan adherents denouncing the Hitchcock motion as "gag rule" and their opponents declaring that "individual rule" must not prevail in the convention.

Chairman Smyth ordered a roll call on the amendment, and the gathering was silent as the vote of the counties was called that would determine the Bryan strength.

When two thirds had been called, foes of Mr. Bryan realised that he was defeated, and a wave of cheers, that drowned the roll call began.

Vote Is 435 to 394.

As Chairman Smyth read the result, 435 against the amendment to 394 in favor of it, the delegates sounded afresh a volume of cheers that seemed to indicate their relief from the uncertainty that had existed as to the strength which Mr. Bryan might develop in the convention. The original motion of Mr. Hitchcock then was adopted.

Mr. Hitchcock's resolution follows:

RESOLVED, That all proposed platform planks or declarations of this convention shall be presented or referred to the resolutions committee without discussion, and shall not be brought before the convention except when embraced in a majority or minority report of that committee.

Smyth Forecasts Bryan's Fall.

The convention was called to order at 2 p. m. and C. J. Smyth was named for temporary chairman. Mr. Smyth in his speech made a plea for party unity, asserting that the disorganized condition of the Republican party assured Democratic success, if party differences were buried.

Referring to William J. Bryan, but without mentioning his name, Mr. Smyth said:

"In considering the great questions that may come before us today, let us be tolerant of each other's views. Impute unworthy motives to no one except on the most conclusive proof. Deny to no man that liberty of opinion which you claim for yourself. It may be necessary today for some of us to refuse to follow a leadership which for almost twenty years has given luster to our party in the state and the nation. If it should let no man say that it argues any abatement in the esteem of him who embodies that leadership. When this convention shall have adjourned our differences, I am sure, will be forgotten, and we will all fall into our accustomed places, the leader in his and the subordinates in theirs, to fight for our platform and our party."

Mr. Smyth was later made permanent chairman.

Rival Candidates Speak.

While the committee on resolutions was drafting its report Gov. Shallenberger and Mayor Dahlman of Omaha, rivals for the nomination for governor, addressed the convention and buried verbal shafts at each other.

The Omaha mayor said he welcomed a fight in the convention as a trip of several hundred miles to a harmonious gathering was not worth the expenditure of car fare.

Gov. Shallenberger also asserted his eagerness for a lively battle and announced his willingness to stand for [illegible] indorsement of the daylight closing law, the operation of which had been attacked by Mayor Dahlman and his followers. The governor also promised the delegates that if reelected, together with a Democratic legislature, he would give them opportunity through legislative action to settle the saloon question definitely.

The convention took a recess until 8 o'clock to await the report of the committee on resolutions.

Dissension among the membership of the resolutions committee delayed the presentation of the divergent reports until long after the hour at which they were to report at the evening session.

A disorderly crowd that packed the tent, preventing many of the delegates from occupying their seats, also delayed the proceedings.

The differences of the Shallenberger and Dahlman factions on minor points of the platform did not prevent a solid front by them against the county option issue, of which Mr. Bryan was the only sponsor.

Howls Greet Plea for Bryan.

At the opening of the evening session former Senator W. R. Patrick, the Bryan candidate for governor, took the platform and openly defied the opponents of Bryan. He declared that failure to adopt the county option plank meant certain defeat at the polls. Despite the howls and shouts of the delegates he began an attack on Gov. Shallenberger and Mayor Dahlman until cautioned by Chairman Smyth. He declared that Bryan was the only man who did or could lead the army to Democratic victory and stood with folded arms and defiant mien as the convention again tried to shout him into cessation.

Shouts of "Sit down" were ineffectual. Chairman Smyth vainly sought to still the disturbance in the tent.

"Hear him out," he pleaded. "You don't have to vote for him, but at least give him a hearing."

The combativeness of the speaker finally won the audience and he was given a round of applause as he concluded.

Platform Committee Reports.

The committee on resolutions reported at the close of Mr. Patrick's speech and the majority report was read.

The platform indorsed the administration of Gov. Shallenberger and favored the giving to metropolitan cities and cities of the first class, the right to make their own charters.

It was declared that there was unanimity of opinion on every phase, save one.

A protest against the indorsement of Gov. Shallenberger as illegal was disregarded.

The plank in dispute then was read by the chairman. It was:

> We heartily approve of the daylight saloon law, and we commend the courageous action of Gov. Shallenberger in approving it.

A vote upon the plank then was taken, and it was adopted by a vote of 710 to 163.

It was then announced that two minority reports would be submitted, one by W. J. Bryan and the other by H. B. Fleharty. The reports were startling in their brevity.

That of Mr. Bryan read:

> We favor county option as the best method of dealing with the liquor question.

That of Mr. Fleharty was equally brief. It was:

> We favor local option as now provided for by law, but are opposed to county option.

Hear Bryan in Silence.

Mr. Bryan, speaking from the platform in behalf of the minority plank presented by him, was greeted by shouts of applause and was listened to in silence. He said in part:

"If I have advocated that which is not good for the state, let me feel your wrath. If you find I have done anything that is not for the good of the Democratic party, I do not ask your mercy.

"Who, less than I, could desire to disrupt the Democratic party? Am I not aware what a repudiation at your hands will mean to me?

"It has been said that I am making this fight because I am not a candidate. Nothing could be more untrue."

Mr. Bryan here referred to the political battles he had waged, and declared he had been fearless when his own future seemed at stake.

Continuing he said: "I have been called a dictator for expressing my opinion. Your candidates here today have expressed their sentiments. By what law am I compelled to remain silent, when I feel that the good name of my state is at stake?

"It has been said that I am aggrieved because I have been sold out by the liquor interests in my own state. I have been sold out by these liquor Democrats in my own state and saved by the votes of self-respecting Republicans, who refused to aid in it.

"I expect to be in politics for many years yet. I expect to aid in the work of the Democratic party, but I will not remain silent when a band of political assassins attack me."

The speaker then attacked the seated delegates of Douglas county, in which Omaha is located, declaring that they were not the choice of the Democrats of the county.

Liquor Plot to Steal State.

"I am not willing to admit that this is a final settlement of this question," continued Mr. Bryan, "and on a moral question I am not afraid to express my opinion and stand on it, if I have to stand alone."

Mr. Bryan declared that he had learned on his return from South America of the plan to betray Nebraska into the hands of the liquor interests. He said that the election of United States senators and state officials was a part of the conspiracy and that he felt called upon to prevent the political burglary of the state.

"The Republican party and the Populist party of this state have adopted county option," said Mr. Bryan in conclusion. "If you do not adopt it, it becomes an issue. Your speakers say the tide is turning toward Democracy in national issues; then make your fight on them, not in defense of the liquor traffic."

The majority plank on the liquor question, favored by five of the seven members, then was read as follows:

> We are opposed to making county option, or any other plan for the regulation of the liquor traffic, a question of party creed. We stand for and insist upon strict enforcement of our present laws, and believe that any further changes in our liquor legislation should be decided by a direct vote of the people, and that the cause of good government and public morals will be better served in that way than by dividing the people into hostile factions on purely moral issues.

Speeches were made by the sponsors of the planks, and the convention then settled down to the final battle.

Platform Emphasizes Tariff Issue.

The arraignment of the present Republican administration is the strong feature of the platform as it pertains to national issues. It strongly indorses the last national Democratic platform and the present state administration, and continues:

"We congratulate the party upon the widespread revival of Democratic sentiment which gives promise of Democratic victory. We see in the passage of the present tariff law an example of subserviency of the Republican administration to the privileged interests of the country.

"We congratulate the country that Democratic opposition has thus far succeeded in defeating the iniquitous ship subsidy. We recognize in the many excessive rates on such favored products as steel, woolen goods, rubber, lumber, and others, the return which the Republican politicians are making to the plundering trusts for campaign contributions two years ago.

Ballinger Issue Raised.

"We condemn the president for surrendering to Aldrich and Cannon the control of tariff revision and for using his patronage to enforce unwilling congressmen of the Republican party to accept their dictation. We deplore the president's folly and weakness in surrounding himself with a cabinet of trust advisers. We favor the conservation of the national resources of the country and condemn the policy under which favored capitalists and political syndicates secure control of water power, coal mines, and other resources of the nation's wealth in the states and Alaska unrestrained and apparently favored by the present national administration.

"We condemn the president for retaining in his cabinet the close friend and former attorney for the powerful and unscrupulous syndicate caught in the act of plunder.

"We join the Democrats everywhere in pledging the party to the cause of tariff reform, economy and simplicity in government, trust prosecution, and the ratification of the income tax amendment."

OHIO "REGULARS" WIN FIRST FIGHT

Progressives Beaten in Battle for Resolutions Committee Control.

CRISIS ON FLOOR TODAY.

Cox and Burton Clinched and Governorship Choice Still in the Air.

Columbus, O., July 26.—[Special.]—With the first day's work of the Republican convention at an end and "regulars" in control of the resolutions committee, the question of the governorship seems tonight to be still "up in the air," although it is evident the fight, which will reach a climax tomorrow afternoon, will be distinctly one between Senator Theodore Burton of Cleveland and George B. Cox of Cincinnati.

Burton and Cox have failed to agree on a governorship candidate, Cox vainly demanding that Burton support Brown.

The list of candidates includes James R. Garfield of Mentor, Judge Oren Britt Brown of Dayton, Secretary of State Carmi A. Thompson of Ironton, and Warren G. Harding of Marion, former lieutenant governor.

A strong conservative plank, on lines suggested by the "progressives" and an indorsement of President Taft, satisfactory to both "progressives" and "regulars," were two prominent results of four hours work by the subcommittee on resolutions late tonight.

Delegations Are Divided.

Delegates from the northern part of Ohio will be divided on the first ballot between Harding and Garfield and those from southing that Burton support Brown. The senator said he wanted Harding or a "dark horse."

The 584 votes—enough to nominate—which had been counted for Brown by Cox several days ago, seem gradually to be lost to that side, and tonight Cox's men were scurrying about endeavoring to get enough votes to assure their man of the nomination on the first ballot.

But the Garfield boom is growing and is threatening the Cox stalwarts. If this continues, and there seems no sign of its weakening since Garfield has announced that he is in no sense an enemy of President Taft, the conservatives say he will have far and away enough to win. Garfield's gain has been at the expense of Harding, and there are several members of Thompson's delegations now talking openly of Garfield's nomination.

Thompson is the weakest of the four candidates and in all probability will throw his support to Garfield if he sees that he himself cannot be nominated.

Longworth Sounds "Keynote."

The convention opened today with a vigorous defense of the tariff law by Congressman Nicholas Longworth, the temporary chairman. He coupled it with high praise of President Taft.

Mr. Longworth's "keynote" speech was almost wholly devoted to the tariff law, for which he declared the Republican party was responsible and behind which he maintained the party would have to stand.

"We refuse to be stampeded," he cried.

At the opening of his address, when he mentioned other Republicans who had preceded him as convention chairman in other years, the names of Garfield, now leader of the "progressives" who are protesting against unqualified indorsement of the tariff, and Joseph Benson Foraker, defeated by Burton for return to the United States senate, were greeted with applause. Those of the late Senator Hanna and President Taft also were applauded warmly.

Prior to the opening of the convention the "regulars" had elected a majority of the resolutions committee which will stand sponsor for the platform. When Mr. Longworth called himself a "regular" there was much cheering.

Regulars Win in First Test.

The first trial of strength between the "regulars" and "progressives" came tonight, and at the night session the "regulars" won by a wide margain.

Congressman Paul Howland of Cleveland, who has charge of the "progressive" platform, was defeated for the chairmanship of the resolutions committee by a vote of 15 to 3. Congressman Howland and Senator Dick, the latter of whom was elected chairman, did not vote, and one member was absent.

Congressman Cassidy voted against Senator Dick, as did the committeemen from the Sixth and Fourteenth districts, the latter of which adjoins Howland's district.

Immediately before this vote Mr. Howland announced that, while he would not quibble over phraseology, if the platform were in substance unsatisfactory to the "progressives," he would bring a minority report to the floor of the convention tomorrow.

Nine of Ohio's Republican congressmen are members of the resolutions committee, and all of the nine, including Congressmen Howland and Cassidy, supported in congress the tariff bill, which is one of the issues in the convention. Gen. J. Warren Keifer, member from the Seventh district, has since maintained that the schedules were not high enough.

Resolutions Subcommittee Busy.

The subcommittee which was named to devise a rough draft of the platform for presentation to the resolutions committee at midnight spent much of its time on the tariff and administration indorsement planks.

It was stated by a member of the subcommittee that with a few minor exceptions the progressives and regulars found themselves in entire accord on the planks relating to state affairs.

"I am confident," said Mr. Garfield, after an appearance before the committee, "that the platform which will be reported back to the convention will be satisfactory to the progressive delegates."

Mr. Garfield reiterated that he would defer all consideration of the governorship, as it applied to himself or any other candidate until the adoption of the platform by the convention.

Burton Permanent Chairman.

Senator T. E. Burton was selected as permanent chairman of the convention. This will leave the chairmanship of the big Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) delegation in the hands of Maurice Maschke, the vice chairman, a resident of Congressman Howland's district. The delegation, however, is split over the governorship, and the unit rule will not obtain as far as its ninety-six votes are concerned.

Walter F. Brown of Toledo was unanimously elected to his third term as chairman of the state central committee tonight.

DID NOT RULE ON SOCIALISTS.

Judge Going Denies He Interfered with Rights of Party Orators on Streets.

Socialists were perturbed yesterday when they read in an afternoon newspaper that Judge Going in the Municipal court had held that their party orators had no right to speak on Chicago streets even when they had a permit from the police.

"I made no such decision nor statement as quoted," said Judge Going at night. "The three defendants before me, who were charged with obstructing the street, were discharged. None of them had a permit for a meeting, although one of them had a card from the Socialist party management stating they could speak on street corners not already occupied. They were Polish speakers and the police who made the arrests were unable to understand what they were saying.

"The city ordinance requires that whenever a procession or meeting is planned that will block the street and interfere with traffic a permit must be obtained. I have never questioned the soundness of that ordinance and it never has been attacked in my court."

Lima (O.) Express Robber Caught.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 26.—O. P. Marchant, arrested at Marion today, confessed to robbing the United States Express company's office at Lima, O., on July 4. Marchant had $290 in his possession.

INSURGENTS WIN IN NEBRASKA

Convention Indorses Taft and Tariff; Scores Cannonism.

IS VICTORY FOR NORRIS.

Fight on County Option Is Hot, but Proposition Carries.

Lincoln, Neb., July 26.—The platform convention of the Republican party of Nebraska today adopted a platform strongly indorsing the administration of President Taft and the Aldrich tariff law; expressing unalterable opposition to "the system known as Cannonism" and hearty sympathy with the "insurgent" movement in and out of congress.

The platform includes a declaration for county option as the method of regulating the liquor traffic and for an amendment to the state constitution providing for direct legislation.

These resolutions were not adopted without meeting strong opposition both in the resolutions committee and upon the floor of the convention, but, while there were no votes to spare in the committee for county option, and while the other matters came before the main body of delegates as minority reports, the vote in their favor in the convention was overwhelming.

Standpatter Beats Norris.

As a general proposition it had been understood the indorsement of county option and of "insurgency" were supported by the same people. In consequence when at the opening of the convention at noon United States Senator Norris Brown, a "standpatter," was chosen permanent chairman over Congressman George W. Norris, a leader in "insurgency," by an overwhelming vote, the rank and file of the "county optionists" began to fear for the fate of their pet resolution.

It develops, however, that while no compromise is admitted by either side, there was a conference last night at which Senator Brown assured the "optionists" of the character of the resolutions committee he would appoint if he were made permanent chairman. The committee of seven appointed by him included three in favor of county option, three in favor of the present law, and one in favor of the submission of a state wide prohibition amendment. The last named member finally voted for the county option plank.

A minority report opposing such a resolution was defeated in the convention, 280 ayes to 558 noes. There was no division in voting on the majority report.

Resolution Causes Fight.

In state matters the platform calls for the creation of a nonpartisan board of control for charitable and penal institutions and a reapportionment of the senators and representatives of the state.

Near the close of the convention Congressman Norris offered the following resolution:

> Every protest against wrong is "insurging" for the right. We are unalterably opposed to the system known as "Cannonism" and are in hearty sympathy with the insurgent movement in and out of congress. We urge our senators and representatives to make use of their votes and influence along progressive lines in the future.

There was a storm of protest when the discussion was first presented, but when put to vote it was declared adopted.

CUMMINS IN KANSAS SPEECH ASSAILS U. S. STEEL TRUST.

Iowa Senator Attacks Merger of Carnegie Company with Corporation and Makes Charge of Overvaluation.

Olathe, Kas., July 26.—Senator Cummins, of Iowa, in an address here today, attacked the United States Steel corporation. It was the last speech of his present Kansas tour.

Immediately after he had finished speaking the senator left for his home in Des Moines. He said he would fill no more speaking dates between now and August 2. The heat and the strenuous work of the campaign in Kansas have sapped the senator's strength, and he has gone home to rest for a time.

"You will remember that in 1901 the Carnegie company of Pittsburg sold its plant to the United States Steel corporation, organized that year," said the senator in his speech. "The steel corporation paid the Carnegie Steel company $500,000,000 for its plant and business. Of this incomprehensible sum, Andrew Carnegie received $350,000,000 in the bonds of the corporation, and his associates in business received the remainder.

"What was the plant worth? That is not a subject longer in dispute. It has been most minutely investigated. The highest value any reasonable man would put on it in 1901 was $80,000,000, and the United States Steel corporation paid to Andrew Carnegie's company $420,000,000 more than it was worth, more than would be required to reproduce it with every modern improvement known to the business.

"Now, why did the United States Steel corporation pay $420,000,000 more for this property than it was worth? I will tell you. It examined the books of the Carnegie Steel company and there it was shown that over a series of years the Carnegie company had been making profits that would pay interest on $500,000,000.

"The United States Steel corporation had enough confidence in its own power and in the friendship of men like Dalzell of Pennsylvania, and Payne of New York, and Aldrich of Rhode Island, and Hale of Maine, and Lodge of Massachusetts to be sure that in the years to come it would be able to earn interest upon the $500,000,000 it was then paying to the Carnegie Steel company. This is the sole secret of that transaction."

Senator Cummins then told of the company's reorganization with a capital of a billion and a half of dollars, and said $800,000,000 of this capitalization was pure water.

Senator Cummins in an interview predicted that the progressive Republicans would control the national convention in 1912 and might control congress before that time.

KANSAN SLAPS CANNON AGAIN.

Ottawa, Kas., July 26.—Congressman Victor Murdock in a speech here tonight said that Speaker Joseph G. Cannon had been a standpatter ever since he had been in congress. His talk was in line with previous speeches.

"Don't let anybody fool you about this man Cannon," Murdock said. "He was against the resumption of specie payment, a thing we had forgotten a long time. He was opposed to any regulation of the railroads. He opposed the Hepburn bill; he fought the pure food law. Cannon is not only a standpatter, he is a 'standstiller.' He is opposed to going in either direction. His friends and his associates are those who waxed fat off special interest, and Cannon believes in letting well enough alone."

Mr. Murdock told his hearers that his attention was first directed to the Cannon organization because of its power to finish its enemies.

"It was the case of Lilly of Connecticut," he said. "One day I was walking down the street with Congressman Lilly when he said, 'I wonder if the people ever will get on to this crowd?'

"That was the first intimation I ever had heard that anything was wrong in congress.

"I had hoped I would not be forced into this fight, but they brought Joseph G. Cannon to Kansas, and Cannon attacked a cause that is near to my heart. He was brought here to abuse insurgents of the house, and I propose to tell the people of Kansas what the insurgents are fighting for.

"This question is yours to settle. It is a question as to whether Kansas shall have representative government or whether it shall have a representation in congress that takes orders from a corrupt and greedy system."

New Warrant for Moroney.

An additional warrant was sworn out yesterday for Jacob Moroney by Mrs. E. Jay Baikie, 949 Lawrence avenue, who alleges that he obtained $1 from her when he threatened her with arrest and arranged for a future payment of a larger sum. Mrs. Baikie is the wife of the dentist who swore out the original warrant, in which Moroney is alleged to have threatened him and his wife with arrest.

MEET TO PIT CONN AGAINST COPLEY

Cohorts in Chicago Session Discuss Ways and Means of Organization.

NATIONAL FIGHT ON SOON.

Republican Congressional Committee to Open Headquarters Here on Aug. 15.

Cohorts of George W. Conn, candidate for the Republican congressional nomination in the Joliet-Aurora district, met yesterday at the Grand Pacific hotel for the purpose of perfecting the Conn organization.

Since the formal withdrawal of Congressman Snapp from the congressional running there has been a general scurry for cover by the organization people all over the district, and with the contest only between Conn and Col. Ira C. Copley the state of affairs is still much in the air.

United States Marshal Luman T. Hoy of Woodstock presided over affairs, which resulted in a general discussion of ways and means of equipping an effective organization for Conn, with the old Snapp machine smashed to smithereens. McHenry, Du Page, and Kane counties were heavily represented by Republicans who prefer Conn to Copley, but Will county was without a delegation in the caucus. Adjournment was taken until Will county could be represented.

As conditions are reported from the district, the withdrawal of Snapp has sent many of his personal lieutenants scurrying into the Copley camp. The Shurtleff and Hopkins people in the north end of the district, notably in McHenry county, are sticking with Conn, and Kane county is divided flatly on the proposition of Hopkins and anti-Hopkins, despite the senatorial primaries of 1908.

National Fight Opens Aug. 15.

National congressional politics will be cut loose in Chicago on Aug. 15. The Republican national congressional committee will open its western headquarters at the Congress hotel on that date under the personal direction of Congressman William B. McKinley of Illinois, chairman of the congressional committee. The Democratic congressional committee, under the leadership of Congressman James T. Lloyd of Missouri, will start into action on the same day at offices to be selected later, but some hotel within the loop district. Urey Woodson, secretary of the Democratic national committee, was here during the day to make preliminary arrangements.

The Democratic county committee also announces the beginning of an active campaign on the same day, regardless of the outcome of the Democratic primaries. Two additional floors were leased by the Democratic organization at 91 Clark street. Six bureaus, covering the chief foreign voters, will be placed in operation, aside from the general organization for the campaign, which is reported to be arranged upon a broader scale than any county campaign heretofore conducted.

[Ald. Fred A. Britten of the Twenty-third ward is not determined as to whether he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Ninth district against Henry Sherman Boutell in the Republican primaries. Ald. Britten was visited yesterday by several delegations from the district, representing the organization of builders and other bodies, which have influence there. The Republican organization in the district, headed by Mayor Busse, has not committed itself to the candidacy of Boutell and his petition has not been circulated.]

Nicholas R. Finn let it become known through his brother that he could not become a candidate for congress in the Sixth district as a Democratic nominee against "Still Bill" Moxley. Mr. Finn is out of the city and does not expect to return until next week. The Democratic management in the district is looking for another candidate than Finn, however.

Democrats Take Up Slate Today.

The Democratic slatemakers will meet this afternoon at the office of Roy D. Keehn in the Rector building to work out the slate for nine municipal court judges. The Republicans may have their list completed before the week is over.

In the Forty-first senatorial district George E. Dickson has announced his candidacy for the lower house, against Thomas H. Riley, the Democratic member from Joliet, upon the platform of adequate legislation concerning employers' liability compensation.

TAFT DECLARES A PRESIDENT SHOULD NOT TALK POLITICS.

Declaration at Rockland, Me., of Particular Interest in View of His Trips This Fall.

Portland, Me., July 26.—President Taft today put himself on record as subscribing absolutely to the principle that a president of the United States should not talk politics.

He landed at Rockland this morning to make the last speech of his ten days' cruise. The harbor at Rockland, the big granite breakwater, and the ships behind it had brought ship subsidy to the president's mind.

"They suggest to me," he said, "the importance of our coastwise shipping. They also suggest the importance of improving our foreign shipping. All of which brings me so near to politics that I merely suggest it and leave it with you."

The president paused for a moment, and then he apparently decided to take the demonstrative throng of listeners into his confidence.

"You know," he said, reflectively, "it is a little difficult when you are thinking politics, and having a great deal to do with politics, to make fluent remarks without running up against politics.

"But, traveling as I am, as president of the United States, I have no right to be other than president of the whole people, and to stand only on the platform of patriotism, love and country, and prosperity for all."

RAYMOND ROBINS HITS GRAFT.

Speaks at Springfield Meeting Held for Purpose of "Awakening of Great State."

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—Raymond Robins of Chicago was the principal speaker here tonight at the first local meeting for the "awakening of a great state" along the lines suggested at the Peoria conference. Legislative grafting was given as the need for wakefulness and the initiative and referendum proposed as a panacea.

With the initiative and referendum in vogue, Robins declared, "Boss McLaughlin and Bennie Mitchell would go to Sunday school before they would run for the legislature." The committee of seven failed to agree upon the wording of questions it hopes to get the people to ask of legislative candidates through postal card queries.

Chairman Walter Rogers of Peoria, stated a decision would be made in three or four days, and the cards be ready for distribution next week.

FRYE DENIES HE WILL RETIRE.

No Foundation, Either, for Stories That His Health Is Failing, His Family Declares.

Lewiston, Me., July 26.—The family of Senator William P. Frye in a statement today declared that there was no truth in a published report that the senator intended to retire because of ill-health. Mr. Frye is enjoying good health, and has been greatly annoyed, it is stated, by many inquires which have been addressed to him during the last forty-eight hours.

OTTAWA MEN WAR ON BROWNE

Club in Minority Leader's Home Town Condemns His Record.

COMMITTEE TO FIGHT HIM.

Decent Citizens Plan to Stand Together for His Defeat.

Ottawa, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—The first meeting in La Salle county to denounce the candidacy of Lee O'Neil Browne for reëlection to the legislature was held last night by the South Side Men's club of Ottawa.

The meeting was addressed by the Rev. George H. McClung of Tonica. The speaker delivered a strong analysis of "The Causes of the Breakdown of Representative Government in Illinois." His address was followed by the introduction of a set of resolutions condemning Browne.

Text of the Resolutions.

These were passed by a unanimouse vote and were as follows:

"We, the members of the South Ottawa Men's club, desire to express our opinions on the present political situation. It is not the purpose of this club to take any particular stand, or interfere in party matters. But we feel that now all honest men ought to stand together. Every man ought to be a good citizen before he is a party man. This was so during the dark days of the civil war and in every other crisis of our government, and we believe it will be so now.

"Illinois stands disgraced in the eyes of the nation, because of what is known of the doings of the Forty-sixth general assembly. La Salle county stands doubly disgraced because her member in the senate is under grave suspicion, and because one of her representatives in the lower house is under indictment as a chief of those who have traded in dishonor, who has not proved his innocence, or even accepted the occasion to assert his innocence under oath.

"There is only one kind of honesty and truthfulness. Dishonesty cannot be made excusable or commendable by high position, or legal quibbles, or unexampled effrontery.

"We have many examples of faithful public officers who are doing their full duty against the opposition of those officials who serve other masters than the community who elected them, and against the opposition of private citizens who are honest but ill informed. But we have also elected in city, county, state, and nation, men who are incompetent or corrupt, or both. They were successful at the polls because whatever their political cloak, they have deceived or divided that great majority in every party who want good government.

"We commend the action of The Chicago Tribune, and of State's Attorneys Wayman and Burke in their efforts for a cleaner and better Illinois.

Should Meet the Issue.

"We believe that this club as well as every organization which stands for right, ought to meet this issue squarely and unequivocally. Therefore, in an attempt to remedy these evils, we direct the president of this club to appoint eleven representative citizens of this community, who, in connection with himself, shall form a committee of twelve which shall be called the committee of public affairs. This committee shall consist of five Republicans, five Democrats and two Prohibitionists.

"The duties of this committee shall be to secure information regarding the conduct of the government, particularly of local affairs, to investigate the character and record of present officials and prospective candidates, to keep a record of this information where it may be accessible to any reputable citizen and to make it public as this club may direct.

"This committee shall also act as the agent of this club in promoting policies and, if necessary, supporting or opposing candidates for office, but the action of this club and this committee shall be strictly non-partisan, favoring that which is recognized by all good men as right, and condemning only that which is opposed to good government."

This committee of public affairs will be appointed soon, and is expected to be of great assistance in purifying politics in La Salle county.

BOSKY DELL CLAIMS WAYMAN; HAND FED MUSKY AWAITS HIM.

State's Attorney Arrives at Bill Dolan's Place in Wisconsin with Arnold, Who May Descant on "Macbeth."

Lake Minocqua, Wis., July 26.—[Special.]—Bill Dolan's place turned out en masse to welcome State's Attorney Wayman of Chicago today. The visitor's entourage consisted of Assistant State's Attorney Victor P. Arnold. First to greet the prosecutor was a delegation of the Summer Resorters' Shakspearean society, which asked Mr. Arnold if, between fishing trips, he would deliver his speech on "Macbeth," previously tried out on the Illinois Chautauqua circuit. The proposition was taken under consideration.

"What is the prospect for muskies?" asked Mr. Wayman when all the fishing tackle had been stowed away in Dolan's wagon.

"Hist!" said Bill, lowering his voice. "We've got a twenty pounder spotted over on the point and he's so tame from hand feeding that you can stick the hook in his mouth. He's been saved for you. My son'll guide you and row the boat for $3 a day."

"How many days," asked Mr. Wayman suspiciously, "do you figure it will take me to stick the hook in his mouth?"

The Chicago man apologized when he noted that he had hurt Mr. Dolan's feelings. After a dip in the lake late this afternoon, followed by a light repast consisting of baked bass, fried chicken, Murphies, baked beans, corn, biscuit, honey, milk, cookies, and four kinds of pie, Mr. Wayman retired early so as to awake at 3 a. m. and go after the muskellunge.

DRAWS BROWNE PANEL TODAY.

Action of Clerk Harris to Follow Order by Judge Kersten—200 Veniremen Are to Be Selected.

Judge Kersten, who will preside over the second trial of Lee O'Neil Browne when it begins next Monday, notified Clerk Abram J. Harris of the Criminal court yesterday to draw a special panel of 200 veniremen today. The order will be entered this morning, Assistant State's Attorneys Burnham and Lundgren representing State's Attorney Wayman, who is away on a vacation.

As next Monday will be devoted to legal arguments, 100 of the prospective jurors will be told to appear on Tuesday and the remaining 100 on the following day.

Attorneys for both the people and the defense will attend the drawing of the names in the jury commissioners' office.

TAKES BIG SWAT AT LORIMER AID

Twenty-ninth Senatorial Democratic Committee Scores P. J. Sullivan.

FAVORS SQUARE POLITICS.

Believes Partisanship Should Be of the Old Simon Pure Variety.

"We, the Democrats of the Twenty-ninth senatorial district of Illinois, believe in straight out party lines, straight out party men, straight out party nominees, and straight out party performances when a United States senator is to be elected, and we hereby condemn and damn any other kind of performance."

The foregoing was the resolution adopted unanimously last night by members of the senatorial committee of the Twenty-ninth senatorial district of Illinois—embracing the Twenty-first and Twenty-second wards—in session at the Revere house in North Clark street.

The committee furthermore made its case good against Patrick J. Sullivan, a Lorimer Democrat in the last house, by personally committing Sullivan to the hottest political spot on record, and declared in favor of the nomination of two Democratic candidates from Mayor Busse's home district.

Candidates Are All Present.

All of the prospective candidates for the two nominations for the lower house were present at the meeting, but no slate was made and it will be a free for all race in the district where John F. O'Malley is credited with preponderant influence in political councils.

Sullivan lives in the Twenty-second ward, which is one-half of the senatorial district. He has had trouble in lining up his own ward organization in his own interests as a candidate for renomination, notwithstanding he was the regular Democratic candidate for alderman in his ward last spring. "Lorimeritis" attacked him then and has steadily grown worse, and the action of the senatorial committee is accepted by the politicians as an indication that the trouble for the Lorimerites in Chicago and over the state, instead of having died down, has just begun.

Resolution on Sullivan.

As to Representative Sullivan personally, whose petition has been filed at Springfield by the old bipartisan gang, this resolution was adopted by his senatorial committee:

"We regret and are sorry that we are obliged to express our belief that he should not be returned as a member of the house in the next general assembly, because, contrary to good morals, contrary to good ethics and a sound political morality, and contrary to the beliefs and doctrines of the Democratic party, he deserted the proper and right standard and cast his vote for William Lorimer for United States sentor."

The senatorial committee in the Twenty-ninth district, which adopted the anti-Lorimer resolutions and condemned Sulllivan, consists of W. H. Tinlin, Charles Frazier, and Frank Cannon.

COL. ROOSEVELT SEES MANY IN HIS NEW YORK SANCTUM.

Contributing Editor Talks Literature, Politics, and German with Callers—Mum on the Ohio Situation.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Col Roosevelt, contributing editor, talked politics, literature and German today at the Outlook office. Visitors piled into the reception room by the score, but a good many of them went away without getting more than a look at the colonel, who is being assisted most capably by Proprietor Howlands' son.

The colonel had political conferences with Controller Prendergast, Former Senator Lee Mantle of Montana, Congressman Catlin of Missouri, and Olcott and Goulden of New York.

With the staff of the Outlook at luncheon the colonel discussed pure literature. Dr. Lyman Abbott and others also spoke.

For fifteen minutes the colonel experimented in German on Emil A. Leigner of the International Hygiene society, which will hold its fair at Dresden, Germany. The conversation was explosive.

The political situation in Ohio was tabooed with the colonel today. Before he left for Oyster Bay, late in the afternoon, he was told of the latest developments in the convention at Columbus. He had not a word to say on that. It is well known, however, that he is not anxious to have either Garfield or Longworth nominated.

Rudolph Spreckels and John Mitchell sat side by side in the reception room today. Both saw the former president for a few moments. The colonel promised to address the National Civic federation next winter if he can arrange his dates to get around.

One invitation he did accept was given him by the Army and Navy union. Two delegations came in late to ask the contributing editor to make speeches for them. One represented the southern commercial congress and the other the world's Christian citizenship conference, to be held in Philadelphia in November. The colonel had to turn both of them down.

BURKE FOR PRESIDENT IN 1912.

North Dakota Democrats Indorse Governor, Who Has Twice Won in a Republican State.

Fargo, N. D., July 26.—Gov. John Burke of North Dakota was indorsed as the Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1912 at a meeting of Democrats of the state held here today.

Gov. Burke is a candidate for reëlection for governor in North Dakota and the cry of the party in this state will be "Three times governor of North Dakota, then candidate for president."

Resolutions were adopted commending the acts of Gov. Burke as governor and declaring that he would be able as a presidential candidate to carry the west and to gain strength in the east.

FOR HAIR TROUBLES

Nothing Is So Good As Frequent Washing.

There has been a mistaken idea for years that frequent washing is bad for the hair. The result is that nearly everybody has more or less trouble. Practically everybody has dandruff, and hundreds of others have hair that is too oily, or too dry, or that is faded and lifeless. These and other troubles the spot where the hair falls out, and after that comes baldness. There is no magic or humbug sold under various names that are said to make beautiful hair, and that are said to than useless. Common soap and common shampoos leave the hair in a worse condition than before. The best preparation called Birt's Head Wash, which is made from Refined Soap, Cochin Cocoanut Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. Any doctor will tell you it is a good formula. It cleans the dirt, dandruff and microbes from the hair and leaves the scalp soft and moist and the hair fine and glossy. Tubes 25c, jars 50c. At all druggists.

STRIKERS WRECK TRAIN IN INDIANA

Mob Derails Freight Cars and Rolls Them Into Ditch Near South Bend.

TRY TO KIDNAP WORKERS

Sympathizers Fire on Police, Who Save Nonunion Men from Vengeance.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

South Bend, Ind., July 26.—[Special].—Mob attacks on a freight train, ending with the ditching of the entire train of six cars, and an unsuccessful effort to kidnap the nonunion members of a passenger crew were the chief happenings of today in the strike on the Grand Trunk Railroad. Angry crowds numbering from 500 to 2,000 persons were gathered at the Grand Trunk station throughou the day and the police had to be on the alert every minute to prevent outbreaks of mob violence.

The wrecking of the freight train was forecast by the strike sympathizers when the half dozen cars, heavily loaded with emergency freight and under a heavy guard of special officers, left South Bend at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The crew, on the lookout for danger of derailment, met with no accident until the town of Kingsbury, twenty-five miles west of here, was reached.

Reports from that place say the train was met near the station by a big mob of sympathetic friends of the strikers, who derailed the cars and rolled all into the ditch along the right of way. Reports which could not be verified had it that the members of the freight train's crew were roughly handled, but not dangerously injured.

Railroad officials in South Bend rushed help to the stranded train crew at once and notified the county authorities to take steps to protect their property. It was discovered that a number of spikes had been pulled from the rails, which lay loose on the ties when the train struck them and went into the ditch. All traffic in both directions will be tied up by the wreck until tomorrow noon.

Mob Plans to Kidnap Crew.

The attack on the nonunion crew occurred shortly after 9 o'clock tonight, when passenger train No. 13, due at 6:40 p. m., arrived. The police learned early in the afternoon that the strike sympathizers had a plan arranged whereby the freight train was to be kidnaped. Long before the arrival of the train fully 1,000 friends of the strikers were at the station waiting and several scores of police and special officers were hurried to the station to protect the men coming in.

Despite the heavily armed police which lined the tracks as the passenger train pulled into the station the mob made a rush for the train, and the police were pressed so close to the cars that they could do little to protect themselves or the crew from the charge. Several shots were fired by persons in the crowd, and one man, believed to have been armed, was seized by the police. The crew stepped down among the officers and succeeded in gaining the baggage room of the station.

Crowds Threaten Trains.

The police later released the man under arrest and the members of the train crew were taken one at a time to their boarding places under a heavy guard of police.

Big crowds of strike sympathizers paraded the streets late tonight, while hundreds kept watch at the railway station, threatening to prevent any attempt to send out other trains.

Fifteen strikebreakers employed in the yards of the Grand Trunk railroad here quit their jobs tonight because, they said, they were worn out with being on guard day and night against possible attack by strikers and strike sympathizers. The company's officials said they would have a new force of men from Chicago tomorrow.

Inspector Shane of the Indiana railroad commission said that only six of the strikers remained in South Bend and that all the trouble of the last several days had been made by sympathizers.

Violence Feared Tomorrow.

The city authorities expect the climax of the disorder resulting from the strike on Thursday night and Friday, but it was said tonight that the militia would not be called for unless there was more violence than has yet occurred. Thursday is pay day at all of the big factories and industrial plants in the city. On ordinary pay nights there is much drunkenness and more or less disorder.

It is declared that practically every industrial worker of the city is in strong sympathy with the striking railroad men, and it is feared that a demonstration may be made which will be too much for the police to cope with. Upon the temper of the idle crowds and the factory workers tomorrow will depend whether or not the local officials will ask for the help of state troops. It is believed that if the mobs can be restrained from violence over Thursday night that the authorities here will be able to handle the situation.

Strikers Active in Canada.

Toronto, Ont., July 26. — Brockville continues to be the storm center of the Grand Trunk strike in Ontario, so far as active interference with the attempts of the company to run its regular service is concerned. Today an attempt was made to derail the eastbound local passenger train near Brockville, but the engineer received a warning and slowed down in time to pass safely over the spot where spikes had been pulled and rails loosened. Troops have been sent to Brockville to replace the militia there.

Supt. Brownlee said today that the company would be prepared to accept any amount of freight tomorrow. Twenty-one freight crews were running on the middle division; way freights were running on all divisions and there was a good movement of through freight. On the western division, he said, the company had a full complement of men.

BELIEVE CHICAGO CONGESTION.

Accumulations of freight in local Grand Trunk freight houses due to the strike virtually were cleared out yesterday. Five freight trains were sent out during the day bound for eastern and Canadian points. One of the trains was a way freight. Only a few guards were sent out with each train. Officials of the road said normal conditions will be established within a few hours. Two freight trains delayed at South Bend and other points since last Saturday arrived at Elsdon during the day. At the Dearborn station it was said that all Grand Trunk passenger trains arrived on time.

STRIKING MINERS MAY GET AID.

Iowa Unions Vote to Send $100,000 to Brethren in Illinois Walkout.

Oskaloosa, Ia., July 26.—Iowa mine workers, by a practically unanimous vote, have signified their willingness to Illinois mine workers who are on strike to extend a loan of $100,000 or more from their relief funds. John P. White, president of district No. 13, United Mine Workers of America, today made public the result of the vote submitting the proposition to the Iowa mine workers. With only a few locals to hear from, fewer than 100 votes were cast against the proposal.

SHOOTING FOLLOWS CAR STRIKE

Rioting Due to Columbus Street Railway Trouble, Although Police Have Situation in Hand.

Columbus, O., July 26.—Although there were three shooting affrays connected with tonight's rioting in connection with the street car strike, the police had the situation much better in hand than last night, when scores of rioters were arrested. Three motormen shot into crowds which annoyed them and one man on the street received a wound in the leg. Mayor Marshall has not asked for troops.

FIVE VICTIMS OF SPEEDING

Touring Auto Hit by West Madison Street Car; Four Hurt.

TWO CHAUFFEURS ARE HELD

Waiter Probably Fatally Injured While Crossing State Street.

Turning a corner at an alleged breakneck speed an automobile containing at least four persons collided with an east bound Madison street car at Seeley avenue crossing last night. The machine was caught as it sped across the tracks and hurled from its course, its occupants being spilled into the roadway. Pedestrians asserted the motorman of the car was not to blame.

Police ambulances and wagons were hurried to the scene. The police report reads that only two suffered injuries, but inquiries at the residence in Austin indicated that at least four had suffered painful bruises, one being seriously hurt.

Two Women in Car.

The injured are:

Gardiner, James, 238 North Pine avenue, Austin; cut about face and hands and bruised about body.

Gardiner, Miss, thrown from machine and badly shaken.

Higginson, S. C., employed in Austin postoffice; thought to be internally hurt; taken to home of friends at 2034 West Monroe street.

Higginson, Mrs. S. C., bruised about body; taken home.

The accident happened shortly before 10 o'clock and was seen by scores of pedestrians. At the time the machine was just swinging around into Madison street, and it is said Gardiner turned too abruptly and that he veered quickly to the right.

The heavy street car crashed into the machine, and turned it over. A handbag containing articles of value was lost in the wreck.

Hold Motorman to Blame.

"We have nothing to say," was the explanation offered at the Gardiner home late at night. "The motorman was to blame, and several were badly hurt."

"There wasn't any chance for me to shut off the power and apply the brakes in time to avoid striking that machine," said J. Johnson, the motorman, when questioned by the police. "I wasn't going so very fast at the time."

The police of the Lake street station were unable to obtain a full report of the accident, and early this morning it was decided to send a policeman to the Austin address to learn more of the affair.

Hold Man Whose Auto Killed.

A coroner's jury yesterday held to the grand jury without bail Elmer Williams, 25 years old, 1956 West Twenty-first place, a chauffeur. His automobile killed Waclowas Porcikos at South Western avenue and West Twenty-second street Sunday night. Witnesses testified the machine was going more than thirty-five miles an hour. They said Porcikos was thrown fifteen feet in the air. He died instantly.

The jury's action caused comment, in view of an article recently printed in THE TRIBUNE which showed that Chicago scorchers were escaping with light fines.

The action of the coroner's jury means Williams will have to stay in prison until the grand jury acts, at least.

John Leightner, 23 years old, a waiter, Detroit, was struck and probably fatally injured last night by a speeding touring car at State and Congress streets. Leightner was attempting to cross the street when he was struck by the car. When the chauffeur, Lee Smith, went to Leightner's aid the latter was unconscious, suffering from a probable fracture of the skull and an injured back. Smith was arrested.

WILL TABULATE COURT CASES.

Chief Steward Plans to Have Monthly Record from Each Police Precinct.

Chief of Police Steward yesterday put into operation a new system for recording the disposition of cases in the Municipal court which he believes will be of great value.

Hereafter each precinct will fill out at the close of each week a blank showing the arrests made for violations of the laws regulating vice, gambling, saloons, and automobile speeding, the nub of the evidence in each case, and the penalty imposed. The contents of these blanks will be tabulated at the close of each month.

Chief Steward transferred eight sergeants during the day and explained that they were routine changes; but he intimated that changes he is contemplating be of a different character. He is investigating reports of conditions in the Desplaines street district.

Ex-Counterfeiter Adores Widow and Decides to Confess—Proves Tale with Models, but Police Find 'Phony' Coins.

"Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles."—Proverbs xxi., 23.

"If I'd kept my mouth shut about my past life I never would have got myself into this trouble," said Richard Neifert, in custody of a United States marshal, yesterday. "That's a pretty good proverb about keeping one's mouth and tongue, and I guess I'll remember it in the future.

"Now it's a term in the Leavenworth prison for me."

Neifert has had trouble with the police and the federal government—with the latter particularly because of his ability to manufacture "phony" money. He fell in love with Mrs. Carlisle, a widow residing at Higgins and Sixtieth avenues, but decided that before he married her he should tell her about his past life.

"I've been a counterfeiter and I've served time for it. I'm good at making counterfeit coins," Neifert said he told his intended.

"Is that so?" Neifert declares she replied, without being much perturbed. "Show me how it's done."

"I made some counterfeit dollars, just to show her how it was done," explained Neifert to the federal authorities. "I never intended passing any of it. We destroyed the molds and she hid the money away. I didn't want her to put it away for I wanted to destroy it, but she said: 'O, don't be scared, sweetheart; I've hid the coins where they can't be found.'"

But they were found, and found by the police when they were looking for Neifert as a "suspicious character." When the police discovered the coins they notified Capt. Porter, who immediately swore out a warrant for Niefert's arrest on a counterfeiting charge.

Following his indictment during the day, Neifert was sentenced by District Judge Carpenter to serve two years in the federal prison at Leavenworth.

JEALOUS; KILLS HIS WIFE.

Chicago Heights Husband Admits His Crime After Giving the Police Long Chase.

Mrs. Anna Bartlok, 24 years old, a bride of less than a year, was shot to death by her husband, John Bartlok, 28 years of age, at an early hour yesterday at their residence in Chicago Heights. According to neighbors they quarreled frequently. Bartlok was traced to Thornton, Ill., where he was captured. At the inquest, he admitted doing the shooting, giving jealousy as his reason.

LEWIS LAUNCHES HIS BOOM WITH AN ADDRESS IN RACINE.

Large Employer of Labor Pleads for a Square Deal for Men Injured at Hazardous Work.

Racine, Wis., July 26.—[Special.]—Dwelling on the conservation and employers' liability features of his platform, William Mitchell Lewis tonight launched in his home town his boom for the governorship of Wisconsin.

It was Lewis' first big meeting in his native city and 2,000 of his townsmen turned out to speed his candidacy for the nomination.

"The time has arrived," said he, "when the administration of the state's affairs should be in the hands of a business man. I am not disposed at this time to offer criticism of any individual. I merely want to point out the opportunity awaiting the man who can apply to the business of the state the same methods that are reponsible for the success of great corporations.

"Hazardous work must be done by some. It is not fair for society to force a man to accept a hazardous task and yet provide insufficient protection for him. Those who are mangled by machinery today have, theoretically, many legal rights and remedies. The worker who is injured must have an immediate remedy.

"The spectacle of the disabled worker who comes into court to wait there from two to five years for simple justice is one which should be banished from our state. We should place the burden where it really belongs, on the industry. If the individual could get at once, when injured, a just compensation, fixed by law, for his injury, without going into court, this would insure justice and serve humanity. The employer need not fear for his business. He can shift the burden to insurance without extra cost to himself."

Lewis' campaign managers provided more than 100 motor cars to convey visitors to the hall where he delivered his address.

STINK BOMB HITS TAXICAB.

Sympathizers of Striking Chauffeurs Captured by Policeman-Passenger in Attacked Machine.

Two youthful sympathizers of the striking taxicab drivers were arrested last night after they had thrown a "stink bomb" at a car driven by Bert Darling, 4329 Indiana avenue, at Clinton street and Jackson boulevard. They were taken to the Juvenile home by Patrolman J. F. Crowley of the Lawndale station, who was riding in the cab. They gave the names of Sam Kaufman, 13 years old, 1313 West Jackson boulevard, and William Delarme, 15 years old, 1311 West Jackson boulevard.

PLAN PEACE MOVE IN TRACTION ROW

Various Interests to Meet in Effort to Remove Recently Developed Tangles.

SEE BREAKERS AHEAD.

Yerkes Suit Furnishes Chief Trouble; Lawyers Disagree on New Ordinance.

There are breakers ahead for the traction merger. Today there wil be called together a council of the various interests to discuss the new emergencies which have arisen.

The heritage which Charles T. Yerkes left to the people of Chicago continues to rise, like Banquo's ghost, at inopportune moments to confound the would-be mergerers. The attorneys, the reorganization committee, and the city officials, who have been working like mad since early in June to bring about a mutual agreement between various opposing interests for the consolidation of the Chicago Railways and the Consolidated Traction companies, have encountered snarl after snarl in the skein of tangled finances caused by the "high finance" methods of Yerkes that at times have defied their ingenuity to unravel.

Henry A. Blair will return to Chicago today from the east, where he has been enjoying a summer vacation, and other eastern financiers are expected to accompany him. He will meet here the members of the reorganization committee and the trustees of the Chicago Railways stock, Attorneys W. W. Gurley, Roy O. West, and Walter L. Fisher, and the subcommittee of the city council, and together they will discuss the situation which now confronts them and determine whether or not it will be possible to bring about the contemplated merger.

Find Three Difficulties.

The difficulties facing them are three:

Mrs. Yerkes' motion to withdraw the Yerkes estate bonds of the Consolidated Traction company, $4,500,000, from the reorganization agreement.

An injunction suit to be filed by the holders of "series one" certificates of the Chicago Railways company, to stop the merger if an attempt is made to carry it through.

Serious differences between the attorneys for the Railways company and Walter L. Fisher, acting for the city, over the terms of the proposed ordinance.

Believe Situation Serious.

That the situation is grave and threatens to disrupt the whole plan for merging the two companies is not seriously denied by any one. Some of the men who have been devoting their time so assiduously to solving the many problems which have arisen still hope the difficulties may yet be overcome, but even the most sanguine are ready privately to concede the chances of bringing about consolidation in time to commence rehabilitation of the Consolidated's lines this year are almost nil.

Whether some scheme can be reached at the conference today, or in the near future, whereby the rehabilitation can be carried on by the receivers and the merger postponed until the courts have decided all the questions which have arisen, remains to be seen. Judge Grosscup is known to be one of the most insistent of all interested parties, that something shall be done this summer to relieve the residents of the outlying wards from the present poor service, and the almost unbearable condition of the streets, due to the fact that pavements cannot be laid until the tracks have been rebuilt.

Expect Decision Soon.

Judge Cutting is expected to render a decision soon on the motion of Mrs. Yerkes, to compel Louis S. Owsley, trustee of the Yerkes estate, to withdraw the consolidated bonds from the reorganization agreement. This motion was argued before the probate judge recently by Levy Mayer, who contended the offer of bonds in exchange was ridiculously out of proportion with the value of the securities held by the Yerkes estate. It is practically certain Mrs. Yerkes will continue to fight for a higher compensation, even if Judge Cutting's decision is adverse to her present contention.

The attitude of the certificate holders of the Chicago railways is hardly less disconcerting to the reorganizers than the suit of Mrs. Yerkes. In response to the circular letter sent out by John F. Bass, secretary of the certificate holders' protective committee Monday, the directors and trustees of the Chicago Railways company have been flooded with letters of protest in the past twenty-four hours. These letters are all of one tenor, namely that the certificate holders exchanged their stock in the underlying companies for "series one" certificates on a definite understanding of what they might expect in return, and that now it is proposed to put the charge of paying interest on practically $11,000,000 of bonds ahead of their share in the company's earnings.

Threaten to Go to Court.

The protective committee is prepared to go even further than a protest in case the trustees and directors do not recognize their claim, and it was stated by Edward B. Burling, attorney for the committee, that he is preparing a bill to enjoin the issue of these bonds, in case the company attempts to do so.

As to the differences between the city's special traction counsel and attorneys for the railways company over the plan for an ordinance, they are said to be so great as to strike at the very basis of the negotiations. Mr. Gurley's plan was for a simple ordinance granting the railways company the right to extend its lines over the consolidated traction company's territory with a provision that these lines should be operated under the same terms as granted in the 1907 franchise. Mr. Fisher would not discuss his plan, but admitted that there were essential differences.

CAN TELL OF SHOOTING AUG. 4.

Mrs. Young's Lawyer Suggests Date for Recital of Rigdon's Death in John C. Fetzer's Office.

Postponement of the inquest to be held over the body of Charles W. Rigdon, who ended his life in the office of John C. Fetzer after wounding Mrs. Amy Young, was made practically certain yesterday. Mrs. Young's attorney, James Hamilton Lewis, suggested that it be held at St. Luke's hospital and set Aug. 4 as a date when it is expected Mrs. Young will be able to testify.

HONOR BUILDER OF HOUSE IN LAKE FOREST 50 YEARS AGO.

Exhibit Relics of Ancestral Days at the Residence of George H. Holt, Where 400 Chicagoans Are Guests.

A little lesson in American history was given to 400 Chicagoans yesterday at the residence of George H. Holt in Lake Forest.

Mr. Holt celebrated the golden jubilee of the building by his father, D. R. Holt, of one of the first houses in the suburb. His brother, Charles S. Holt, and sister, Mrs. Arthur D. Wheeler, assisted in explaining the origin and significance of many relics.

The Holt residence could not hold all the historical furniture and other objects which spread over the large lawn. Original documents, held by the family from revolutionary days, were displayed, copies of THE TRIBUNE being the civil war period authorities.

"Look at these hoop skirts," remarked one of a book of fashion pictures. "Aren't they the limit? How could anybody ever see anything stylish in them?"

"And they way they used to fix their hair!" exclaimed another. "It's just as bad as rats, puffs, and psyche knots."

The first American members of the Holt family were Jeremiah Holt, born 1793, and Hiram Hubbard, born 1779.

TROOPS TO QUELL OHIO STRIKE.

Mayor of Columbus Will Ask Governor for Militia to End Street Car Crisis.

Columbus, O., July 26.—Mayor Marshall at midnight decided to call on the governor's office tomorrow before noon for troops to cope with the local street car strike situation.

The mayor said he was moved to take the step because he considered strangers had been put on cars who were irresponsible, as indicated by their actions tonight in firing from cars on crowds in the streets.

Two members of a west side crowd were shot but not seriously wounded, and nine street car men were injured by bricks and stones in tonight's rioting.

BOY DIES, 3 HURT, IN TAR EXPLOSION

Man and Two Women Rush Into Blazing Room in Barn to Save.

LURED BY "HELP!" CRIES.

Fire Captain Rescues Two Horses from Flaming Stalls Where Others Burned.

Frank Biegler Jr., 16 years old, and three other persons were burned, the former fatally, and two horses met death late yesterday afternon when fire destroyed the two story frame and brick factory and barn of the Biegler Roofing and Tar company, 2743 North Rockwell street. The dead:

FRANK BIEGLER JR., 16 years old, son of Frank Biegler, president of the tar company at Park Ridge, Ill., burned about the body, died a short time later at the Norwegian Deaconness hospital.

The injured:

F. M. KEMP, 40 years old, a laborer, 2306 North Maplewood avenue, employed in the place; burned about the body, will probably die; taken to the Norwegian Deaconness hospital.

MRS. A. ARMBUSTER, 2746 North Maplewood avenue, burned about the face and hands in extinguishing flames on Biegler's clothing.

MRS. ANNIE BITTER, 2744 North Maplewood avenue, slightly burned about the face and hands in assisting to quench the burning clothing of the boy.

According to Kemp, when he pushed a large lump of tar into a vat some of the liquid splashed out and fell into a small forge fire nearby. The flames spread to the floor, and before Kemp could extinguish them the vat had become ignited and an explosion followed which scattered burning tar over the floor and walls.

Ran Into Exploding Tar.

Biegler, employed in the office of the concern, heard the cries of Kemp and ran into the room as the explosion occurred, and his clothing was set on fire by the burning tar.

Smarting under the pain, Biegler ran to a rear window and shouted for help while Kemp hurried out of the front door to escape death. Kemp, rolling on the pavement, succeeded in extinguishing flames on his clothing, but not until he had been probably fatally burned. Biegler's cries attracted attention of the two women who went to his assistance. They smothered the flames by wrapping Biegler in rugs and blankets and then tore off the few pieces of garments that had not been burned off. The police of the Shakspeare station were notified and an alarm of fire was turned in. Two other men employed in the place escaped without injury, but the police were unable to learn their names.

Fire Captain Saves Horses.

When firemen reached the building the first floor was a mass of flames with the exception of a portion of the rear used as a stable. Here the four horses were stabled, and two of these were already burned to death. Capt. Charles Pottoss of engine company No. 43 entered the stable and rescued the two horses still alive, but was bruised on the right ankle in getting out.

A call for additional apparatus was then turned in, but the building burned to the ground before this additional help arrived. An automobile valued at $5,000 was also destroyed. The loss on the building and contents aside from the automobile amounted to $10,000.

BULL HOLDS UP AUTOMOBILE.

Maddened by Machine's Red Lights, Bovine Held the Street Until He Was Lassoed.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Ben, a Holstein bull belonging to Peter O'Brien, a dairyman, of the Brookdale section of Bloomfield, N. J., held up an automobile containing two men and two women on Broad street tonight because the machine carried two red lights in front. The women were screaming with fright and the driver was afraid to proceed until O'Brien succeeded in lassoing the bull

OCEAN IS SILENT ON CRIPPEN CLEW

Steamer Montrose, on Which Doctor and Girl Are Held, Is Not Heard From.

PURSUIT IS TIRELESS.

Scotland Yard Detective Hopes to Intercept Fugitives in Canada.

LONDON, July 26.—No word has been received tonight from the steamer Montrose, on which are two passengers, booked as the Rev. John Robinson and John Robinson Jr., whom the Scotland Yard officials believe to be the missing Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and Ethel Leneve. The wireless telegraph system on the Montrose has a working radius of only 150 miles.

The only fresh development in the case is that Superintendent Froest of Scotland Yard has placed all the known facts in the affair in the hands of the public prosecutor to enable him to prepare a case in event of Crippen being arrested.

Not Justified in Arrests.

Supt. Froest stated today that the advices which Capt. Kendall of the Montrose had received from Scotland Yard would not justify him in placing the passengers in question under arrest, but it is reported they are in custody on the ship. No further news of the suspects is expected by the authorities here until the steamer reaches Rimouski, Canada, whither Inspector Dew, aboard the steamer Laurentic, is traveling to have a look at the passengers of the Montrose.

To set at rest the many rumors afloat Supt. Froest described the situation from the police standpoint and told just what action had been taken.

The superintendent said that when he received the wireless message from Capt. Kendall of the Montrose stating the master's belief that he had Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve on board he replied with a message in which he gave the captain the latest description of the man wanted and of the woman who is supposed to be in his company.

Captain Sure He Is Right.

Capt. Kendall responded in a second message saying that he was confirmed in his original belief that the man known on board the ship as the Rev. John Robinson was really Dr. Crippen and that his companion, who was traveling as John Robinson Jr., was no other than the Leneve woman.

Since these wireless exchanges between Scotland Yard and Capt. Kendall not a word had come to the police from the steamer, said Supt. Froest.

Montreal Ready for Crippen.

Montreal, Que., July 26.—The Canadian Pacific offices here had no word from the steamer Montrose today, but expect that it will be reported tomorrow passing the straits of Belle Isle.

It is likely that Dr. Crippen, if he is on board, will be placed under arrest on the arrival of the Montrose at Father point, where the steamer will stop long enough to take on the pilot. He will not be taken from the steamer at that place, but will be brought up to Quebec.

Extradition will not be necessary if he is apprehended under the fugitive offenders act. His identity once established, merely an order of a local court will be necessary to secure his return to Great Britain.

U. S. PLANS FOR LIBERIA CAUSE MUCH STIR IN LONDON.

American Commissioner to African Republic Gives Interview Which Arouses English Newspapers to Comment.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 27.—A news agency has circulated the report of an interview with Roland P. Falkner, United States commissioner to Liberia, who said his mission had for its object the complete reorganization of the Liberian fiscal affairs, beginning with the funding of the entire debt.

Falkner is quoted as saying America's interest in Liberia is wholly nonpolitical, but the news agency announces that the United States, with the approval of Great Britain, France, and Germany, has intimated to Liberia her willingness to take entire charge of the republic's finances, military organization, and the agriculture and boundary questions.

Most of the morning newspapers do not print the matter, but the Daily Mail makes a feature of it, proclaiming it an "apparition of the United States as a new power in the old world." It says editorially:

"Liberia thus becomes an American Egypt. The event is momentous in every way. It will be heartily welcomed by Great Britain. The change will affect future history as perhaps no other event in the last twenty years, with the single exception of the fall of Port Arthur."

GERMAN NAVY SAILORS MUTINY.

Men on Cruiser Rebel at Bad Food and Are Landed Under Heavy Guard.

BERLIN, July 26.—A dispatch from Kiel to the Vorwaerts reports that a mutiny occurred aboard the German armored cruiser Bluecher during the course of a cruise to Norway. The dispatch asserts that the vessel returned to the harbor and landed from sixty to eighty mutineers under a strong escort. The cause of the outbreak was bad food, of which one of the officers also complained.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

BUDAPEST, Hungary.—Twenty-five persons perished in a flood that followed a cloudburst at the town of Dees. The damage to property and crops was heavy.

LIMA, Peru.—The Pruvian cabinet, of which Dr. Janvier Prado Ugarteche was premier, has resigned. The ministry was formed March 14, and the boundary dispute between Peru and Ecuador has caused much friction among the ministers.

COLOGNE.—Twenty-eight technical students will visit several cities in the United States in the fall to investigate economic and educational conditions.

PARIS.—Kermit Roosevelt has arrived here. He is stopping at a hotel close to the vigilant eye of the American embassy, where Minister Bacon will resume his duties Saturday after his American trip.

PECK DEMANDS MISS QUINN GIVE DATE OF OFFER TO WED.

Arguments on the Motion for a Bill of Particulars in Breach of Promise Suit Set for Aug. 2.

New York, N. Y., July 26.—Professor Harry Thurston Peck, of Columbia University, who is being sued for breach of promise by Miss Esther Quinn, of Cambridge, Mass., made application to the supreme court today that Miss Quinn be required to furnish him a bill of particulars. He asks that she be required to set forth when the alleged promise to marry her was made and whether it was an oral promise or in writing.

By consent of counsel the hearing of argument was postponed until August 2.

Miss Quinn alleges that she and the professor became engaged in September, 1906, after his first wife's divorce, but Professor Peck denies he ever promised to marry her and says he will prove that she has no valid grounds for her action.

THIRTEEN REVOLT IN CUBA

Gen. Miniet and His Twelve Men Take to the Woods.

CHASED BY RURAL GUARD.

Leader Angry Because He Lost an Official Position.

HAVANA, July 26.—Señor Pasalodos, secretary to President Gomez, tonight issued the following official statement regarding the occurrences in Oriente province, which are believed to be the beginning of a widespread revolutionary movement:

"The government only knows that Gen. Miniet and twelve men took the field in insurrection from an unknown cause yesterday in the vicinity of El Caney. They have now taken refuge in a difficult hill country, where they are being hotly pursued by forces of the rural guard and by infantry from the garrison in the city of Santiago. Nothing is known of any other uprising."

Battle Rumor Received.

Señor Pasalodos said that the government had no information of the rumored engagement between the rural guards and Miniet's band, in which an aid of the latter was reported killed, and he had every confidence that the government forces would soon run down the insurgents.

Rumors that Gen. Jesus Rabi, Gen. Marie Menccal, president of the Veterans' association, and Luis Perez, the former governor of Pinar del Rio province, had joined the insurgents were disproved by messages sent by these men themselves, assuring the government of their loyalty. From all parts of the island the government is receiving assurances of loyalty from prominent citizens.

Troops to the number of 600 were dispatched this morning to the scene of the rising from Camp Columbia. The government suspects, according to Pasalodos' statement, that the reason for Gen. Miniet's action lies in the recent loss of an official position.

Gomez Feels Alarm.

While the Cuban government makes light of the matter, President Gomez has deferred his departure for his summer home, which was set for tomorrow.

It is rumored that the government fears an expedition landing arms on the coast of Oriente, and the revenue cutters have been ordered to exercise the utmost vigilance.

NEW YORK JUDGE REBUKED; CHAMBERS PRIVATE OFFICE?

Controller Prendergast Writes Letter to Warren Foster Concerning Alleged Impropriety.

New York, July 26.—Controller Prendergast today rebuked Judge Warren Foster of the Court of General Sessions for allowing the judge's chambers to be used as a "private law office," as the controller describes it.

The controller wrote Judge Foster as follows:

"Facts which have been disclosed relate to the use of your chambers in the Criminal court building as a private law office by Jacob Newman, your attendant. The question directly raised by these facts is whether or not Newman's salary, which is fixed by law at $1,800 per annum, can be properly audited and paid by the finance department.

"While acting as your personal attendant Newman has been admitted to the bar and carries on a general law practice in the offices which take up a part of your chambers.

"I am further informed that Mr. Newman performs none of the ordinary duties of an attendant to a judge. The evidence which I have in my possession is conclusive. If, as it appears, there is an abuse of public office maintained at the city's expense, I presume you would wish to rectify it."

Judge Foster said tonight he had not received the controller's letter. When he did, he added, he would reply in due time.

"As to Mr. Newman," he said, "he is my personal attendant and renders efficient and valuable service. If he does practice law in the civil courts he does it properly and does not violate any law. Any practice he may have does not conflict with his official duties."

PLAN FOR KNIGHTS' LADIES

Women Visitors to Big Conclave to Be Given Gala Time.

MOUNTED ESCORT PREPARES.

Will Give Hearty Welcome to Arriving Templars.

With less than two weeks remaining before the advancing hosts of the Knights Templar of the United States will reach Chicago, the woman's auxiliary committee went resolutely to work yesterday in an endeavor to see that the knights shall not be more comfortably bivouacked and elaborately entertained than their wives who accompany them.

Plan for Women Visitors.

Mrs. John D. Cleveland, who is the chairman of the committee, called a meeting of the women who are assisting her in planning for the entertainment of the visitors. She said the work which her committee had to do would soon be completed and she felt the entertainment which would be given to the women of the thirty-first triennial conclave would eclipse any which had ever been accorded at a grand encampment.

The officers of the grand commandery of Illinois are acting as the conclave executive committee. They have opened headquarters in the Tacoma building and an army of clerks under the direction of Gen. H. A. Wheeler are busy day and night sending out invitations to the various functions which are to be held in connection with the conclave.

Plan Mounted Escort.

The reception of the different grand commanderies at the railroad stations will assume something of the splendor characteristic of the receptions which were accorded companies of visiting knights in the olden days. A reception committee has been appointed, composed of more than one hundred picked knights. They have been selected from the different commanderies of the city. This mounted escort is practicing daily under Col. W. H. Whigham's direction. This committee will receive the visitors and escort them to their respective hotels.

CHICAGO LAUDED AS HEALTHY CITY

Dean Townsend of University of Illinois Advocates Education of the Public.

WOULD PREVENT DISEASE

Thinks Experimental Stations Should Give Instruction in Hygiene.

Havana, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—Chicago affords a striking example of intelligent appreciation of the public health movement, declared Dean E. J. Townsend of the University of Illinois in an address upon "Science and Public Service" before the summer school here tonight. He made a plea for the establishment of an experiment station of sanitary sciences and preventive medicine to work alongside the agricultural and engineering experiment stations of Illinois, but declared the education of the general public as to the sources of danger were equally important.

Montreal's recent experience with the smallpox, when 3,164 persons died, was contrasted with Chicago's record for last year, when out of 30,000 deaths not one was due to smallpox.

Chicago Shows Progress.

"Chicago presents a good illustration of what a thoroughly scientific and efficient leadership can accomplish," Dean Townsend added, "in protecting a community from unhealthful conditions. In 1891 that city had the largest death rate from typhoid fever of any city in the civilized world. Today, with its better facilities for the disposal of sewage, better inspection and protection of its water and food supplies, it is comparable in this regard with any other large center of population in this or any other country. In fact, Chicago now has the lowest death rate of any American city of more than 350,000 inhabitants."

This advance, he declared, was due in a large measure to the untiring energy and efficient leadership of Commissioner Evans and his colleagues.

What Station Would Do.

Dean Townsend's plan for an experiment station is one which would:

Supplement the work done by the state and municipal boards of health.

Maintain a laboratory of physiological chemistry, in which questions of human nutrition could be studied.

Conduct a bacteriological laboratory.

Create a laboratory of sanitary science in which problems arising from water supplies, sewage disposal, and their relation to public health could be investigated.

Establish a department of medical research—not a teaching body at all, but one to inquire into the cause and prevention as well as the cure of such diseases as have not yet yielded to medical treatment.

PROMISE TO CLEAR RAWN CASE TODAY

New Testimony Bearing on Railroad President's Death Scheduled for Inquest.

ESTATE WORTH $125,000.

Graft Charge Hearing Postponed Until Lawyers Plan New Course for Trial.

New and sensational evidence in connection with the shooting to death of Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon railroad, was promised last evening by S. H. Greeley, president of the Winnetka village board. Mr. Greeley said recently disclosed facts which might clear up the death of the railroad man would be made public today, but refused to give any intimation of their nature.

Coroner Hoffman during the day made final preparations for the holding of the inquest over the body of the man who now it is generally believed committed suicide in his Winnetka home as the result of the revelations of graft made by the investigators for the Illinois Central railroad. Because of the intense feeling which has been engendered in the village between the friends of the family, who still hold to the murder theory, and the village investigators, who think Mr. Rawn self-slain, it was learned that the coroner had made arrangements to take several of his deputies to Winnetka to act as peace officers [illegible] occasion demand. The inquest is set for 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Winnetka city hall.

The Rawn residence was still under surveillance of the Winnetka police, although no attempt was made to prevent persons from entering or leaving the premises.

Coroner Will Tell Story.

Coroner Hoffman had made a thorough investigation of the entire case, but has refused to say anything concerning his conclusions except that his inquiry has satisfied himself as to the facts concerning the death of Mr. Rawn. It is believed the coroner, following his custom, will give the jury the results of his personal research in advising the panel as to the verdict to be returned.

Attorney William Burry, counsel for the Rawn family, was in conference with the coroner during the afternoon for the purpose of learning what members of the family and household would be required as witnesses. It is said that all members of the dead man's family, including the widow, will testify, as well as the four servants in the house at the time of the death.

Find Rawn Worth $125,000.

The $1,000,000 estimates of the late railway man's wealth made by persons in close touch with the Illinois Central graft investigation were completely overturned yesterday when it was announced by the Rawn family members and their attorneys that the entire estate, aside from the life and accident insurance, would amount to less than $150,000 and possibly be under $125,000.

Mr. Burry made the statement that Mr. Rawn's estate would amount to from $100,000 to $125,000, outside the life insurance, which will amount to something over $40,000, and the accident insurance, which, with "accumulations," is placed at $131,500.

"We have examined all the papers left by Mr. Rawn," the lawyer said. "In his forty years of active business life he saved not more than $125,000. He left no real estate whatever. The Kenwood home, which belonged to Mrs. Rawn, was sold a year ago. All of Mr. Rawn's holdings are in the shape of personal property, chiefly stocks in industrial companies, none of which are connected in any way with the car repair or supply companies named in the Illinois Central scandals.

Find No I. C. Stock.

"I don't care to say yet what manufacturing concerns Mr. Rawn held stock in. They will be made known when the schedule of the estate is filed with the Probate court. We failed to find any Illinois Central or Monon railroad stock, although it was said he held one share in the Illinois Central."

Developments in the Illinois Central graft case are still at a standstill. The death of Mr. Rawn, who was the principal witness to be heard in the taking of depositions before Master in Chancery Thomas Taylor Jr., necessitated a considerable change of plan on the part of the Illinois Central attorneys, who had hoped to elicit important information from him before proceeding to other witnesses. For this reason the hearing before Master Taylor was postponed until next Tuesday, both in the general conspiracy case against the four former officials of the railroad and in the case against the Ostermann company. It is also stated that negotiations for a settlement of the civil proceedings against the Ostermann company and its successor, the West Pullman Car company, are in progress, which was one reason for continuing the hearing. Attorneys for the Illinois Central were in conference during the day with President Harahan, going over details of their evidence.

Improvement Club for Winnetka.

The much talked of improvement association for Winnetka, which has for one of its objects the bettering of the police system of the village, was organized Monday evening at the home of Mrs. N. H. Bradford. The officers elected include the following: President, W. A. Otis; vice president, Dr. Casey A. Wood; secretary, Mrs. Charles Prouty; treasurer, John A. Leonard.

Members of the new organization, which is called the Winnetka Village Improvement association, said the Rawn case had nothing to do with the organization of the association and that the betterment of the police force was to be only one phase of its activity.

PIEMAN WHO DIED OF POISON LEFT LITTLE, SAYS BROTHER.

Witness Asserts Alexander J. Moody Often Overdrew Accounts and Disposed of Stock Before His Death.

Alexander J. Moody, the late pie manufacturer, whose mysterious death from arsenic placed in meat remains one of the unsolved problems of the coroner's office and the police department, died practically penniless, according to his brother, Charles H. Moody, president of the Moody & Waters pie manufacturing firm.

President Moody was a witness yesterday before Judge Cutting in the Probate court at a hearing through which the widow of Alexander Moody was trying to discover additional assets of her husband.

"Do you know of any property belonging to Alexander J. Moody?" the witness was asked by Attorney James Maher, who, with Attorney J. L. Bynum, represented the widow.

"No, nothing," was the response, "except a surrey, a sleigh, and a few other articles of small value."

The witness said that his brother, who had formerly owned a considerable amount of stock in the pie manufacturing company, had disposed of it prior to his death, and that his brother had often greatly overdrawn his account with the company.

"Do you know why he was drawing these large amounts of money?" Mr. Moody was asked.

"Yes, he said he had a lot of doctor bills to pay," was the reply.

"Did he say who those doctor bills were for?"

"He said they were for his wife."

The witness indignantly denied that he had taken a large number of papers from Alexander Moody's desk after his death, and at this point the hearing was continued to Sept. 22.

Attorneys for Mrs. Moody announced immediately after the pie manufacturer's death that he was still the owner of stock in the pie concern, and that he held other securities. It is said that none of these has been located by either the heirs or their attorneys.

FIGHT FILMS UP TO MAYOR

Ruling, After Chief Denies Permit, Called For in Ordinance.

LEGAL FIGHT IS INDICATED.

Police Censorship Deals with Entertaining Pictures.

FILMS APPROVED BY POLICE.

"The Latest Fashion in Skirts."
"Bumptious as an Aviator."
"Hunting Bats in Sumatra."
"The Fiftieth Anniversary of Yokohama."
"A Personal Matter."
"The First Long Dress."
"No Rest for the Weary."
"The Barrel Jumper."
"The Law of the West."

Whether the moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight can be shown in Chicago without a victorious court decision by the owners of the films depends upon a ruling by Mayor Busse this morning.

Formal efforts indicating a leaning toward a legal battle if necessary were made on behalf of these films yesterday, but with a single exception the films submitted for police censorship were of the varieties labeled "comedy" and "educational."

In that one case—"The Law of the West"—no "representation of acts illegal in the state of Illinois" was involved, for the victim of the villain, instead of being hurled from a precipice, was shoved into a creek, from which he emerged in the sight of the audience.

Mayor's Ruling Due to Ordinance.

By a peculiar provision of the moving picture ordinance of 1907, not contained in any other permit ordinance, a request for authority to exhibit may be taken up with the mayor after the chief of police has refused to grant it. Chief Steward formally refused the order, and the theater men went immediately to Mayor Busse.

Aaron Jones and George K. Spoor, who have bought the exhibition rights of the fight pictures for Illinois, were accompanied by Attorney Eli B. Felsenthal, a partner of Ald. Milton J. Foreman, in the firm of Foreman, Felsenthal & Beckwith. As the ordinance requires, they made their request for a permit in writing, and before them Chief Steward wrote across the face of it the words "Not granted."

May Consult with Brundage.

The mayor probably will consult with Corporation Counsel Brundage before the arrival of the moving picture men and Mr. Brundage already has expressed informally a belief that the courts will uphold the barring of any pictures "dangerous to the morals of youth" even where the exhibition does not come within the ordinance classification of "immoral or obscene." This opinion he based upon a recent Supreme court decision declaring that the city officials have wide discretionary powers in such matters.

The first effect of Chief Steward's order of Monday was the withdrawal of permits for moving pictures of all prize fights and of training bouts.

U. S. CALLS RECORD WITNESS TO TESTIFY IN BEEF CASE.

Veteran of Standard Oil Prosecution and Railway Investigations Is Harry A. Timmins, Accountant.

A man served with more federal grand jury subpœnas and witness before more federal grand juries, it is believed, than any other in Chicago, has been summoned to testify before the special jury investigating the so-called "beef trust." This witness is Harry A. Timmins, an accountant employed by Morris & Co.

Four other Morris & Co. employés called before the "beef" grand jury are: John Carlson, a foreman; T. R. Buckham, department manager; J. A. Tapee, assistant traffic manager, and F. L. Bisbee, department manager.

Timmins was a prominent figure in the rebate case against the Standard Oil company that resulted in Judge K. M. Landis' $29,240,000 fine. Timmins testified before the grand jury which indicted the Standard Oil company and also appeared during the trial. He was then employed by the Chicago and Alton railroad. Since then he has appeared in a number of railroad cases and in two previous investigations of packers.

More testimony by witnesses from distant cities was heard by the grand jury yesterday. Those who testified were: H. J. Robertson Jr., manager of the Eastern Oil and Rendering company, Portsmouth, N. H.; William D. Miles, 3816 Baltimore avenue, Kansas City, Mo.; Walter Wall, an employé of a St. Louis "independent" packing company.

A conference of federal attorneys decided yesterday that Oliver E. Pagan, the government's indictment expert, should remain in Chicago during the remainder of the inquiry. A report of the progress of the investigation and plans for indictments to be submitted to the grand jury is said also to have been agreed upon for submission to President Taft.

PLAN FOR BOY LACKS COIN

Dyrenforth Youth's Fortune Dwindles Down to $35,000.

WON'T TRY PROPOSED COURSE

Meanwhile Benefactor's Widow Has Sued for the Estate.

Perhaps there will not be enough estate left to warrant Robert St. George Dyrenforth II. in doing seven years of grammar and high school work in two years, hastening through Harvard, Oxford, West Point, and law school, and regulating his religion and matrimony by the wishes of his dead grandfather.

"Big" Estate Dwindles.

Two weeks' investigation has failed to disclose the monumental estate which it was at first believed old Col. Robert St. George Dyrenforth had left. According to his brother and executor, W. H. Dyrenforth, who has charge of the boy, the only property of value is some real estate in Washington valued at $35,000.

Dispatches from Washington state that the widow has brought suit for this, although it was placed in the name of one of the colonel's brothers before his death. The widow claims it was really her property. She also insists she has a claim against his estate for about $5,000 unpaid alimony. It appears from Mrs. Jennie Dyrenforth's suit that the land is incumbered to the extent of $22,000.

Col. Dyrenforth considered the land worth about $300,000, directing in his will that it should not be sold for less than $1.50 a square foot.

Sees Harm in Notoriety.

Mr. Dyrenforth of Elmhurst stated last night that it made little difference whether the boy obtained any large amount under the will or not; that he would be brought up as one of his own children anyhow. He expressed the opinion that the sensational notoriety that attached to the youngster because of the will had done him harm which it would take the strenuous discipline of a military academy to undo. He will attend a military academy in the fall with Mr. Dyrenforth's own boys.

SUFFRAGE LEADER IS SUED.

Rent of Headquarters Is Secured by Mortgage on Portrait of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nellie B. Van Slingerland, founder and third vice president of the Joan of Arc Woman Suffrage league, was defendant in a cast set for trial today in the Ninth district Municipal court. The suit was brought by the Brunswick Realty company, from which Mrs. Van Slingerland rents the house at 119 East Twenty-seventh street, which serves as her residence and the headquarters of the league.

The realty company brought suit to dispossess Mrs. Van Slingerland for nonpayment of her July rent. The suit was settled. It appeared also from statements made outside the courtroom that Mrs. Van Slingerland had not paid her May and June rent, but had given a note for $225.

This note, according to the realty company's attorney, was secured by a mortgage on a painting of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, hanging on the walls of the room used by the Joan of Arc league as a meeting place.

OYSTER BAY NEEDS BABIES.

Census Figures Show It Has Not Grown as Rapidly as Its Neighbors.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—The government census enumerator of Long Island is authority for the statement that the population of Oyster Bay increases only 5 or 6 per cent, as against more than twice that percentage in near-by localities.

Uncle Sam's people counters don't insinuate that "race suicide" is popular in the home of the man who held it up to public scorn, but the fact remains that there has been a falling off in births in Oyster Bay.

In North Hempstead the increase in population is 13 per cent and Hempstead proper shows an increase of 14 per cent.

KEEP COOL? WEAR "UNIJAMA"

New Garment for Men to Be Worn on Street, Not in Bed.

EXHIBIT AT FASHION SHOW.

Novelty in Shirts Is Another Feature of Coliseum Exposition.

O, men of Chicago, sweltering day in and day out under your burden of pounds of clothes, how would you like to have your burden cut down to ounces?

They do it in Mexico and Central and South America, so why not in Chicago when weather conditions are the same?

One business man has leased space at the coming fashion show for the demonstration of the "Unijama."

The "unijama" is the singular of pajamas, designed for day time, not for night time. And it is to be worn on the street rather than in bed.

Laced Up in Sailor Style.

Realizing that this garment will be most needed during the summer, when wives are away at the lakes or the mountains, the inventor has dispensed with buttons. The contraption is laced up in sailor style.

The whole thing will be in one piece, though collars and cuffs may be either attached or detachable.

The traditional color limitations of coats and trousers will be swept away, and man may blossom out in silken raiment from tie to socks, such as to put the gayest chorus girl in the shade. On the other hand, there will be more sober business suits in dark blue, gray, and brown.

Demonstrators will mingle with the crowd, at the show, making the unique costume familiar to the public eye.

Novelty in a Shirt.

Another feature is a shirt made of two thicknesses, one of linen and one of silk, and will be sold with a guarantee that it will come through fifty-two trips to the laundry unscathed. It is even assured that not a single button will come off or break. The buttons are of metal and are fastened with a shank of metal, not with thread, so that a good sized piece of shirt has to be cut or torn out to extract them. Laundry apparatus will be set up in the basement of the Coliseum for demonstration purposes.

The show will open July 30 and close Aug. 6. Special excursion rates have been made on all railroads at this time for the Templar conclave.

TWO FORCED INTO BANKRUPTCY.

Automobile Supply Makers Victim of Slow Collections—Jewelers' Succumb to 1907 Panic.

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were started yesterday against the Chicago Steel and Brass works, automobile supply makers, 1201 West Jackson boulevard. Creditors filed a petition in the United States District court, and Judge Carpenter appointed the Central Trust company receiver of the concern, which has debts of $20,000 and assets of $15,000. Slow collections are given as reason.

The panic of 1907 caused involuntary bankruptcy proceedings yesterday against Dreyer, Lochau & Ohm company, jewelry manufacturers at 72 Madison street. The company's debts amount to $50,000 and its assets to $29,675. E. D. Buell was appointed receiver. The petitioning creditors are Jacob Strauss & Sons, $829.95; Waterbury Clock company, $15; Fred J. Essig & Co., $17.50.

MARION HAS 7,093 POPULATION.

Increase of 182 Per Cent in Ten Years for the County Seat of Williamson County, Ill.

Washington, D. C., July 26.[Special.]—When it comes to a growing town Marion, Ill., is pretty close to being the pride of the corn belt, according to figures on the population of that city given out today by the census bureau. Marion, which is the county seat of Williamson county, way down in Egypt, now has a population of 7,093, as compared with 2,510 in 1900. This is a gain of a trifle more than 182 per cent.

LIMPING PILGRIMS GATHER AT SHRINE

Mothers Take Their Children in Train of the Afflicted to St. Anne Miracles.

5,000 GO TO SEE RELIC.

Twenty-seven States Pour Deaf, Dumb, Blind, and Crippled Into the Town.

The relic of St. Anne was touched by afflicted persons yesterday, and the deaf said they could hear, the blind claimed they saw, and the crutch bearers halted not.

Five thousand pilgrims journeyed to St. Anne, Ill., to watch the working of miracles at the annual services at the shrine. From twenty-seven states they came, and most of them either sought the "cure" or were present in the interests of some friend who did.

At St. Anne's church, Thirty-eighth street and California avenue, another pilgrimage held forth, and here eighteen proclaimed to the Rev. J. V. La Marre removal of all physical handicaps. The procession in the evening was marked by scenes of excitement and thanksgiving.

Trainloads of Pilgrims.

All morning long trains loaded with pilgrims poured into St. Anne, the Chicago delegation, in charge of the Rev. A. L. Bergeron of Notre Dame church, numbering 1,500. Large crowds went from Kankakee, Momence, Bradley, Manteno, Watseka, Hoopeston, Goodrich, Bourbonnais, and Beaverville. Indiana was strongly represented by Bloomington, Lafayette, and Fowler.

The street was lined with automobiles and carriages, most of which bore cripples. The "cure" seekers were conspicuous among the crowds and were sought out by sympathizers, who cheered them up with assurances that "today is the day."

Mothers led afflicted children about and said they still hoped St. Anne would cure their little ones. Some insisted that already good had been done.

The climax of excitement and interest came during the afternoon procession, when the relic of St. Anne, a bone of the wrist, was presented for veneration to the afflicted. This part of the service was the signal for attempts to prove a return to the normal state.

For eight days the deaf, the blind, and the crippled had worshiped at the shrine of their saint. During those days they had confidently predicted that on the ninth day they would leave all afflictions behind to prove the miraculous power still existed.

Try to Lay Crutches Aside.

As the cripples stepped from the church they were surrounded by cheering mobs. Spurred on by applause, they struggled to lay aside crutches and other surgical appliances.

Two of the notable reported cures of the day were Mrs. Moses Mercier of Concordia, Kas., and Mrs. A. Gay of Colorado Springs, Colo. Both came all the way from their home towns, they said, after physicians had given their cases up, and participated in the novena. Mrs. Mercier said yesterday was the first day in twenty years she was able to hear, and Mrs. Gay announced that internal injuries, from which she suffered for the same length of time, no longer bothered her.

Mrs. Miranda Lavoie of St. Anne loudly proclaimed her freedom from crutches. She felt so good she carried the appurtenance during the procession.

Miss Mathilda Cunnea, a wealthy woman of South Chicago, whose recovery four years ago was regarded as the most unusual ever recorded, was a conspicuous figure at the services. The Rev. Z. Bernard, pastor of St. Anne's church, conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. J. E. B. Levasseur, the Rev. Stanislaus Beaulieu, the Rev. S. V. Primeau, and the Rev. R. Denorus.

Sugar Magnate Asks Appointment to Demonstrate Plans and Models for Raising Battleship.

New York, N. Y., July 26.—John Arbuckle, the wealthy sugar man, whose hobby is raising wrecked vessels, telegraphed the navy department today asking for the use of a naval vessel to make an inspection of the sunken battleship Maine before submitting bids for raising her from the waters of Havana harbor, as is proposed by congress. He also wants to demonstrate his plans and models for the work and asks an appointment at Washington for the purpose.

WIDOW AND LENDER CONTEST

Mrs. F. A. Riddle Presents Claim Before West Park Board.

$28,000 IS PRIZE SOUGHT.

Judgment Secured for Husband's Alleged Services in Bank Case.

Widow against money lender, with $28,000 as the prize, contested yesterday afternoon before the west park board as audience and arbiter. It was the old claim of Francis A. Riddle in a new guise, after having been thrashed out in many courts for the last decade.

Mrs. Riddle, widow of the park board's former attorney, through Attorney W. S. Hay, filed a protest against payment of the judgment (secured by her husband in his lifetime against the board) to Carlton Hudson, a money lender, to whom Mr. Riddle had assigned his claim as security for loans.

"The sum of $28,000, due under the judgment, as recently affirmed by the Supreme court," said Attorney Hay, "is greater than the sum borrowed from Hudson, who, moreover, was amply secured by other securities. Payment of the money to Hudson would be an injustice to her and would deprive her of funds in which she stands in need."

Judgment for Special Services.

Mr. Riddle obtained his judgment—originally $20,000, the remaining $8,000 being for interest—for special services alleged to have been performed in securing from the defunct National Bank of Illinois $860,000 of park funds deposited by the board's treasurer, E. S. Dreyer.

"Is the claim conscionable," asked Commissioner Joseph A. O'Donnell.

"Not in my opinion," replied Charles B. Pavlicek, attorney for the board. "All of the real work was done by E. T. Noonan as special counsel, while Mr. Riddle, who at the same time was being paid his salary as attorney for the board, sat by as a mere spectator. He was entitled to nothing."

Former Judge A. N. Waterman defended the validity of the claim and pointed out that the judgment had been affirmed by the Supreme court. It developed that Fred M. Blount, formerly a park commissioner, was Riddle's chief reliance in the trial, since he testified that the board had agreed to pay Riddle "extra" in the litigation to recover from the bank. Attorney Pavlicek denied there had been such an agreement.

The board declined to decide offhand between the widow and the money lender, announcing that its decision would be given only after careful consideration. It may decline to pay the claim at all unless compelled to do so under mandamus proceedings.

Although the business houses on the boulevard had asked for additional street lamps, their request was denied and the board's judiciary committee will consider plans of attack as proposed by Mr. O'Donnell.

No Protest on Politics.

No one appeared before the board to protest against the discharge of employés "on the contention of politics." President Kolacek and Secretary Mugler both denied that there had been dismissals for such a reason.

"About twenty-five men have been let out in the last fortnight because at this season a reduction in the force is always necessary," said Mr. Mugler. "In no case has this been because the man dismissed was a Democrat instead of a Republican or a supporter of Gov. Deneen instead of Senator Lorimer. I never heard that any of our employés joined in a demonstration against Gov. Deneen when he spoke at park No. 20. I know of no actions of disrespect towards the governor."

President Kolacek of the board confirmed Secretary Mugler's statement. Gov. Deneen at Springfield said he knew nothing of the protest made by Thomas W. Allinson and other directors of the Henry Booth Settlement house on Fourteenth place.

WOMEN HELP PATIENT ESCAPE FROM ELGIN INSANE ASYLUM.

Auto Dashes Into Grounds and Out Again with Joseph Connor—Was Regarded as Cured.

Two women are supposed to have planned and helped to execute a daring escape from the Elgin insane asylum by Joseph Connor, 28 years old, a patient. Connor has disappeared completely.

Back of the flight is a story of a romance wrecked by the death of his wife of an alleged $7,000 shortage of Connor's with the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway, when he was in its employ at Waukegan as cashier, and his sudden attack of insanity.

No legal action was brought against Connor, and asylum authorities said last night they would not press the chase after him, as he had practically regained his sanity and would have been discharged soon.

The escape occurred Monday afternoon. An automobile containing two veiled women and a chauffeur entered the grounds where Connor, with other patients, was enjoying the regular afternoon airing. It did not stop, but returned shortly afterward, although the women remained outside. The chauffeur drove to where Connor was standing in a group of patients. Connor sprang in and before attendants could quiet the excited patients the automobile shot through the gate, and stopping just long enough to pick up the women, started south.

Attendants at the asylum read the number on the machine as "Illinois 23,360." A car bearing that number was rented in Chicago Sunday to a man giving the name of John Ryan. Earle Smith, the chauffeur, has disappeared.

THE DISAPPEARING GALLUS.

Men who by devotion in use betray rev- ence for suspenders explain that gal- ses represent an application of science clothing in that they adjust the weight the garment to the shoulders, which e intended as burden bearers. They re- se to admit that with trousers properly t the weight, without suspenders and ith a belt, is thrown on the hips, equally le to bear it.

We note this merely to observe the tri- mph of the esthetic over the scientific. alluses, at least for summer use, are be- g driven into the hills of Arkansas, here one brace is considered sufficient r all except plutocratic relations of the topus hated by the Hon. Jeff Davis. he one-gallus boys are of rugged hon- ty and oppose the Standard Oil com- ny with patriotic fervor. We attribute is to the liberty loving atmosphere of e hill country, however, and not to the e gallus. We are interested merely in owing that the suspender is being driven the strongholds of primitive virtues nd that its extinction is threatened.

In spite of the scientific advantages said be inherent in the gallus, we incline to e notion that it is not a logical develop- ent in human clothing. The first skirt leaves was not hitched to the shoulders a vine, but was strapped about the aist. Later the intelligence of the world ok to draping garments from the shoul- ers, but the draped nations went against e trousered nations and, in spite of sev- al centuries of success, finally succumbed men who wrapped their legs in cloth nd thus formed their nether apparel.

In the orient, where the trouser was eld in highest esteem, they solved the uestion of support by using the trouser ring. In Europe they started with the elt or sash and worked along peacefully ntil the fashions brought in the tight va- iety of inexpressibles, which, being fash- oned like the skin, stuck like it. The uspender seems to have come into use ith the discard of these unmentionables. Ve do not speak with any authority, but e do not believe that braces can lay claim any antiquity. They will depart un- ourned.

In themselves they disclose a too sus- icious nature—a lack of confidence. A an with his trousers strapped to him is ot what might be called trustful. He is person who looks at the world askance nd will take no chances. And frequently e works his own undoing. A button ulls off and the means of repairing the amage are not at hand. The responsibil- ies thus thrown on the surviving one of e two which did duty on the northwest re too great for it. It departs with the nap of many things giving way and we ave a person whose face shows all the motions of misplaced confidence and ex- reme terror, clutching himself at the side nd departing for secluded places in search f a nail. He has none of our sympathy.

THE OPEN POCKETBOOK.

Whether your disposition is to look at he doughnut or at the hole through it, ome figures published by the federal bu- eau of statistics make interesting read- ng. They relate to the purchase by Americans abroad of diamonds, works of rt, furs, and champagne.

As to diamonds the bureau reports an ncrease from last year's importation, which came to $24,100,000, to a total his year of $39,800,000. Undressed skins ose from $11,700,000 to $15,200,000, and ressed furs and manufactures thereof rom $9,400,000 to $11,000,000.

But these increases are as nothing to hat shown in works of art, of which in 900 only $3,800,000 were brought in, while in the year just closed $21,100,000 as the figure.

Whether these purchases indicate the eadlong progress toward social and eco- omic ruin of the American farmer, as e suspect some abstemious and Spar- n banker or railroad magnate will rise declare, the bureau sayeth not. But he diamond importations rather point to prosperity among bartenders and "practical" politicians. Recent gossip in grand jury rooms and elsewhere in Illinois might serve to point out how some of these diamonds were paid for. But the setback of the white race at Reno was too recent to affect the 1910 figures one way or the other. It probably only brought about a transfer, though next year may show a further increase in importations of sparklers, chromatic waistcoats, and fur lined overcoats.

ROGER AND GEORGE.

In the to-be-memorable battle of the Midday club between the Hon. Roger C. Sullivan and George E. Cole it is now apparent that everything was lost save friendship. George and Roger were not driven to that last resort of enmity—formality. When they took their hats and went down to the hot street to cool off they were still Roger and George.

The friendship of David and Jonathan was unimportant as compared with this. They had interests, hopes, and ambitions in common, whereas George regards Roger as the great captain of piratical politics and Roger thinks of George as a stubborn, perverse disturber.

"Roger," said George, "you know you have been buying up senatorial committees."

"George," said Roger, "you would make Ananias blush for his incompetency."

If they ever had reached the "Mr." and last name stage one of the touching episodes in the history of the powers which make for and against good would have been destroyed. We have confessed before our inability to discover wherein the meeting of Mr. Sullivan with the directors of the Legislative Voters' league could accomplish much for the betterment of the commonwealth, and discovery does not come with the examination of the consequences.

It remains for any one interested to decide for himself whether Mr. Sullivan could or could not have secured two nominations in each of the three senatorial districts in question. Mr. Sullivan protests that he is not a "boss." It may be a quibble as to terms. Mr. Sullivan will have to be up and doing in the argumentative field to convince his friends that he cannot get certain political results when he wants them. It is true that he has worked most successfully with men after primaries and after elections. He has the rare ability of being persuasively effective with representatives of the people after the people have elected them. Probably for that reason it has not been necessary for him to undertake dictation to "the people." Few men would bother themselves about results if they knew that they won no matter what happened. Mr. Sullivan is successful in the councils of Democracy whether he be a "boss" or not.

The privilege of a man to challenge the jury which passes on his case may be conceded, but it should be noted that Mr. Sullivan did not produce any evidence which would question the right of any member of the board of the Legislative Voters' league to undertake the work of securing proper representation of the people in the legislature. The occasion was exceptional and frankness was invited, but Mr. Sullivan, who was not sparing of his critics, did not mention a thing in their conduct as citizens which would show them interested in legislative reform by other than their desire to help secure honest government.

They may at times, as Mr. Sullivan insisted, be misinformed, but the disinterestedness which they take into their work has not yet been challenged successfully by any of their detractors.

"VINDICATION."

The Legislative Voters' league's statement respecting the rumor of a $25,000 "jackpot" to reëlect Lee O'Neil Browne should serve to emphasize the certainty that especial efforts will be made to return this "undesirable" to the legislature. As in the case of the election of Moxley to congress, there is much at stake for those subterranean interests whose secret activities have corrupted our politics. The moral effect is of vital importance—to both sides.

The reëlection of Browne would be a calamity to Illinois not merely because, if he is not convicted of the criminal charge against him, a dangerous man would go back to Springfield to carry on his operations, but also because of the effect such a seeming "vindication" would have upon every politician similarly inclined throughout the state.

There ought to be an uprising of the people of the Thirty-ninth senatorial district to make this disgraceful outcome impossible.

CENSORSHIP.

Superintendent of Police Steward is to be congratulated upon his censorship order. Censorship is founded on a very broad and, along its margin, a very vague power. It is therefore useful to indicate, as the superintendent's order does, some more tangible test than that of "morality." That of illegality is broad, but it is distinct.

Censorship necessarily involves the exercise of administrative discretion, and the test of illegality, strictly and unintelligently applied, would be found too drastic in some cases, as in that of recognized works of art, while it might prove in some unusual circumstances insufficient.

What censorship really aims at is not difficult to state, and given sensible control it will accomplish unquestionable public good without infringing upon any of that reasonable freedom which the American people demand. Censorship is founded on the power for evil arising out of the law of suggestion operating upon the immature mind or the abnormal nervous system. Roughly speaking, it concerns itself with suggestions of violence and suggestions of sensuality, made in circumstances likely to attract the immature and the subnormal. Places like the 5 and 10 cent theaters require supervision from this point of view, and there are special instances where censorship may be applied reasonably to the regular theaters, as has been illustrated recently.

Even the self-assumed censorship of library administrators may be approved within these limits, though the suppression of books bought by general taxation may approach the danger line.

This line, however, may be drawn pretty distinctly. The age of the reader is one of the chief factors of decision, and one of the easiest to determine. But a negative principle should be laid down plainly as to the circulation of all works of religious, philosophical, political, or social intention. The library censor should keep his hands off these. Recent decisions of library boards have indicated an absence of respect for this principle, and the tendency should be not merely checked but corrected. Serious criticism of an institution or social condition or social or political principle, such as is contained in such works of fiction as Mr. H. G. Wells' "Ann Veronica," or Mr. Robert Herrick's "Together" should protect them from the misguided zeal of librarians and library committees. That the ideas expressed are considered by these censors subversive of good does not vest in them the right to withdraw from the general adult reader the opportunity of judging for himself. Freedom of conscience, freedom of thought, should be jealously guarded in a democracy. It is a consideration deeper and more vital than that of the weakening or strengthening of any institution or theory whatsoever.

AS TO LAUGHING.

The sermon of the Los Angeles pastor recommending laughter is nothing if not timely. There are very few worse foes of the sense of humor than heat. A man will laugh over a bad bargain. He will laugh at pain. He will laugh at danger or disgrace, or crime, or death. He will even laugh at himself—if he doesn't catch any one else laughing. But he finds it difficult to laugh at 97 degrees.

So the Rev. Mr. Locke's advice, if it is not novel, is welcome and will have the prompt approval of Dr. Evans and his health epigrammatists.

For laughter is the best of all tonics. Bacilli are humorless folk and hate the physical constitution that is always vibrating with the shocks of fun. This is truism, but serviceable, and likewise worth repeating are the platitudes on laughter as the great aseptic of the soul.

It is true there are different kinds of laughter and some of them need formaldehyde. There is a kind, too, that needs bicarbonate of soda as an antidote, and another that calls for lithia tablets.

But the right sort of laughter was stolen from the gods by some wiser Prometheus, and nothing can prevail against it.

In America there is a plenty of laughter, good, bad, and indifferent, but mostly good, and much that is very good. It is one of our greatest national resources. May we conserve it always. A people that laughs kindly and often has not much to fear; a people that laughs wisely, nothing.

A SHARP HINT.

The Austrian government a year or so ago issued a warning to intending emigrants to America against conditions prevailing in the south. The same government now attacks conditions in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and the Austrian vice consul at Pittsburg intimates that emigration to the United States may be prohibited by law until conditions improve.

It is not unlikely that a selfish public interest in checking a serious drain upon its population may enter into this humanitarian policy. But that need not obscure the fact that conditions in many of the mining and milling districts of this great land of freedom and opportunity are sadly out of keeping with its reputation. They are, in fact, in the respects pointed out by the vice consul, highly discreditable to our social and economic policy. The frequency of accidents, the difficulty of securing compensation for injuries, and the housing conditions are the chief points named.

All that can be said for us is that the public conscience and social intelligence of the American people are becoming aroused to these evils and that substantial measures of reform are under way. The new federal mine bureau and rescue stations, the passage of a federal employers' liability law, the movement for industrial insurance, and other related efforts to wipe out this reproach prove the will and the power to accomplish needed social reforms.

The action of the Austrian government will give emphasis to social reform and accelerate it.

WHEN one is in error it is always Maj. Hemphill who can be depended on to set one right. It was so with the fried chicken question, and now the major informs the illiterates who had supposed the "Pons Asinorum" was a problem in Euclid that in Cæsar's commentaries is found "that wonderful Bridge of the Asses."

IT was hardly necessary for Senator Cummins to deny any intention of forming a new political party. Judging from reports of the size of the insurgent majority in the coming Republican convention in Iowa, he is doing fairly well where he is.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1910: By the Brentwood Company.]

ADMIRAL SIR ALBERT MARKHAM, who arrived in this country last Thursday by the Adriatic from England with Lady Markham and his little daughter to stay with Frederick Pearson for some weeks at Great Barrington, Mass., came prominently before the public in England a few months ago in connection with an unsuccessful attempt to make him the victim of a fullfledged Black Hand outrage.

He is an officer who some twenty years ago was the subject of a controversy that attracted worldwide attention, especially in naval and military circles, the issue being to what extent the obedience to superior officers should be carried. He was second in command of the Mediterranean squadron when his flagship, the Camperdown, rammed the Victoria, the flagship of the commander in chief, Admiral Sir George Tryon, sending it to the bottom of the sea off the coast of Syria, carrying with it a crew of more than 600 men and most of its officers, only twenty-seven sailors and officers escaping.

The disaster was due to a faulty maneuver ordered by Sir George Tryon. Admiral Markham had to choose between obedience, with almost inevitable disaster, and disobedience, with the probability of a courtmartial for insubordination, his commanding officer, Sir George Tryon, being a strict disciplinarian.

Markham decided in favor of the former alternative. He held that the virtue of obedience was superior to every other in the navy; that the responsibility for what would follow would, after all, remain with his chief. He argued that if every officer on receiving orders were to hesitate about complying with them until he had decided in his own mind whether they were right or wrong all discipline would be at an end in the navy.

All this was brought out in the courtmartial subsequently held at Malta, and before which he had to appear for ramming and sinking the Victoria. He was acquitted by the courtmartial, and all the newspapers, both in England and abroad, lauded his Spartan ideas of discipline.

Although Markham was acquitted, the admiralty is understood to have censured him in a confidential minute, holding that he ought to have exercized judgment in obeying an order that was not only manifestly erroneous and clearly issued in momentary aberration by his superior officer, but also evidently bound to result in frightful disaster. Yet this censure did not prevent the admiralty from appointing Markham later on to the command of the Nore, one of the most important of the home stations.

Sir Albert Markham achieved fame as an arctic explorer, and in 1876, as the commander of the Alert, succeeded in planting the English flag in the highest northern latitude reached up to then—namely: the eighty-third degree. He also has to his credit the suppression of the "blackbirding"—that is to say, the slave raiding and trading in the South Sea islands—and served with Admiral Sir Edward Seymour in the China seas fifty years ago, taking part in the expedition which culminated in the capture of Peking and the destruction of the summer palace.

In describing in these letters the other day the extraordinary marriage of Queen Natalie of Servia's nephew, George Ghika, to the elderly but still comely Parisian demi-mondaine, Liane de Pougy, who, unlike most of her tribe, has managed to set aside a large fortune, I omitted to mention that she is the original of Sylvaine in Emile Zola's well known novel entitled "Paris." I also neglected to state that at the wedding ceremony at Paris she carried in her hand, in lieu of the customary flowers, an almost priceless breviary, exquisitely illuminated, which had at one time belonged to Duchess Anne de Bretagne. For the new niece of Queen Natalie is a Breton by birth and owns a magnificent château and park in Brittany near Roscoff.

Curiously enough, devotional books seem to possess a great fascination for ladies of antecedents such as those of the ex-Liane de Pougy. For perhaps the most celebrated collection of historic breviaries in modern times was that owned by that infinitely more celebrated queen of the Parisian half world, Leonide Leblanc, a beautiful woman, who played an important rôle in the life of the royal Duc d'Aumale. In fact, she owed many of her treasures and also the luxury by which she was surrounded to his generosity.

At the same time she was receiving the attentions of ex-Premier Clemenceau, then a much younger man, and as he was indiscreet and impulsive she experienced considerable difficulty in averting a meeting between her protector, the duke, and this parliamentarian, who represented in his eyes everything that was politically objectionable. Finally Leonide Leblanc invoked the assistance of the Musee Grevin, which is the great waxwork show in the French capital. She caused its managers to manufacture for her at a considerable expense a waxwork figure of the Duc d'Aumale, seated at the table as if poring over a book or a map. This she set up in one of the smaller boudoirs of her superb mansion on the Boulevard Haussmann, and when Clemenceau called and Leonide Leblanc did not wish to see him her clever chambermaid used to put her finger to her lips and on tiptoe lead the politician to the entrance of the boudoir in question and point out to him, the absolutely lifelike representation of the Duc d'Aumale bent over the table. This was quite sufficient to send Clemenceau away in hot haste by the servants' staircase and entrance, the trick being played over and over again.

Today this waxwork figure of the prince who conquered Algeria for France and who bequeathed to the nation his château and park of Chantilly may be seen among the waxwork representations of other personages at the Musee Grevin, though few who see it are aware of its peculiar origin and history.

One would have imagined that practically everything that could have been written about ex-Marshal Bazaine had appeared in print. And yet the publication, now in progress, of the diaries of Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia by Capt. Wolfgang Foerster of the general staff of the German army, by permission of the kaiser and of the prince's children, has brought at least one new fact to light. It is this: Prince Frederick Charles, who, it may be remembered, was in command of the German forces besieging Metz, had, despite his somewhat brutal character, been so much moved by the sorrow of such gallant old veterans as Gen. Changarnier and Gen. De Cissey that he offered, through them, to Bazaine, when the stronghold surrendered, that the French troops should march out with what are known as "the honors of war"—that is to say, defiling, with arms and colors flying, before the enemy. Bazaine, however, was so afraid that the exasperation of the 200,000 officers and soldiers under his orders at the surrender might take the form of some demonstration against himself that he, to the amazement of Prince Frederick Charles, declined the latter's soldierly offer. Thanks to this apprehension on the part of Bazaine (whom the prince describes as "abgelebt"—that is to say, a mentally and physically wearied old debauché), the French army of Metz, which, owing to its numbers and to the excellent physical condition of the men, could at any rate have in part broken through the besieging lines, was deprived of one of those consolations which are so highly valued by a soldier when overtaken by the misfortunes of war, and was subjected to the needless humiliation of having to file past the victors without arms or colors.

◆

The prince, who, according to Bazaine's champions, had always insisted that the field marshal had done all that it was possible for a commander to do for the defense of Metz, speaks on the contrary in his diary with the utmost contempt of the marshal's "extreme prudence," and, while admitting that the artillery in Metz was underhorsed, owing to the fact that the beleaguered forces had been living to a great extent on horse flesh, specially mentions that if Bazaine had hurled the whole mass of his army at any given point against the besieging line most of it would have succeeded in breaking through that line and in getting away, owing to the fact that the besiegers were extended over a long line of country and would not have been able to concentrate quickly enough to oppose a sufficient force.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

GOOD JUDGES NEEDED.

Chicago, July 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I beg to call your attention to the great necessity of canvassing the records of those Municipal judges who expect to be renominated by the Republican party at the primaries in September. It is important that these judges, who are brought into continual touch with the great mass of the people, should be molded in lines which will make them real human judges. No man should be considered fit to hold the place of a judge in our Municipal court system who is tyrannical and of the type of the Bow street judge in Dickens' "Oliver Twist." Yet we have but to recall the columns of THE TRIBUNE from time to time to put several of our Municipal court judges on a par with this character. It was one of our judges who became celebrated throughout the length and breadth of this land as the Solomon who told a fallen woman that, so far as her kind was concerned, she had better jump in the lake, or words to this effect. Another tells a poor benighted hind, without education or any mentality whatever, to come back to him in two weeks to be examined in Bryce's "American Commonwealth," which the man was to read in that time. Little wonder that the man fled the city after two days' faithful reading of two pages of the "Commonwealth." It was a Municipal court judge who, being told by a complaining citizen in his court that he had been severely beaten by a policeman, told the poor man that he had got just what he deserved, because he (the court) thought it his duty in a contest between a mere citizen and the police "to stand by our police every time," and, accordingly, fined the man. The man, however, appealed his case, and it was reversed by the Appellate court, who, in their decision, compared this worthy judge with a justice of the peace in his palmiest days. THE TRIBUNE took editorial notice of this judge at the time the Appellate court reversed the case and censured him as did the press of Chicago generally. I trust your newspaper may see fit to assist in protecting the public against unfit and incompetent judges on our Municipal bench.

FERDINAND J. KENTON.

TO SAVE TIME ON THE I. C.

Chicago, July 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems to me that you might appropriately suggest to the Illinois Central railroad, editorially or otherwise, a plan which, if practicable, would greatly increase the value of its suburban service to the public without cost, as I figure it, to itself. The plan I would propose is to elevate the tracks on which suburban express trains are run, beginning from the most suitable point from an engineering standpoint somewhere between Twelfth and Sixteenth streets and running to Randolph street. Whether or not this is practicable I do not know, as I am not an engineer, but what I would like to see is the elimination of the stop just before the train crosses the switch near Twelfth street. This would do away with the danger to which the traffic is subjected in crossing the switch and save a delay to each suburban train, express and local, of about two minutes. As the Illinois Central, according to its time table, runs about 86,348 trains a year this would mean a total loss in time of about 28,782 hours, or 3,598 days of eight hours each. Assuming that the cost of labor for train crew is $18 per day of eight hours for one train, this would mean a loss to the I. C. in labor alone of $64,764 a year, which would pay the interest on $1,295,280 in 5 per cent bonds! Estimating roughly the gross revenue of one train for 28,782 hours, assuming that it makes only a trip one way every hour, carrying only 100 people each trip, at 10 cents each, the loss in revenue would be $28,782. This would pay interest on an additional $575,640 in 5 per cent bonds.

I should think the I. C. could well afford to provide some way to save that unnecessary waste of time in its own interest at least.

A. H. LANDRAM.

WANTS LA SALLE STREET OPENED

Chicago, July 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Recent announcement is made in several of the Chicago papers of the consummation of elaborate plans toward the erection of a new "home" for the board of trade on the site of the present one at the foot of La Salle street.

In view of the fact that the city's business center must soon materially expand and that such expansion must necessarily, in the main, be southward, it must appear to the average observer that all the streets in that locality now closed by buildings, railways, etc., should speedily be opened and not permanently closed, as is proposed by the erection of this new board of trade structure.

In the course of a few years the railway interests located between State street and the river, south of Van Buren street, will unquestionably be compelled to vacate said territory and clear the way for the spreading of business. To permanently close, as is proposed, one of the city's principal streets by the erection of a mammoth building costing nearly $5,000,000, is committing a deed that strongly savors of a public crime.

Why are such acts allowed? Are the city's paramount interests forever to be subordinated and shackled by the selfishness of private interests?

The time has arrived when every element hampering the speedy expansion of the city's business center should absolutely be prevented.

The erection of the proposed board of trade structure at the foot of La Salle street promises to become a gigantic evil and the power necessary to prevent its erection should speedily be invoked.

ALFRED BEIRLY.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. BARNES.

Chicago, July 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I send you a copy of an open letter addressed to Clifford W. Barnes, president of the Legislative Voters' league. It follows:

Chicago, Ill., July 25.—Mr. Barnes—Dear Sir: Have read your recent report on outgoing members of the legislature and confess I am grievously disappointed at the results. You have fallen into the same error that caused your predecessor, The Municipal Voters' league, to lose most of its influence on the public mind.

The two most glaring faults of the legislature are individual incompetency and yielding to improper influence. Instead of digging deep into the history and life of these men and bringing out the essential facts on which to base an opinion as to their fitness for reëlection, you devote most of your space to an account of votes on various questions, most of which are questions of political opinion and have no bearing on the member's ability or honesty.

Let me illustrate your neglect of essential facts. I happen to know of a member of the senate. He is a man of very little ability, has no apparent knowledge of American history or the elementary principles of our institutions, could not for his life give an intelligent explanation of the distinction between a democratic and a paternalistic form of government, and has never during the last four years shown the slightest trace of individual independence. His presence in the senate is a joke, he speaks English with extreme difficulty, his attempts to do so are mimicked by his associates, and he could no more write a bill in legal English and understand it after written than he could fly. And yet you ignore these shortcomings and commend him as qualified to properly represent a constituency of over 100,000 people.

I know of another man, one of the ablest men in Illinois public life. He has education, experience, sound judgment, parliamentary skill, his honesty has never been questioned by any one except professional "knockers," he is one of the few really competent men in the legislature; and yet you condemn him. The specific charge is "He is a reactionary." What does this mean? Reactionary against what? It means nothing, because it might mean any one of forty things.

To illustrate your rank partisanship: You condemn one member because he voted against direct primaries. You don't question his honesty or his ability, but he voted contrary to your views on that question and therefore you condemn him. Now, I am an enthusiastic believer in direct primaries, but I do not think that a man who differs with me should be drawn, quartered or even burned at the stake. It is his duty to vote as he thinks.

A cash contribution of $5 for THE TRIBUNE summer hospital was made during a visit to the institution by M. Arthur Richardson of Chicago while on a motoring tour. The direct object of the contribution is to give to one aged woman another week at the hospital.

Mr. Richardson and members of his family, making a week-end run over Wisconsin roads, turned aside to take a look at Algonquin colony. Mr. Richardson's attention was attracted by the plea of one aged woman to Mrs. Collar, superintendent of the hospital.

"Please don't send me back to the hot city. I know I'm well now, but I'll be sick right away as soon as I am back in the tenement."

Mrs. Collar was about reluctantly to refuse the request when Mr. Richardson interposed with an offer of $5 to pay the aged patient's expenses another week. The offer was accepted.

The case is typical, as hospital officials from limitation of funds are obliged to send back convalescents who would be benefited by a longer stay in order to make room for the sick who are waiting their turn.

A series of "icegrams" and "hospitalgrams" has been prepared by Supt. Kingsley of United Charities and THE TRIBUNE summer hospital staff. The series is intended for eyes of Chicagoans enjoying themselves at summer resorts. Some of the "grams" are as follows:

"When floating on the back in the lake think of babies suffering from the heat in the city. Obey that impulse and send some money to the ice fund.

"When listening to ice tinkling in glass remember some poor baby needs ice to keep his milk fresh. Send $1 to THE TRIBUNE ice fund.

"Boat sailing in a stiff breeze demands all the attention. Send that contribution to the hospital fund and get it off your mind."

Distribution of these reminders by postal cards and otherwise is expected to jog the memory of many persons who need only a small impetus to come to the support of the summer funds.

Wide variety is shown in communications accompanying contributions to THE TRIBUNE'S summer charities. Notes are written on club paper, hotel letterheads, business stationery, crested note paper, and scraps of wrapping paper. That many of them are due to some sudden impulse of sympathy is shown by numbers of contributions in currency mailed with a word or two penciled on a sheet torn from a notebook or on the back of a calling card.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Desplaines Camp Meeting.

Good humor as an antidote to meanness was discussed yesterday morning at the Desplaines camp meeting by the Rev. Charles Edward Locke, who came from Los Angeles, Cal., to preach a series of five sermons. The sermon of the day was the last of the series. Dr. Locke was greeted by a large audience.

"The humorist," he declared "is more successful than the moralist, at least in showing the utter contemptibility of selfishness.

"Humor helps to carry life's burden. It saves us from supersensitiveness and helps us to see the bright side of things."

◆

"The fact that there is 'tainted' money in business cannot be laughed out of court by a jest," declared the Rev. J. L. Walker, pastor of Cuyler Avenue Methodist church, Oak Park. "It is right that people should receive dividends on their investments but they ought to make investigations as to the source of these dividends.

"When we purchase goods in the downtown stores it is not simply the goods that we must be concerned about but we ought to demand that the goods be manufactured in sanitary surroundings and by workmen who are paid a living wage. We ought to care about the homes and the pay and the health and the morals of the young women clerks who stand back of the counters."

Mr. Walker spoke on the subject of the "Coming of the Kingdom of God," and he declared that the coming of the kingdom was dependent on the recognition by the church of social and commercial righteousness.

The Rev. H. C. Morrison preached three times during the day. He addressed the children at 1:30 and preached in the main auditorium at 4 o'clock and again at 7:30 o'clock.

The study of comparative religions received a thrust from the Rev. M. B. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist church, Oak Park, who preached one of the afternoon sermons.

"The study of comparative religion is calculated to sap the foundations of our faith," he said.

The speakers today will be the Rev. J. L. Albritton, pastor South Chicago Methodist church; the Rev. H. C. Morrison, and the Rev. Hasse O. Enwall, pastor Trinity Methodist church.

CHILDREN LIKE GERMAN SCRIPT.

Chicago, July 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As there is some thought of changing the German text books in the public schools and printing them in Roman type, I would like to say that I have always found that the children take great delight in the German script and do not find this at all hard to learn.

Moreover, if they travel and go to Germany and do not know the Gothic letters, how can they read the simplest sign or newspapers? Had they not better learn it right and well if they study it at all?

OPEN MISSISSIPPI TO HEAVY BARGES

Tenders on New Swinging Bridges Await Coming of Commercial Fleet.

"LAKES TO GULF" IS REAL.

Drainage and Illinois and Michigan Canals Freed of Obstructions to Navigation.

The day when strings of loaded barges will ply between Chicago and Mississippi river ports is at hand.

This was the statement of officials of the sanitary district of Chicago and commercial men yesterday which followed an announcement that Chicago drainage canal is open for navigation in connection with the lower stretch of Illinois and Michigan canal.

The blowing out of one obstructing bridge between the sanitary district power house below Lockport, and of a towpath bridge over the I. and M. canal at Ruby street, Joliet, has opened a barge and power boat waterway from Chicago to the junction of I. and M. canal with Illinois river at La Salle. Below La Salle Illinois river is navigable to the Mississippi for big river steamboats. Only opening up for navigation of Desplaines river, between Joliet and La Salle, remains for realization of the "lakes to the gulf" deep waterway project.

Dawn of New Era, Says Randolph.

"It is a most important move, commercially and as regards realization of deep waterway," declared Isham Randolph, consulting engineer of the sanitary district. "The setback to commerce between Chicago and river ports always has been the upper stretch of Illinois and Michigan canal, between Chicago and Joliet. The lower stretch of the canal, the lower level, is much better. With the joining of the drainage and I. and M. canals will come great barge traffic. The Illinois is navigable for river steamboats up to La Salle, and their freight will be transferred there to barges. The two canals will admit passage of 200 ton barges.

"The canals should be filled with traffic. In fact, a St. Louis shipping concern, and also a Chicago concern, I understand, stand ready to put on a line of large barges as soon as they can get them. Now all needed is the opening up of Desplaines and Illinois rivers and the making them navigable between Joliet and La Salle to have a deep waterway for the river steamboats. Then the lower stretch of I. and M. canal, which is too shallow for anything but barge and power boat navigation, can also be abandoned or used for less heavy traffic."

Swing Bridge Replaces Old Structure.

"We really started to remove the bridge structure two weeks ago," declared Acting Chief Engineer C. R. Dart. "In its place we are putting in a swinging bridge which will give the full width of the canal for navigation purposes. The canal now can deliver a lake boat to the junction with I. & M. canal, but, of course, none will make the trip, because the latter waterway could not take them farther. It will mean an era of heavy barge traffic and the real opening of a real waterway between Chicago and the Mississippi. We have established bridgetenders along the canal and we are ready for any traffic that comes along."

Prospects for commercial possibilities were pronounced almost unlimited by Edwin S. Osborn, president of the Western Power Boat association.

"Illinois and Michigan canal between Joliet and La Salle will carry a barge 80 feet long, 16 feet wide, and drawing 4 feet of water," he said. "Such a barge will carry nearly 400,000 pounds of freight. If the waterway is used to its full capacity—and it certainly will be—that means millions of tons in traffic annually between ports along the route. It means a new river freight route between Chicago and the Mississippi. It means building up commercial centers all along the way and booming of towns already located as manufacturing centers."

Twenty-six Towns Are "Boomed."

The towns which will take on the atmosphere of river ports are: Summit, Willow Springs, Lemont, Romeo, Lockport, Joliet, Channahon, Dresden, Aux Sable, East Morris, Morris, Seneca, Marseilles, Ottawa, Buffalo Rock, Utica, La Salle, Peru, Spring Valley, Marquette, Hennepin, Henry, Lacon, Chillicothe, Spring Bay, and Peoria.

The opening up of the drainage canal also will permit motor and pleasure boats to ply between the great lakes and the Mississippi, and Chicago's winter emigrants to make annual pilgrimage to Florida by water. One of the first tests of the new route for such boats will be made next month. The Western Power Boat association will make its second annual cruise from Chicago to Peoria, starting on Saturday, Aug. 27, to attend the speed boat races at the latter port.

"There are many owners of pleasure boats who wouldn't take their craft through the Illinois and Michigan canal between Chicago and Joliet," declared President Osborn. "This stretch of 'tadpole ditch' always has been almost impossible of navigation—dirty, neglected, and full of débris. There are many boat owners who would make the cruise to Florida every winter if they could take their boats through in any sort of shape. Now they can make the voyage, and I predict that many of them will."

She was fined $25 and costs yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct by Municipal Judge Stewart.

CITY CRITICS GIBE AT $86,000 "ART"

SESSION IS UNDERGROUND

Mrs. Mary J. Hoxie Sees Illuminated Historical Works Riddled by Detractors.

An extraordinary session of the Chicago Municipal court was held in subterranean safety deposit vaults of the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday incident to the fight over illuminated copies of the declaration of independence and constitution of the United States, for which Mrs. Mary J. Hoxie gave cash and notes amounting to $86,000.

The illuminated manuscript was considered too valuable to be exposed in the Municipal Court building like other exhibits, so Judge Foster held court where the exhibits were deposited.

The familiar documents were written on thirteen sheets of parchment, decorated with a background of eagles and stars and bordered with miniature portraits, elaborate scroll designs, and a "pictorial history of the United States."

Critics Set Value at $1,600.

Although the artist, Nestore Leoni set a price of $150,000 on them, four Chicago art critics, who figuratively tore them to pieces, refused to value them higher than $1,600.

Miss Martha S. Baker, a miniature expert, admitted the drawing was so good that she believed it had been done over a photograph. The portraits were too well done, too perfect for real art. Then, too, she thought the coloring was bad, dry and hard, without feeling or ensemble, and untrue to life.

Frederick W. Gookin, secretary of the Chicago Literary society, admitted he was a better artist than Signor Leoni, and thought the miniatures too well done. He suggested the features should have been conventionalized, some of them left out, perhaps, to make them harmonize with the design.

Lawyer Defends John Adams' Face.

"Well, does that mean anything more or less than that you would make John Adams look less like himself?" asked Attorney E. F. McClennen of Boston, who represents holders of notes.

"No, not that exactly," faltered Mr. Gookin.

R. M. Seymour doubted the wisdom of having the miniatures at all. He also objected to the effect of depth. The lettering, background, illuminated design, miniatures, and illustrations he considered in "extremely poor taste."

The illustrations he classed as "trivial in technique," "harsh in coloring," and a "blot on the entire design." The conception of the work as a whole he called "feeble."

He placed a value of $200 each on the tablets, but later admitted it might take a man worth $25 a day 2 months to make one. He gave a considerable list of the illuminating he had done himself and valued it all at $1,000.

Leoni Illuminated Italy's Gift.

Attorney McClennen remarked that Sig. Leoni had been paid $12,000 for a single book illuminated by him which the Italian government presented to President Loubet of France.

Thomas Wood Stevens said "the conception of the whole work" was of a "low order"—"a sort of scrapbook conception." He also objected to the perspective, the realistic appearance of "roundness and depth," insisting there was "too much recession from the surface."

Objects to "Waste" of Sheepskin.

He also criticised the work on the 180 volume set of Dickens, which Mrs. Hoxie first agreed to purchase at $861 a volume. He said the ink used was too soft, that proportion of type page to whole sheet was a "blot on the work," that the illuminations were a "detriment to the book," and that they lacked "design, fitness, or any decorative virtue." He objected to each page being printed on only one side, but it was brought out on cross examination that parchment costs about $1 a sheet and that a sheet would make only four pages this way, while if printed on both sides it would make eight.

The case will be continued before Judge Foster tomorrow, and the other side may have an inning. They say they will introduce autograph letters from Col. Roosevelt, John Hay, and world famous art critics, enthusiastically commending the tablets when they were exhibited in Washington, and in other ways override the testimony of Chicago artists.

Mrs. Hoxie has as yet been only a spectator at the proceedings.

DEMAND CREAM, SPOIL MILK

Dairy Expert Blames American Women for Conditions.

"SAFE" SUPPLY IN BALANCE.

Says Housewives of His Country Follow Advice Given Them.

Bernhard Boggild, professor in dairying at the Royal Agricultural college, Copenhagen, Denmark, says American housewives are handicapping the movement to secure a "safe" supply of milk for the large cities of this country. Housewives of the United States not only sacrifice the guarantee of pure milk for the sake of seeing the attractive appearing cream in the bottles, but many of them do not know how to take care of milk to preserve its purity after they have purchased it, is the belief of Prof. Boggild.

How to Ship Milk.

"To insure a safe supply of milk where it must be brought any distance one of two methods must be followed," said Prof. Boggild. "It should be pasteurized or lowered at the stable to 40 degees temperature. Then the cream will not show.

"We do not have any such trouble with the housewives of Denmark. We have told them of the danger."

Prof. Boggild flatly refused to discuss whether the women of Denmark are more open to reason. "I have made a study of milk, not of women's minds," he said.

Sees Progress Here.

Prof. Boggild is stopping in Chicago preparatory to returning to Denmark, after a two months' inspection of dairying conditions in the country. He thinks much good work has already been done here, but sees room for more.

Negro Bets on Jeffries; Slain.

William Green, a negro who bet on Jeffries in the Reno fight July 4, was stabbed and fatally wounded yesterday by Arthur Cooper, also colored, with whom he made the wager. He died while being taken to the Provident hospital. Cooper, who was arrested, told the police Green had failed to pay.

CLASH OVER M'NEIL TRUSTEE.

Appointment of John E. Erickson Is Opposed by Attorney for Some of the Creditors.

Referee in Bankruptcy Frank L. Wean yesterday refused to approve the selection of John E. Erickson as trustee of the assets of Charles H. McNeil, son of Malcolm McNeil, president of the McNeil & Higgins company. Attorney Lester L. Bauer, who represents a number of creditors of the millionaire grocer's son, charged that the trustee would act favorably to McNeil and not in the interests of the creditors. Arguments will be made later.

News of Society

A WEDDING of a great deal of interest to people of fashionable circles and to others as well will take place today, but will be so quietly celebrated that not more than a dozen people ever will be able to relate an eyewitness account of the ceremonial. Miss Katherine Kohlsaat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kohlsaat, 844 Lincoln Park avenue, will be the bride. Roger Shepard will be the bridegroom. The ceremony will take place at a quarter before 4, in the presence of the immediate families of these two, and no others. There will be no reception following the wedding, and the bridal couple will start almost immediately for Europe.

Notwithstanding the smallness of the wedding the appointments will be rich. The bride will wear a wedding gown of white satin, completely covered with old English applique lace which has long belonged to Mrs. Kohlsaat and Mrs. Shepard. It will be caught in the front and in the back with knots of orange blossoms. She will also wear a tulle veil and will carry a white prayer book. Mrs. Potter Palmer Jr., who will act as matron of honor, will wear a gown of white satin covered with white chiffon, and she will carry a bouquet of small white flowers.

Mr. Kohlsaat will give his daughter away, and Dr. James G. K. McClure, president of McCormick Theological seminary, will perform the ceremony. Mr. Shepard will be attended by his brother, Samuel McMillan Shepard. The only ornament which the bride will wear will be a diamond and pearl pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Shepard will reside in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Carpenter will have for their guests over Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fuller of San Francisco. Mrs. Fuller was formerly Miss Elizabeth La Tourette of Philadelphia, and is well known in Chicago as a result of her visits here at the home of Mrs. Carpenter. They will be entertained at the Moraine hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter and their daughter, Miss Beatrice, will go on Friday to remain until the hot weather is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brand, the latter of whom was Miss Bertha Grommes, are at the Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wetten, the latter of whom was Miss Louise Walton, are visiting Mrs. Wetten's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman A. Walton, at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Eduard A. Furst, 1346 Astor street, are spending the summer at Delavan lake.

Mrs. James D. Fallow of the Virginia, who has been in London and Paris for some time, will leave this week for Lucerne. She has young Danforth Fallow and her sister, Miss Helen Hayes, with her.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Ayer is with her daughter, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, at Lake Geneva. She has been spending some time with her other daughter, Mrs. Samuel Chase, in Lake Forest.

Mrs. Otto Young will go to Europe shortly. She leaves her country place at Lake Geneva today for New York, preparatory to sailing.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Bokum, 66 East Division street, have just left by boat for Buffalo to remain there for some little time.

Mrs. Thomas Hancock, 5833 Madison avenue, is occupying a cottage at Waukazoo, Mich., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kretzinger, 822 North Clark street, will leave next week for Canada and will spend the remainder of the summer there. Mrs. Kretzinger will sail for Paris in October. She will join her daughter, Miss Clara Kretzinger, who has been studying art there for a number of years.

Mrs. William A. Gardner of Evanston will give a luncheon at the Exmoor Country club tomorrow.

Mrs. Pere Wickes of Highland Park will give a bridge party this afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Babcock, 44 Bellevue place, have opened their summer place at Green Lake, Wis. Miss Eleanor Babcock, their daughter, is now in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. McMullin of Highland Park gave a dinner party to ten guests last evening in honor of Frederick Stock, who is visiting them.

Mrs. William Baldwin, 702 South Sacramento boulevard, with her niece, Miss Elida Mae Webb, will spend the month of August at Green Lake, Wis., as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Alling.

Miss Bessie Cudahy is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Dupee at their summer place in Oconomowoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ludington Barnes are at Harbor Point, Mich. They have the residence there of John H. Barker. They will celebrate the fifth anniversary of their marriage there on Aug. 19.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bernard Kilbourne will start on Friday for a trip to Bar Harbor and Atlantic City. When they return they will go to the Blackstone.

Miss Sarah Barnett of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. A. Barnett of Aberdeen, Wash., are visiting Mrs. M. Stein of the Yale, 6565 Yale avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Soper and son, 4841 Greenwood avenue, have left for the Adirondacks, where they will remain until some time in October.

MRS. REGINALD T. M. SCOTT
And Her Infant Son,
Reginald Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald T. M. Scott and her infant son, Reginald Jr., the former of whom was Miss Leslie Grant, are now on the high seas en route for Chicago. They have been in India for two years, and the baby was born in the foreign land. Mr. Scott's business has kept him there uninterruptedly until this time, and now they are taking the first opportunity of paying a visit to Fernando Jones, Mrs. Scott's grandfather, at his residence, 1834 Prairie avenue. Mr. Jones is eager to see his granddaughter, whom he brought up, and his great-grandson, whom he has never seen. It was a deep disappointment to him that she did not reach Chicago on his birthday in the spring, when he reached the age of 90 years. After Mr. and Mrs. Scott and the baby have paid him a visit they will go to their home in Canada.

Round about Chicago.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

THERE MAY BE A EAMES OR MELBA IN THAT CROWD

THE way to the promised land did not look especially prescient of fame, and wealth, and automobiles, and white poodle dogs, and a summer residence on Long island. It first led down an alley, where the red faced driver of a beer wagon was relating in a dispassionate manner various shortcomings of the ancestry of the driver of the ice wagon who insisted on blocking the alley against further traffic. Dodging under the noses of the ice wagon horses, the pilgrim en route to the promised land walked on to where a narrow door was set in the alley wall. Over this door was marked the single word "Stage."

Within all was as dark as a cave. A single light burned over a table where a man in his shirt sleeves perspired and fumed over a notebook in which he was writing. Little groups of girls and men stood silently about until the man at the table called their names. The last arrival stood doubtfully for a while at the door and then with a loudly beating heart walked in. For through that door led the path that might lead on and on until at last at the summit she would stand, a Leading Lady.

The man at the table was picking the chorus for the new comic opera, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," which is to open the La Salle theater. Before you cook a rabbit, the old receipt says, you must first catch your rabbit. And before the grand opening night, with its fashionable audience and its bushels of roses and its scintillating and bedizened chorus, you must first get your chorus. One of the favorite bromides of a first night's audience at a musical comedy is, "Where in the world do all these pretty girls come from?"

They are the cullings of that little army of girls that walked down the alley, under the horses, and stood around on the dark stage during a hot summer's day. And it wasn't the $18 a week that lured a single one of them, although that's good wages for a young woman these days. It was the deeply guarded ambition of developing through the chorus into a prima donna or a leading lady.

It's hard work selecting a chorus. The man in his shirt sleeves at the table on the stage of the Grand opera house who picked the chorus for "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" company had chosen many choruses, however, and he was as brusque and businesslike as a recruiting sergeant for the army. Letters of introduction, fulsome recommendations from influential citizens, musical colleges, and elocution teachers, deft references to high social position, or reminders of old friendships impressed him no more than did the lamentation of the painter behind him who was redecorating the steel curtain and lamenting the loss of his most cherished brush.

"What I want," said the man at the table, "is girls for the chorus. Good looking girls that can dance and sing. I'm not signing up debutantes for the charity ball. Next girl in line there, what's your name?"

The young woman stepped up coyly to the table.

"Imogene De Lancey."

"You picked a good one. What's your voice?"

"Soprano."

"Let's see your elbow."

The man at the table stopped to explain that a pretty elbow was important because on the stage elbows were very noticeable. And a bad one couldn't be hidden. Also that a pretty forearm and elbow meant that its owner possessed a well proportioned figure.

The elbow clinic ended, the man at the table said:

"All right. Go over there to the piano and get your voice tried."

Imogene went over to the piano and asked the shirt sleeved man who sat in front of it smoking a pipe if she should render the "Stabat Mater" or the "Jewel Song" from "Faust."

"Nix," said the man at the piano. "Jump on that note." He banged a key on the piano. "La," sang Imogene De Lancey. "Now hit this one," and the man sounded another note, which Imogene tried.

"Right, Gus," said the man at the piano.

"What'll I do now," asked Imogene. "Sit down," said the man at the piano, "or stand up, just so you stick around."

Imogene retired. She had been accepted so quick it made her head swim.

The next young woman to approach the comic opera recruiting officer did not give her name when asked, but leaned over and whispered something to him. He looked at her and said:

"Well, some of the girls will be expected to wear 'em, but we'd never ask you to—never in the world."

"Well, all right, then," said the young woman. "You see, I have to remember my social position."

"Try this girl's voice," said the man at the table to the man at the piano.

The man at the piano banged a high note and the young woman let out something that resembled a stifled scream for assistance.

"Trial's over," said the man at the piano. "Six months at hard labor."

The young woman didn't understand the verdict, but some one explained to her that her voice had not been found satisfactory. But before she left she said that none of her set would ever go near "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" and that it was bound to be a miserable failure.

The next girl in line had big tears in her eyes when she faced the inquisition.

"I suppose I ought to tell you," she said, "that at present I am washing dishes in a restaurant."

The man at the table was as indignant as though the girl had handed him a letter of introduction from President Taft.

"What's that got to do with it?" he snapped. "Go over there and get your voice tried." The girl sang a few notes and came back. "You needn't wash any more dishes," said the man at the table. "You'll do. Put your name down."

And when the long afternoon was finished the chorus had been selected and the girls filed out of the stage door and back down the alley.

"And every one of 'em thinks she's a-going ter be a primmer donner," said the painter as he ceased his labors on the steel curtain. The stage door man resented the idle words of the painter, because the painter knew naught of the little world that lies back of the scenes.

"And so some of 'em are, maybe," said the stage door man. "You don't know and I don't know, but just the same there may be a Eames or a Melba or a Nordica in that crowd."

"And also mebbe not," said the painter.

But the stage door man scorned to answer the painter. In the eyes of the stage door man the painter belonged to a different planet.

"JUMP ON THIS NOTE," SAID THE MAN AT THE PIANO

August Meteoric Display.

BY MARY PROCTOR, Williams Bay, Wis.

> As oft along the still and pure serene
> At nightfall glides a sudden trail of fire,
> Attracting with involuntary heed
> The eye to follow it, erewhile it rest;
> And seem some star that shifted place in heaven.
> —Dante.

DURING the month of August fine meteoric displays may be expected between the 10th and 13th. They are sometimes referred to as the "tears of St. Lawrence," as the 10th of August is dedicated to the memory of that saint. They are, however, more generally known as the Perseids, owing to the fact that they radiate from a point situated in the group of stars known as Perseus.

This constellation rises in the northeastern sky about 9 o'clock during the month of August, and from that hour it is possible to observe the Perseids gliding in bright trails across the sky. The meteors belonging to this group have a strong family resemblance, being yellow in color and moving with medium velocity. Their stately glide is in marked contrast to the swift onrush of the November meteors, which flash into view with the rapidity of a skyrocket, and as suddenly disappear.

The Perseids are not sharply limited to a particular date, but are more or less abundant the latter part of July and the first of August. In fact, a few brilliant streaks from the direction of Perseus may be said to have heralded their approach already, and they give promise of an especially fine display of the true Perseids on the nights of Aug. 10 to 13.

Nothing spectacular should be expected, but it is undoubtedly interesting to watch these sudden flashes of light, like distant stars gliding across the sky, and vanishing as mysteriously as they appear. They remind one of the quaint oriental legend which endows them with a useful mission, for it is said they are the fiery darts hurled at the evil genii by the angels when they catch the genii eavesdropping at the gates of heaven. Every meteor seen indicates, according to the legend, one spirit of evil less in the world.

For the observer who wishes to note the peculiarities attending the August meteoric display great patience and scrupulous care is necessary, as well as experience, before he can feel any reliance on his work and draw safe conclusions. Meteors are so erratic in their movements, and usually so hurried in their flight, that they are quite beyond control as far as telescopic observation is concerned. It is true, an occasional meteor has been trapped by the camera, but it was quite unexpected on the part of the photographer, who greets it as a treasure trove when he examines his negative next morning.

However, such pleasant surprises are so rare that they are appreciated at their full value when they do occur. Prof. E. E. Barnard has been especially fortunate in capturing photos of unwary meteors.

As a rule, meteors must be watched for patiently when their appearance is due. As they flash into sight the determination of their speed is most difficult, as it is seldom possible to look at a watch face quickly enough to record the time of flight. The usual course recommended to the observer is to repeat some familiar piece of doggerel as rapidly as possible, beginning when the object first becomes visible, and stopping when it explodes or disappears, noting also the precise syllable said when this occurs. By repeating the same sentence over again before a clock it is possible to determine within a few tenths of a second the time occupied by the meteor's flight.

The velocity is usually found to range from ten to forty miles a second from the time when the meteor first becomes visible, and diminishes to one or two miles a second at the time when it disappears. The average velocity of a meteor is about twenty-six miles a second. When first seen is it usually at an altitude of about 100 miles, and disappears at an altitude of between five and ten miles, sloping downward along a path from fifty to 500 miles.

For recording meteor tracks it is a good plan to have a chart of the sky for August in readiness, marking on it the direction of the meteor's flight. A perfectly straight wand held in the hand for the purpose should be projected upon the path of every meteor directly it is seen, and then when the eye has quickly noted the position and slope relatively to the neighboring fixed stars it should be reproduced on the chart. If the meteor belong to the slow moving class, such as the Perseids, its path may be accurately noted, for the wand can be adjusted to its direction before the meteor has faded away. The direction and duration of a meteor's flight among the stars is a fact of greater significance than its actual appearance.

Observers, particularly those residing in the city, must be constantly on their guard against mistakes in identifying meteors from terrestrial objects, such as fire balloons. Some years ago the editor of the London Times received the following letter:

"A large meteor was seen tonight at 2:27 moving very slowly along the northern horizon, from west to east, at an altitude of about 3 degrees. It was at least three times as bright as Venus, remaining visible for nearly five minutes, moving slower than any hitherto observed. I should be glad to receive observations made at more favorable stations."

The reply to this letter was as follows:

"The large 'meteor' seen on Monday at 2:27, three times as brilliant as Venus, and moving from west to east, was a fire balloon sent up shortly after 8 o'clock from the Eton and Middlesex cricket ground, as a finale to some athletic sports which had taken place during the afternoon."

The August meteor shower yields the smallest shooting stars and the largest type of fire balls. Observers, startled by the sudden apparition of the latter, are rather apt to give exaggerated and inaccurate accounts as a result. The vivid brightness of the fire ball (overpowering the luster of the stars, and even vying with the moon in splendor), the flaming train left in its wake (curling itself up into grotesque shapes as it drifted and died away), the form of the nucleus with its jets and sparks, and the final explosion, with the reverberations it caused, are all alluded to by the enthusiastic observer. In such cases the direction and duration of the meteor's flight are overlooked, and the observation is practically without value.

Fire balls are usually silent, but sometimes explode with a loud noise. The fire ball of Nov. 23, 1877, is said to have "given a sound like salvos of artillery, and doors and windows were shaken violently." Sometimes there is no visible explosion; the bright nucleus slowly dies out until reduced to a faint spark before final disappearance.

In other cases several outbursts of light have been often noted; and a curious halting motion has been observed in regard to large, slow moving meteors. Occasionally they have been known to give out three or four brilliant flashes before fading from view. These flashes, though often of startling intensity, have been described as "coming more swiftly than flashes of lightning. They remind one forcibly of moonlight breaking through the clear intervals in passing clouds." There is always something mysterious about fire balls, as they seem to emerge so stealthily from the darkness, vanishing as silently and swiftly as they came.

The Perseids are generally supposed to be the scattered fragments of an ancient comet which traveled in the same orbit and eventually went to pieces. Tuttle's comet, which passed close to the earth in 1862, also claims relationship, as well as the comet of 1532, which is due to return in 1919, unless it has been reduced to fragments. The Perseids are, therefore, a very good illustration of the final chapter in the history of Halley's comet, which so recently claimed our attention.

There is only one known instance in which a meteorite actually reached the earth's surface during the progress of a star shower. This occurred during the great display of meteors on Nov. 27, 1885, when a piece of iron, presumably from Biela's comet, fell at Mazapil, Mexico.

Fortunately for us, the earth is surrounded by an atmosphere which usually consumes the meteors by frictional heat and breaks by its resistance the velocity of their descent. Otherwise they would strike the earth with a force to which that of a cannon ball striking a target is feeble. Under these conditions our planet would be subjected to a bombardment disastrous in the extreme.

The Wide, Wide World.

Leaving Southern Italy More Prosperity Seen.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL. D.

FROSINONE, Roma, Italy, May 27.—It was easy enough to find returned emigrants in Sparanise, much more difficult to get them to talk. I have found few Rosie Veltras in Italy. As we boarded the train two familiar looking tin trunks were thrown off. Two peasants alighted, almost as well branded as the trunks, "Back from America?"

They might have been deaf and dumb. They refused to admit, even when asked by my lawyer friend, that they had ever been outside Campania. Yet there was their baggage with big yellow quarantine labels and other telltale evidence. The station master said that they were just back from "Pittsaburgo." On the way to the station we passed five men on a corner. Their faces told the story. They denied they had ever been in the United States; they even denied that they live in Sparanise.

Then the lawyer got to work. It appears that two had been shovelers in New York, one on Mulberry, the other on Mott street, and the third had shoveled in Boston. A sixth man joined us. He had been seven years in Connecticut.

Man With One Eye Talks.

Then a seventh man—who spent four years in Boston, three in Worcester. In spite of, or perhaps on account of, the loss of one eye, this man was willing to talk about his American experience. He was the only one of the lot, one of the few I have seen in Sparanise, utterly devoid of suspicion. He lost his eye in a factory. He came back to Sparanise. He now regrets this, because with only one eye he will be refused at Ellis Island. He speaks excellent English and appears in every way a fine fellow.

Asked whether he liked Worcester or Boston better, he replied without hesitation, "Worcester. There is no Black Hand there; in Boston plenty of Black Hand who rob and steal."

A woman passed us, abandoned, they say, by her husband, who lives in New Jersey. She is poor and the women of the neighborhood are obliged to help her. "What is the difference between Italy and America?" I was hardly prepared for his reply. "There are too many Italians in America and not enough in Italy." He puts the number of Sparanisans in the United States at 600. There will be a heavy emigration this year.

The crowd was not satisfied. Two followed us to the station. There they got the lawyer off in a corner. He was put through a severe cross examination—who were we, why had we come to Sparanise, what did we really want, whom were we looking for?

On the train, while thinking about this suspicion, a remark I heard in Rome many weeks ago came to mind: "Of the between 2,000 and 3,000 criminals captured in New York, whose records have been examined in Italy with a view to ascertaining if they had criminal records here which would warrant deportation from the United States, only one was born north of Caserta."

Lawyer's Opinion of Countrymen.

The little lawyer was also thinking. "How foolish to allow these Italians to become citizens in so short a time! They abuse your confidence, they take advantage of you in every way. They think nothing of perjuring, for perjury with them is not bad ethics, only bad business when they are detected and made to suffer. You should make the penalty for perjury severe. You should not give one of these people citizenship under twenty years. You would do better to grant it only to the second generation."

What this same lawyer says about New York judges is only of interest because reflecting the common opinion in southern Italy as to the venality of our bench. They can only judge us by what they read in the newspapers. The thing which impresses them is the ease with which delinquents enter New York, and the liberty allowed them after they land.

From the foot of the campanile Frosinone seems to flow down the slopes of the hill. In one direction the hill is continued in a lower spur-like tentacle. The roofs are gray-green. But of the walls of houses or narrow canon-like streets we see nothing from this pinnacle.

"Where do the poor people live?" we asked our guide. "There are no poor people now." "What became of them?" "They went to America. Now they are richer than the signori." Our guide tells us that emigration from Frosinone began about ten years ago. From towns nearby, twenty years ago. Emigrants are landless farmers and general laborers. They are "crazy" to go. "Why shouldn't they be?" "Because they have got no business to go. I hope the ship that carries them will sink." This violent individual is a stone mason, likewise an innkeeper. Recently he sent to Rome for help. He could get none, though he offered $1.20 a day.

In one of the main cañons is a little notion store. Even from the outside it looked crowded, temporary and cheap. I entered and hailed the proprietor in English. He is a heavy set young man, who clerked in an Italian store in Boston and Albany. He came home three years ago to "go soldier," incidentally to try his luck at business. He says this country is all right, but it hasn't got enough money. And he will return to Boston. He related with some pride that he was arrested twice; once because of a girl, the other time for playing a guitar. Then he took down his instrument and played "School Days." "What do you sell most of?" "Charms for the watch chain and the Evil Eye."

Next we went to a peasant's wedding. He gets married preparatory to emigrating. The church was crowded. After the wedding bride and groom and scores of friends enter carriages. "Don't they live here?" "Yes, but they are going to drive around to show people that they are married." The carriage bill must have been $50. But divorces are hard to get in Italy, so no one may begrudge them today's ride.

In the American Town.

Down to the American town! There is really more life here. Sewing machines in the street; women not sewing are making lace or knitting socks. In a little shop is a girl selling calico, a sign of the times. Girls playing jack stones on the curb. Women cleaning greens. A shoemaker sitting in front of his six-by-ten shop. The lanes here are cobbled and clean. The walls of some old houses, rough and in bad repair, have been plastered. Some of the balconies have flower boxes. Venders cry their wares in the street. In many houses you see hams and bacon. People look well fed. The girls have fresh, round, rosy cheeks; the boys do not look stunted and half starved. We are getting away from southern Italy.

The Prefecture is a big, imposing building facing the plaza and overlooking the wonderful valley. They tell us that from towns which we saw from the church tower 6,844 people went to New York in 1907. The number fell off by nearly half the next year. Last year it picked up and 8,444 emigrated. "Where do they go? Where do they come from?" After some persuasion and a long delay, I was allowed to inspect the record of passports. Frosinone, being a county seat, has the smallest proportion of emigrants. Of the other towns, there is not much to choose. One sent 350 during the first three months of this year; another, 250. From the district nearly 5,000 have emigrated since Jan. 1. Nineteen hundred and ten will have a heavier emigration than 1909. They go and come, they tell us. Only now are they beginning to go in families.

Steady Stream to New York.

Page after page of entries shows a steady stream destined for New York. On some pages no other city is mentioned. This is characteristic of the early stages of emigration. They go where they are "called," and where they can find work quickest. Only gradually do they spread out. They are contadini. Few are land owners. Many live in nearby valleys, in the little farm houses you see from the church tower. From one to three families occupy these houses.

The questura maintains that no bad people have left Frosinone for America. There are no bad people here. I am inclined to believe this, although two individuals have hinted that family morality is not all that might be desired. But the people of Frosinone look clean of limb and sound of mind. Still, the boy in the notion store, with all his cleverness, is more likely to go wrong than the Calabrian peasant. He will not add to our strength, because he will not have respect for our freedom. Freedom for him means license. That he was twice in jail in Boston is no disgrace in his eyes!

As Ed. Howe Sees Life.

[From the Atchison Globe.]

You can't judge a man by what his relatives say of him.

The man who cuts his speech short is our idea of the perfect orator.

When women get to telling a funny "story" that is a sign that the "story" is very old.

An Atchison woman says her husband has an even disposition—he is mad all the time.

It is our notion that mince pie is bad enough for the digestive apparatus without putting booze in it.

A man who imagines he is fierce is sometimes only funny. And how an angry man hates to be laughed at!

A man may sometimes continue his popularity on his past record, but a woman or a baseball team can't do it.

Man wants to eat three times a day, and at intervals he thinks of love, but he wants to talk all the time; talking probably is his ruling passion.

It is said that in the churches those members who were saved by traveling evangelists do not stand as well as the members who were saved by the regular pastor.

A really great man can make the people agree with him, but a lot of pretty fair counterfeits manage to make a showing simply by agreeing with the people.

A man was complaining today to the Atchison hoodoo about rheumatism. "I would consider myself fortunate," said the hoodoo, "if I could trade my hoodoo for a case of rheumatism."

Bill Hutson bought an automobile on Saturday. On Monday he subscribed for the Automobile World." On Tuesday he joined the Automobile club, and the next day he was running his own machine, and running it too fast.

The newspaper boys have boomed a good many unimportant people until we are tired of hearing of them, but Miss Katherine Elkins makes us yawn a little more wearily than any of the others. Why doesn't this "spin" get married and retire to oblivion?

Woman and Her Interests.

Just Between Us Girls.

BY SISTER MARY.

A GIRL not long ago complained: "Cousin Ned is a selfish pig. There he has that perfect seven seated car, and not a woman will he take in it these boiling nights. He just fills it with men; says girls are fidgety nuisances."

A pretty girl with bewitching blue eyes, the kind that novelists dub soulful, said: "I'll bet you five pounds of marrons against an all day sucker that I will be asked to ride in that car within the week."

Three nights later a pretty girl leaned far out from the front seat of Cousin Ned's car and waved triumphantly at the group of girls on her friend's veranda.

A few hours later the telephone rang violently and a merry voice called: "What did I tell you? No, I didn't butt in. I was out by special urging."

Within a few minutes the girl was on the porch explaining how she worked it to her excited friends.

"I never believed, with Nan, that Cousin Ned is the woman hater and grouch every one says. At least I'm sure he has his share of male conceit, therefore is workable. All I needed was a chance, and that fate made me.

"The other night I was just starting home from Jane Strong's, when up drove Cousin Ned and deposited the two Strong men and their friends. Bob told me the trolley had stopped, and when I declared I could not stay all night he told Ned with a chuckle he must drive me in.

"The poor thing was cornered and my opportunity had arrived.

"Did I waste it? You do not know Sally! I took it all as a matter of course and said little for about a mile. Then I burst out as if I could contain myself no longer. 'Mr. Bliss, I think you have been terribly slandered! Why, every one says you are fearfully reckless, and you are the best driver I have ever seen. This is a dreadful piece of road, but I have not had a minute's anxiety.

"That made him sit up and take notice—you never saw a man who drives like mad and pays small fortunes in fines who does not like to be thought careful.

"Then I threw in a few intelligent questions to show I knew something about motors—not the fool things girls usually ask. Soon I was overhead in a technical conversation of which I did not understand two words.

"That didn't make any difference so long as I could keep sense enough in a few How wonderfuls! Is that so? How much you know about cars! I envy you your knowledge.

"When we nearly took off the curb turning a corner and actually cut off the head of a chicken I never turned a hair, managed not even to gasp or let my voice show my deadly funk.

"Cousin Ned said: 'Miss Burns, what a brave girl you are! Most women would have made fools of themselves the last few minutes.'

"Then I turned on what our Ted calls my soulful look and replied: 'I cannot let you praise me unjustly, Mr. Bliss. I'm usually a dreadful coward in a car, but I've such confidence in your driving that I never thought of being afraid.'

"You should have seen his chest swell at that. I knew then I was not paying $1.50 per pound for marrons for Nanny dear. But I did not let up in my good work until I had convinced him he should enter the endurance run as I knew his make of car with him as driver would beat everything in sight.

"When I got out at our house all I said was: 'Thank you so much. I never have had a nicer ride.' I did not think it the time for slathering.

"For a ghastly minute I thought him unworkable, unlike most gentlemen chauffeurs. Then he said quickly, just as if something forced him against his will: 'Miss Burns, how would you like to try it again tomorrow night?'

"I could have laughed in his face I was so tickled, but I naturally had to be urged. Here I am to claim my sour ball, Nancy. It is but the beginning, so if any of you would like to take any more bets come along. I'm going again on Saturday, and by next week you will see me in his racing car on a joy ride.

"How can I be so deceitful, Nancy? I'm not. I really do think Cousin Ned a bully driver. Of course, such tactics would never go down with a woman—she would see through me in a minute—but the men, sweet things, tempt us to work them through their self-love."

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Subtle Sandwich.

IT takes all the wiles of summer to restore to the sandwich the poetical associations which the commercial article of the year around has done its best to dissipate. Little did that nobleman whose surname this article of food bears realize that "one hundred and one varieties" would be invented nor imagine what lowly associations some of them would be found in.

The ham and tongue and cheese sandwiches have become practical necessities for the lunch counter. There is quite a world of distance between them and the aristocratic caviar, delicately served in soft, moist, crustless slices of the finest bread, and between these two stretches a long gamut of fish, fruit, fowl, egg, nut, meat, cheese, and combinations of two or more of these, with condiment additions, sandwiches.

The esthetic sandwich maker removes the crust from the bread of which she makes her sandwich, for the sake of looks, regardless of the fact that she is removing the most valuable and easiest digested part of the loaf. If she is experienced she spreads the bread before cutting it, unless she is to use a fancy cutter, then she would hardly be so wasteful. These cutters invariably necessitate a waste of bread, but the butter need not be added to the unthrifty pile.

Day old bread is best for sandwiches, but if fresh bread is the only sort procurable it can be cut with a heated knife—this means injury to the knife, however.

It is the summer picnic box that inspires ingenuity in sandwich making, although the grill rooms, with their club and various hot sandwiches, have pushed invention to its bounds as far as combining foods, condiments, and flavors go.

Six guests, six varieties of sandwiches, besides the clever maid who will entertain her friends al fresco. She would not think of serving guests with six kinds of meat, so she has no more than one kind of meat sandwich, one fish—sardines, likely—perhaps an egg sandwich of some sort—deviled if for delicate people, a fried egg filling if for hearty—one with fruit, and one with the inevitable cheese. The latter is variegated nowadays with pimento, although awhile back it was paprika that was popular.

A little mustard now and then is relished by all sorts and conditions of men and their wives. French mustard is one of the sandwich condiments that is favored in some localities. The salad dressing, in all varieties, is in high favor to dress lettuce, lobster, fruit, and fish, and even the nasturtium blossom sandwich contents.

Sardines are mainly valuable for sandwiches, although served on toast for lunches and special meals. They are boned, pounded, or worked into a paste with a heavy iron spoon and seasoned with mustard or with simple salt and pepper. The paste is moistened with the oil of the can if it is not thin enough. This paste may be served on hot toast, plain or covered, with a sauce made of three-fourths of a pint of hot cream to which has been added the well beaten whites of two eggs.

The nut butters, almost unknown a few years since, make palatable sandwiches. Not only is there peanut but pecan and walnut butters. Dairy butter, as well as cheese, may be mixed with various flavors of an acceptable sort as well as be used as the first addition to the bread for many sorts of sandwiches.

The lettuce, which, as a salad, should always have a light dressing, may, if sufficient thicknesses are used, be dressed with a light mayonnaise and be delicious. The combinations of nut-lettuce, lettuce-olive, vegetable-lettuce are toothsome.

For a spicy sandwich thin slices of ginger, preserved, makes about the best. For children any conserve between their bread is welcome, for it is nothing more than two storied bread and butter and jam. And let us not forget the stout lady. For her a fig sandwich, made of whole wheat bread, will be a reducing agent.

ADMITS HE LIED ABOUT HIS TAXES

H. Goldberg, Milliner, Boasts, Moreover, He Beat Own Record This Year.

TALKS SELF INTO TRAP.

Many Others Make Protests to Reviewers and Have Assessments Cut.

It frequently happens during the course of a day's session that the members of the board of review are seized with a suspicion that the taxpayer under examination disregards the facts when describing his financial status, but it has never happened before in the combined memories of the board that so frank an admission has been made as that of H. Goldberg to Reviewer Upham yesterday.

Goldberg was caught up by Kimball E. Valentine, the "watchdog of taxes," and made to admit that he had considerable more personal property than he originally had been assessed for, although he had come to complain against his overrating by the board of assessors.

"You lied pretty well last year, didn't you, Goldberg?" said Mr. Upham.

"Sure," replied the unabashed merchant, "but no better as I did this year."

Talks Himself Into Trouble.

Goldberg's undoing was caused by two things—his loquacity and the record of his insurance in Valentine's handy reference book. If Goldberg, who conducts a millinery business at 110 Madison street, had not been so voluble in his explanation of his poverty he might have been dismissed by Mr. Upham with a $1,000 assessment instead of the $1,500 given him by the assessors. He had come in to complain of the high assessment and the added penalty of $750 for not scheduling.

Valentine, overhearing the last part of his monologue on the subject, "business is rotten," suffered a twinge of memory that caused him to look into the reference book. Having assured himself of the facts, he approached Goldberg with this question:

Insurance Revealed by a Fire.

"You carry $12,500 insurance on your stock—"

Goldberg was about to reply in the negative, when Valentine continued: "Be careful what you say under oath. Remember, you had a fire last year and we found out then what your insurance was."

Goldberg was forced to admit the correctness of Valentine's information, and he confessed to $6,000 worth of personal property. Mr. Upham looked on the memorandum before him and discovered that last year the assessors had fixed the value of Goldberg's personal property at $5,000, but the board of review had been so impressed with his appeal for a reduction that it was cut to $1,000. Goldberg was given an assessment of $6,000 and a penalty of $3,000.

Many Protest; Want Cuts.

W. G. Colvin, representing Rice & Hutchins, became argumentative when Reviewer West told him that the law required the addition of a penalty of 50 per cent of the assessment where property owners failed to schedule. The assessment was $175,000 and the penalty $87,500, but a reduction of assessment to $160,000 with penalty of $80,000 was made.

The Chicago Woman's club failed to file a schedule this year, and for that reason was assessed by the board of assessors $4,000 as a penalty over the $8,000 assessment. The assessment was cut to $5,000 and the penalty of $2,500 was added.

L. T. Dickason, 4945 Ellis avenue, who was assessed $25,000, protested that $5,000 would cover his personal property, and he was let off with $7,500.

By keeping careful track of the bank stockholders the board of review was able to unearth $8,000 of personal property belonging to Miss Alma M. Jevne, which had been overlooked by the assessors. Miss Jevne admitted the figures to be right and no penalty was imposed.

Mrs. Fanny Klopfer, 444 East Forty-eighth street, was assessed at $140,000. She had not scheduled, but when she complained to the board of review her assessment was cut to $10,000 and no penalty was imposed.

Mrs. Mary Ballard Derby, who was assessed at $100,000, protested and the assessment was cut to $30,000.

Siegel, Cooper & Co. had $200 000 taken off their assessment, making it $518,262, which conforms with their schedule. The extra $200,000 had been added by the assessors by mistake.

Edward B. Butler was surprised to learn that he had been assessed $100,000 on personal property at a building at 6028 Kimbark avenue, which he maintains as a club for boys. The matter was adjusted by assessing Mr. Butler this amount at his residence and letting the shack go on the free list.

BARBERS PLAN TO GIVE TIPS.

Will Raise $15,000 Fund to Fight State Law Requiring Them to Be Licensed.

Every barber in Illinois—and they say there are 60,000 of them—is going to give a tip to a fund for the defense of Cyrus Van Dine, an Aurora barber, who is in jail for violating the state law for licensing members of the trade. Incidentally, this will bring about a test of the law in the highest courts—and that's what the barbers want, even more than Van Dine's freedom. Attorney S. N. Hoover of Aurora has been retained and with a quarter from every barber, making $15,000, he is going to fight the case to the last ditch. The barbers think it better to pay a quarter and have a fight than to pay a dollar, get a license, and avoid a row.

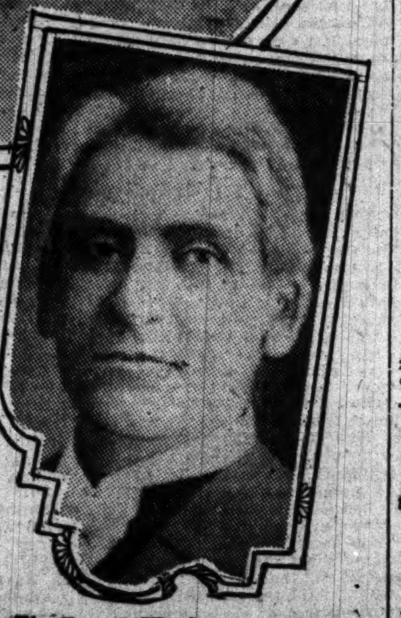
FIND OLD TIME WRITER INSANE.

Nathan A. Reid, Once Chicago Press Club President, Will Be Sent to Danville.

Nathan A. Reid, who during the eighties was one of the best known newspaper writers in Chicago, was adjudged insane by a physician from the city physician's office yesterday at the Harrison street police station, where he has been detained since Saturday on a disorderly charge. The Press club of Chicago, of which he was at one time president, did everything possible for his comfort. He has been at a soldier's home near Milwaukee, but has frequently left there dissatisfied. By arrangement with the city physician's office Reid will be sent to the Soldiers' home in Danville.

Former Chicagoans Hurt in Fire Which Destroys Hotel in Belfast.

Mrs. W. J. M'Caughan



The Rev. W. J. M'Caughan

EX-CHICAGOANS HURT IN FIRE

Dr. McCaughan and His Wife Leap from Hotel in Belfast.

ONCE HAD CHARGE HERE.

Pastor Left Third Presbyterian to Answer Call of Native Land.

The members of the presbytery of Chicago and the congregation of the Third Presbyterian church were shocked yesterday to hear of the serious injuries sustained by the Rev. W. J. McCaughan and his wife, who were forced to leap from the windows of an upper room in the Kelvin hotel in Belfast, Ireland, by the flames which destroyed the building and burned to death three of the servants. According to dispatches late at night Dr. McCaughan was still unconscious, but Mrs. McCaughan, although weak from the shock and burns, was believed to be out of danger.

Dr. McCaughan was pastor of the Third church for nine years and was considered one of the ablest Presbyterian preachers who ever occupied a pastorate in this presbytery.

Leap to the Pavement.

Dr. and Mrs. McCaughan were caught on an upper floor of the hotel, and in attempting to find an exit through the hall were terribly burned.

When they found that their escape by the usual exits had been cut off by the flames the minister and his wife leaped to the pavement below from an open window. They struck the ground with such force that it was discovered when they had been removed to a hospital that the skulls of both had been fractured.

Dr. McCaughan was called to the pastorate of Third church in 1898, as the successor of the late Rev. J. L. Withrow, who had accepted a pastorate in Boston. His previous charge had been in Toronto, but prior to that time he had occupied a pulpit in Belfast.

Call of Native Land Prevails.

Dr. McCaughan went from the pastorate of the Third church back to Belfast, where he had accepted the pastorate of the May Street Presbyterian church. Much pressure was brought to bear upon him to cause him to remain in this city, but the call of his native land finally prevailed. He was installed as the pastor of his present parish in Belfast Sept. 27, 1907.

Unlicensed Cement Workers Fined.

Two cement contractors received the maximum fine of $50 and costs at the hands of a jury in Municipal Judge Scovel's court yesterday morning for doing work without a permit. They are: H. Vernon, 1736 North Spaulding avenue, and Einer Anderson, 1624 North Kedzie avenue. According to Assistant City Prosecutor Anton Zeman, the men did cement work in front of the building at 926 Milwaukee avenue.

INSTALL TENTS AT SCHOOLS.

Three Institutions Attended by Anemic Children During Summer Are So Equipped.

Tents were erected by permission of the school board yesterday at the Libby, the William Penn, and the Lake View High school, which have been selected as the most centrally located for the use of anemic and debilitated children. Thirty-five youngsters voiced their approval of the innovation at each of the schools.

Dr. O. W. McMichael, Dr. James Alexander Harvey, and Dr. John Ritter are cooperating with the efforts to restore the children to their normal condition and fit them for the duties of the coming school year.

Mrs. A. W. Bryant, chairman of the Chicago permanent school extension committee, is raising funds by subscription for the food, service, and car fare of the children for the next six weeks.

GRATEFUL MOTHER TELLS OF LITTLE SON'S SUFFERING

With Sores All Over Head, on Neck and Face. Cries Kept Parents Awake Through Long Nights, Hands in Gloves to Prevent Scratching. Used Cuticura Remedies. Cured in Less than Three Weeks.

As a grateful mother, I feel it my duty to thank you for the cure of my little son who was afflicted for about eight months with sores all over his head, back of his neck and nearly all his face. We tried all kinds of remedies without any relief. We even employed a good physician and I am sure he tried his very best to cure my poor suffering little boy. But, alas! instead of getting better he went for the worse. His head was literally covered with scabs and ugly sores and his cries kept us awake throughout the long night. I had to keep his hands in gloves to prevent his scratching his head, as he was doubtless suffering from a burning and itching sensation and was constantly trying to put his hands where it hurt.

At last when he was about three years old, we saw an advertisement of Cuticura and I decided to try the virtues of the Cuticura Remedies. I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them according to directions and I am happy to tell you the little sufferer was cured in less than three weeks. This was over a year ago and now his head is covered with a fine growth of luxuriant hair. Strange to say, all those unsightly sores did not even leave a scar.

THINK PROCTOR IS SUICIDE; EFFORTS TO FIND HIM VAIN.

Search of Towns Where He Was Seen Bring No Results—Open Deposit Box Soon.

Relatives of Joseph A. Proctor, missing Peoria lumberman, who disappeared last Thursday owing his relatives nearly $100,000, expressed themselves last night as believing Proctor had committed suicide while worrying over his business cares.

Proctor was believed to have been seen in Bushnell, Ill., and Keokuk, Ia., Monday. Chief of Police William Rhoades of Peoria investigated both of these clews, but they led to nothing definite.

"There is no criminal charge against Proctor," Chief Rhoades said last night. "I have asked the police in all the adjacent cities and towns to look for him as his relatives fear he will attempt to end his life. I think if he is alive he is wandering about in a dazed condition."

When Proctor disappeared he was in a condition bordering on a nervous breakdown. This was during a family conference to look into his financial condition.

If Proctor is not found within a few days his safety deposit box in the Interstate bank of Peoria will be opened by a court order obtained by his creditors. Application for the order has been made, but the creditors have deferred action hoping the man may be found.

Games Today.

Washington at Phila. New York at Boston.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—The Sox evened up the series with the Senators today by copping the last game of the series, 3 to 2. The battle was a hot one between Doc White and Walter Johnson, and the left hander deserved what he got.

Frederick Parent was Doc's big helper. The small Frenchman certainly became a hero in the ninth inning, if he never was one before. He drove in the tally that beat Johnson with a beautiful base knock to center field, and then staved off trouble in Washington's last chance by going back almost to the fence and robbing Killifer of what was meant for a triple.

Killifer was the first Senator up in the ninth, and if his drive had gone safe there's no telling what would have happened. There are other Sox who should not be overlooked in the list that helped Doc win. Lee Tannehill and Pat Dougherty were worthy of mention, each of them figuring in the infrequent scoring.

Sox Leave in Good Mood.

The departure of the Chicagoans for the west tonight was not as sad a spectacle as one might have expected. The victory over Johnson was a big comfort and the fact the team cleaned up all its postponements and had no double headers to look forward to on the next eastern trip was food for some joy.

There were changes in both clubs at first base. Robert Unglaub was back on the job for the Senators. He had been out of it for a day because a cinder hit him in the eye on his way from Washington to Baltimore to pass Sunday. Chic Gandil supplanted Mullin, who had been in the throes of a batting slump.

The Senators did better than usual in the first inning against Doc White. Schaefer scratched a single, a pop fly that Tannehill couldn't reach; Lelivelt sacrificed, and Conroy flied to Parent so far out that Herman easily reached third. Gessler's grounder to Zeider ended the round.

Lee Tannehill Scores Gandil.

One down in the Sox second, Gandil beat out a bounder over Johnson. Purtell bunted and almost beat it out, but Conroy and Unglaub made a swell play and got the decision. However, Gandil went all the way to third on the out and it was a cinch for him to tally when Tannie slapped a clean single between Unglaub and Killifer.

Mr. Killifer gave a demonstration of the difference between using one's head physically and mentally in the Washington half. With one man out he stuck his bean in front of a pitched ball and walked to first. Doc didn't pay any attention to any one else until he had caught this brainy wonder off first by one of his quick returns.

Walter Johnson astonished the bunch in the third by driving a double over Parent's head. Schaefer brought him home with a triple to the center field fence. There was one out before this and Schaefer was left on third Lelivelt grounding to Gandil and Conroy lining to Zeider.

Purtell's Single Wasted.

Purtell opened the fifth with a single over Killifer. Tannehill sacrificed, but Payne flied to Lelivelt and Parent fouled to Beckendorf after White had walked.

Washington tried to kick us a run in the sixth, but we declined it. Zeider fanned. Collins was saved by Unglaub's fumble and went to second on a passed ball. Dougherty's bounder was booted by McBride, Jack taking third. Gandil grounded to Johnson without helping the cause and McBride tossed out Purtell.

The Senators took the lead in the seventh. McBride beat his high bounder to Purtell. Killifer sacrificed. Unglaub fouled to Payne, but Beckendorf clipped a single over second and Mac scored.

The Sox made it even again in the eighth. Zeider lifted a Texas leaguer to right after one was out and stole second. Collins shot one past Conroy. McBride stopped it out on the grass, too late to get anybody. Rollie stopped at third and Collins at first. Dougherty lined one safely over McBride's head and the captain counted the tying run. Collins tried to steal third while Gandil was striking out and was doubled up.

White Gets Out of Hole.

Doc was in a deep ditch in Washington's part, but pulled out nicely. Schaefer singled to left and Lelivelt sacrificed. Conroy was passed. Gessler fouled to Payne and McBride flied to Dougherty.

Then came Parent's duet of great accomplishments in the ninth. Purtell fouled out and Tannehill shot a double to center. Payne grounded to Unglaub, Lee moving to third. White walked and Parent's single over second settled it. Freddie's wonderful catch followed almost immediately and Doc was saved. Score:

Games Today.

Chicago at St. Louis. Phila. at New York.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—[Special.]—The tail of the junior cyclone which hit this town last night was still wagging over it when the Cubs alighted here this morning and exhausted the taxicab market in their efforts to reach the hotel through a deluge somewhere nearly dry.

Among the minor casualties resulting from the storm was the flooding of the local ball yard. Because of nearly half an inch of official rainfall the abandonment of the battle booked between the Cubs and the Cardinals for today followed.

Rain ceased at noon time and the skies began to clear, but League park was impossible for anything except ducks and drakes, so it was decided to await better conditions which are promised for tomorrow. No combat was scheduled for today, but one was to have been played to dispose of a postponement left over from a previous visit. It will be doubled up on Saturday, in all probability, as the Cubs have to make a 6 o'clock getaway from here on Sunday, which would make a bargain day on that occasion difficult. Reulbach or Brown will be on the slab in tomorrow's battle, which also is a hangover from the previous trip here.

Last Trip to St. Louis.

This being the Cubs' last visit to the Mound city this season it will be necessary to work in six games if possible between now and Sunday night. The storm keeps up the Cubs' record for making rain for Missouri farmers every time they come here, as they have been that unfortunate every trip this year.

The Cubs have been in doubt whether to attribute to the severe heat of last week or to Opie Dilldock a queer dream which they found aired in a newspaper here today. It gives a detailed story with diagrams and dotted lines of a new play devised by the Cubs and called the "sacrifice fly killer." West side fans who have been watching Chance's men for thirty-odd years may be interested to know how this play, which is said to be of frequent occurence in Chicago, is worked by the Cubs.

When there is a runner on third and less than two out, if the opposing batsman hits a fly to the outfield, John Kling projects himself rapidly across the diamond until he is back of second. At the same time Evers runs in from his position to the home plate. The outfielder who catches the fly shoots it to Kling, whose marvelous throwing arm enables him to relay the ball to Evers at the plate in time to cut off a runner from third, provided Tinker does his part of the job, which is nothing less than to start as soon as the fly is hit, run in and back up Evers at the plate.

Tinker Slows Up Runner.

In doing this Tinker times his stride so that he can pass directly in front of the runner coming from third and slow him up, or, if it is a particularly long fly, Tinker falls down in the path of the runner and trips him so that Evers can run down and tag him after getting Kling's marvelous relay. How wonderful a feat this is can be seen from the fact that ordinarily a runner will score from third base on a pop fly to the first baseman if the pitcher, for instance, cuts in and relays the throw to the plate.

John Kling, hero of this miraculous new trick, rejoined the Cubs here at noon after spending a day in Kansas City looking over his big billiard parlors and incidentally closing up details of the formation of his new National Billiard league.

The membership of the new organization has been filled and the constitution drafted in addition to a set of rules governing the contest for the national amateur three cushion championship, which will be the first event to be held under the new league's auspices. All that remains to complete the organization is the election of officers at a meeting which has been called for in New York during the first week in August, when the Cubs will be there.

Eight Cities in League.

Eight cities are included, being all the National league cities with the exception of Cincinnati, for which town Kansas City is substituted. Nine members already are enrolled two memberships being awarded the island of Manhattan and three to Greater New York, as follows:

Chicago, William P. Mussey; St. Louis, Charles Peterson; Pittsburg, S. Allenger; Brooklyn, F. Keeney; New York, John Doyle and Marcus Daly; Boston, L. Curtis; Kansas City, John G. Kling, alias Noisy John.

The field of the new league is a sweeping one, according to the preamble of the constitution, which in part follows:

"To promote either match or tournament contests between players representing the various cities at any style of game, either billiards or pool; to formulate rules governing such contests, to promote mutual welfare of players and roomkeepers, to define the status of amateur and professional players, and to assume such general supervision of billiards and pool as will best tend to elevate the sport."

This is some mission, believe us, and that is meant seriously. The active members are restricted to roomkeepers in the league cities, and the membership fee has been fixed at $200 per by agreement of the present members. The chief factor of the new league will be a board of control of five members no two of whom can be from the same city. That board will tackle all disputes, arrange all schedules of matches and tournaments, and separate amateurs from professionals.

It is believed, with good reason, that this organization will fill a long felt want in the billiard world, although it is admitted the compelling force behind it was not exclusively philanthropic.

PIRATES LET OUT TWO HURLERS

"Big Bill" Powell Is Sent to Kansas City and Dowd Is Presented to Indianapolis.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26.—[Special.]—Something akin to a shakeup occurred in the Pittsburg team today, when Pitcher "Big Bill" Powell was released to the Kansas City team of the American association and Pitcher James J. Dowd Jr. was released outright to the Indianapolis club of the same association. Jack Miller, another Pirate, will be sent to his home at Kearney, N. J., to recuperate. Miller was one of the greatest of last year's finds as a baseman and batsman. He has been worrying over failure to line them out this year, and recently injured his ankle. He will not play again this season.

Pat Page's University of Chicago baseball nine will meet the West Ends, leaders of the Chicago league race, at West End park today, all children being admitted free by the management.

SAILORS PROTEST; RULE SUSPENDED

Government Rescinds Order Requiring Yachtsmen to Clear and Report.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATER

Tars Now Are Free to Come and Go as Commodore Noah of the Ararat Yacht Club.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Chicago's amateur sailors, who last week had the wind taken out of their sails by a ruling of Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain requiring them to take out clearance papers for their yachts just the same as the master of a freighter would for his craft, have been restored to tranquillity by a suspension of the obnoxious rule until Nov. 1.

The oil on the troubled waters came in the form of a letter from Commissioner Chamberlain advising the yachtsmen that the regulations covering the clearing and reporting of their pleasure boats had been at least temporarily scuttled. The amateur tars now are free to come and go from port the same as they have been doing since Commodore Noah of the Ararat Yacht club inaugurated the sailing sport with the ark. The United States treasury has been enriched, however, as many of the local yachts have started on their annual cruises, and before they left the owners of about forty boats visited the federal building and paid the fee of 20 cents each for clearance papers.

Local Yachtsmen Influential.

During the controversy with the government officials the influence and power of the Chicago yachtsmen have been tested and have not been found wanting. The amateur tars were aghast when they were notified a few days ago that whenever they left port they would be required to line up at the barge office or federal building together with captains of lumber hookers and common carriers and take out clearance papers. They also were warned that they must not enter any other port without reporting at the barge office of each place. Then again upon leaving for Chicago they were expected to clear and report upon arrival here. It was a fine scheme, but not a popular one. The suffering among those who go down to the lake in yachts beggared description.

As soon as the regulations were issued, Secretary Sheldon Clark of the Chicago Yacht club started a vigorous campaign for the repeal of the rules. He issued a call to arms to members of all the yacht clubs on the great lakes and incited them to mutiny and it is said many of the protests received at Washington were written on asbestos paper.

Law to Prevent Smuggling.

The government according to section 4318 of the revised statutes requires that all vessels navigating on the great lakes be enrolled and licensed. This law is to prevent smuggling by small boats along the frontier of Canada and the government evidently fears that to let yachtsmen proceed without papers might result in the smuggling of foreign goods.

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—The Sox left here at 7 o'clock for Detroit. They will arrive there tomorrow afternoon, with nothing to do but enjoy themselves and rest until they battle with the Tigers on Thursday.

Young Cy Young probably will work against Detroit on Thursday. He hasn't been used much during the eastern trip and is anxious to get busy again.

"Gabby" Street was out in uniform again and started coaching on the third base line. However, he was too gabby for Perrine and was chased in the second.

This was the hottest day of the series and everybody was thankful that no double header was scheduled. The breeze that had been a life saver before was absent and the suffering was so much more intense.

The Sox will open a long siege on the south side grounds Friday afternoon. The Detroit Tigers will play there Friday, Saturday, and Sunday and then will come the Philadelphia Athletics, the first of the invaders from the east.

The record of the club since leaving home is anything but an enviable one. The Sox have won five games and lost sixteen since departing on the fifth of July. They will try to make the record a little better by trimming Detroit on Thursday.

Before leaving last night, Frank Smith told a Washington reporter that he had been traded to Detroit for Kickapoo Summers and a large cash bonus. The next time Smithie trades himself the Sox will get Cobb, Crawford, and Bush and a million dollars for him.

Jimmy Block's hair has not grown as fast as he thought it would and some of his friends may be unable to recognize him when he gets back. Blackburne's has been making rapid strides and he looks less like a convict than any of the others who had their top pieces shaved.

SOMERS NOW SOLE OWNER OF CLEVELAND BALL CLUB.

Vice President of American League Buys Out Kilfoyl's Interest—Barnard Draws Promotion.

Cleveland, O., July 26.—[Special.]—Charles W. Somers, vice president of the American league, is now sole owner of the Cleveland baseball club. He today bought the half interest in the club and franchise which had been owned by John F. Kilfoyl, former president.

Immediately after the transaction was closed Mr. Somers reorganized the company with himself as president, Ernest S. Barnard as vice president, J. A. Foerstner as secretary, and William Blackwood as assistant secretary. Barnard, who becomes vice president, has been secretary of the club since the spring of 1904 and was formerly a newspaper man in Columbus. Through his elevation to the vice presidency Barnard will become more of an adviser to the owner.

The purchase of Mr. Kilfoyl's stock by Mr. Somers disposes of the rumor that Fielder Jones might buy an interest and become its manager. Tonight Somers declared that Jones never had tried to purchase an interest in the club.

JONES IS AN ARTFUL DODGER.

Fielder Will Neither Admit Nor Deny He Contemplates Returning to the Diamond.

Portland, Ore., July 26.—[Special.]—Because whatever deal he has on hand still is hanging fire, Fielder Jones, ex-manager of the Chicago White Sox, will neither admit nor deny the statement that he will return to baseball. He admits his brother talked with Ban Johnson about the matter and that Johnson gave him to understand that personally he would like to see Fielder back in the game.

If Jones does return, however, it probably will be as a player as well as a manager. He says that he has found by playing with Chehalis that his eye is as good as ever. Jones is hitting .450 in that circuit and his judgment on batted balls is good. He is over weight, but is reducing rapidly.

Jones admits he will have to get Comiskey's consent before he can play with any team except Chicago. He will not say he has that but instead parries with: "You don't suppose Comiskey would put anything in my way, do you?"

CUBS SIGN NEW OUTFIELDER.

Youngster from the Illinois-Missouri League Will Receive Tryout After Ending Season with Minors.

Paul Smith, the stocky left fielder of the Canton team of the Illinois-Missouri league, was purchased yesterday by President Murphy of the Cubs for a reported price of $500.

James Murphy, a brother of the president, located the 19 year old player on a scouting trip. Smith is 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighs 190 pounds, and has been batting close to the .320 mark. It is his first year in professional baseball. Smith will remain with Canton until the Illinois-Missouri league season closed and then come to Chicago for a tryout.

"Red" Kelly, the former Notre Dame outfielder awarded to Comiskey by the national commission, notified the Sox boss that he would be on hand to greet his teammates when they return from their disastrous eastern trip on Friday.

Three Pitchers for Tigers.

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—[Special.]—Three new pitchers will join the Tigers at once. They are Loudell of Waco, recently hero of a twenty-three inning 1 to 1 tie with San Antonio; Sheets, an Indian, from the Regina club of the Canadian northwest, corralled by Scout Jimmy Casey; and Earl Wilson, brought to the jungle by Malachi Kittridge.

HARRY LEGG SETS NEW GOLF RECORD

Minnesota Champ Equals His 70 and Does 18 Holes at Minikahda in 140.

14 CHICAGOANS QUALIFY.

Twenty Hand In Scores of Less than 80 in Opening Round for the Western Title.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 26.—[Special.]—Harry Legg, the Minnesota champion, donned his seven leagued golfing boots again today and by duplicating his wonderful 70 of yesterday easily won the gold medal for low score in the qualifying round of the western amateur championship.

Few expected the pride of the Minikahda club again would shoot his head off, but he played the same brand of almost flawless golf and set a new record of 140 for low score in the qualifying round of the W. G. A., which also is a new record for the double round of the Minikahda course.

Legg led the strongest field that ever has competed for the western blue ribbon by five strokes. Albert Seckel of the Riverside club of Chicago and Mason E. Phelps of Midlothian tying for second place at 145, with Western Champion Charles Evans two strokes behind these players. Seckel and Evans both chased Legg hard today with seventy-ones.

Twenty Players Under 80 Mark.

Twenty players went under the eighty mark. Fourteen Chicagoans landed in qualifying positions. Six players tied at 162 for the last four places. L. W. Kinnear of Detroit, W. J. McDonald of Chicago, D. Lightner of St. Paul, and C. Stanley of Indianapolis getting fours on the playoff and relegating W. N. Chambers of Omaha and F. P. Carr of Des Moines to the outer darkness of the nonqualifying list.

The short first match play round, generally dreaded by players, was robbed of some of its terrors as the players were paired numerically in the order in which they qualified, the low men meeting the higher. As a result of this pairing there was not a real upset in the initial round. The Chicago youngsters put their handwriting on the wall, no less than ten of the sixteen survivors being from the hub of western golf. The home talent still has Harry Legg and C. T. Jaffray to rely on, the latter being the sole survivor of the veterans, and he hardly can stand the pace the youngsters are setting.

A. D. S. Johnston Defaults.

A. D. S. Johnston, St. Paul, the veteran who qualified, was compelled to default to H. B. Heyburn of Louisville, being called away to Fargo, N. D., on business. Detroit has two players still in the running, H. B. Lee and L. W. Kinnear, and W. Diddel is the lone representative of the poetic zone of the Hoosier state.

Harry Legg found Harold P. Bend, a former Minnesota state champion, an easy proposition, winning, 7 and 5. Bend won only one hole. Cards:

Bend—Out	4	5	4	5	4	5	4	5	5—41

National Champion Bob Gardner and Addison Stillwell, both Yale boys, had one of the best duels of the afternoon, and had the latter been more familiar with the ground rules he might have won. At the third and sixth holes his approaches landed close to the base of the direction targets back of greens in unplayable lies.

On each occasion he lost strokes when he could have lifted without penalty. He was four down at the eighth, but caught Gardner at the fifteenth. The national champion put his mashie pitch dead to the sixteenth hole, 355 yards, and won, 3—4, the next two being halved. Cards:

Champion Evans had one of the hardest matches of his career, as Donald Edwards, playing with great determination, pushed him to the limit. Edwards missed short putts on the twelfth and thirteenth greens, and these cost him the match, 2—1. Cards:

Evans—Out	4	5	3	4	4	5	3	5	4—37

Phelps Beats Standish.

Mason Phelps disposed of J. D. Standish Jr., Michigan state champion, 2 and 1, playing alternately bad and good golf. Standish was off in his putting, and this cost him the first, fifth, and sixth holes. Phelps was 2 up at the ninth hole, 400 yards, which both made in three. Cards:

Long Bob Hunter set too fast a pace for P. R. Talbot, the Dominie from Kansas, who fought gamely, but lost, 3 and 1. Cards:

Kenneth Edwards galloped away from Gordon Yule of Kenosha, being 6 up at the turn. Then the Badger youth braced and won back four holes, losing eventually, 3 and 1. Cards:

Jaffray Wins Hard Game.

Jaffray had Stanley of Indianapolis dormie two, but the latter holed a twenty-five foot putt at the seventeenth green for a 3 and won, and at the eighteenth Jaffray went over the green into the rough and was out short, enabling Stanley to get on even terms. The Minikahda man won at the twenty-first hole.

Seckel and Sheehan, the former Iowa champion, were close together all the way around, the Chicago boy getting a 78. They were all square at the fourteenth, Seckel taking the fifteenth and seventeenth.

Jack Cady, the Rock Island veteran, had some hard luck against Diddel, twice hitting trees. The Indiana player went out in 38 and was 4 up at the turn. Cady remarked he was out in two hours.

H. B. Lee of Detroit, the former interscholastic champion, had to play fast golf to down W. J. McDonald, the little Midlothian representative.

JACK JOHNSON ESCAPES FINE.

Court Finds Negro Champion Not Guilty of Obstructing Traffic on New York Streets.

New York, July 26.—"This time I wasn't fined," said Jack Johnson, champion pugilist, as he strode out of court when he had been found not guilty of obstructing a highway yesterday with his automobile. "Most generally," observed Johnson, "they get me for speeding and always fine me, too. This time I was caught for standing still, but they let me off. Curious business, the law."

Walter Manning Goes to Minors.

New York, July 26.—Pitcher Walter Manning, who has been with the New York American League club since 1908, has been released to Rochester of the Eastern League. Lawrence McClure, the former Amherst college twirler, was turned over to Jersey City.

BILLY DELANEY TALKS FIGHT

Passes Day with Friends and Reviews Big July 4 Scrap.

THINKS WELL OF KAUFMANN.

"Warwick of the Prize Ring" Believes Al Is White Man's Hope.

BY H. E. K.

Billy Delaney, "the Warwick of the prize ring," and Matt Larkin, whose confidence in Delaney led him to win $15,000 on Jack Johnson, were the guests of their friend Charles Comiskey yesterday and passed most of the day in the White Sox circle. In the morning Delaney visited the home of his recent protégé and met the mother and sisters of the champion and in the afternoon found time to call on "Parson" Davies, whom he has known for thirty years and who now is mending slowly after a long seige of sickness at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Harry Wilson, in Flournoy street.

"I called at Johnson's place more out of curiosity than anything else," said Delaney. "I wanted to see how the big lad was situated at home and I was surprised at the comfortable, not to say elegant, provision he has made for his relatives. I was more surprised still when his old mammy told me that every night at 6 o'clock Jack called her up over the long distance from New York and told her how he was and how he was behaving himself. You've got to give it to him for that even if you don't fancy him for a champion."

Jeff's Charge Comes Late.

Delaney had little to say about the recent battle, upon the result of which he is credited with exerting "a great moral influence." He could not believe that Jeffries was at this late date taking up the "dope" story, with the start of which he had nothing to do and which he tacitly discredited when excuses were first put forward for his defeat. "No," he said, "Jeffries cannot have been quoted correctly when he was made to say that he was got at on the eve of battle.

"His first excuse, the nervous collapse story, was a much better one, and I would rather believe that he is sticking to that if he is talking at all. If he is looking for a chance to show that he was not himself that day and needs a battle, as his friends suggest, to bring him back to the championship argument, he can win a good bet for himself by beating Al Kaufmann, if there is any chance of arranging and bringing off a meeting.

"If they're looking for a white man's hope there's the fellow they ought to be talking about—Kaufmann. He can whip any white man in the world today. That leaves him far behind Johnson's class now, but Johnson may come back to him some day, say in the next three years.

Thinks Well of Kaufmann.

"Kaufmann is a better man than he has been given credit for. He is big and young and strong, and as game as they make them. The rest of it should come to him with experience. I don't claim that it is possible to make Kaufmann as good as Johnson is today, but you know how fast these colored fellows back up when they start going that way, and how quickly prosperity spoils them. It is natural to expect Kaufmann to improve as he goes on, and that in about three years from now he will meet Johnson coming back this way.

"I have nothing to do with Kaufmann or any other fighter. As I said in Oakland, I am through with the game. I turned Kaufmann over to Bob Deady of Philadelphia. I think Bob is making a mistake in putting him up against Langford, as he is liable to leave a bad impression after six rounds with that tough customer, although I would fancy him to beat Langford over a route even now. I think he ought to be saved and pointed for Johnson. There is nobody else in sight worth mentioning on the same day with the big black fellow."

If Delaney lost any prestige through his esquiring the big spade in the Reno battle, there was no evidence of it in Chicago. Many of Jeffries' most ardent admirers, men who fell hard with the white man's hope, swarmed on him and congratulated him on his judgment and the candid way in which he handed it out before the fight.

Comes to Aid of Larkin.

To all of this Bill said: "I wouldn't have taken any interest in the match at all but for my friend Larkin here. Matt thought so well of my tip when the match was made that he got in heavily on the Johnson end of it, and I naturally wanted to see him win his bet. I was not stingy about saying what I thought of the fight. I said to all who asked me that I thought the coon was the best short end I ever saw. He didn't need anybody's assistance to beat Jeffries."

Larkin and Delaney will leave today for New York, Larkin to pass the remainder of the summer at his country place near Troy and Delaney to visit such of his old pals as are still alive.

JOHNSON GOT START AT YALE!

Colored Champion Janitor in Cigar Store and Learned Training Methods from University Employe.

New Haven, Conn., July 26.—[Special.]—Jack Johnson on his recent trip here admitted that he got his first start for fighting in this city. He tramped into town, after beating his way from Galveston, in 1899, and was janitor of the Becky Stanford cigar store on Congress avenue for several months.

Between sweeping store and cleaning up the poolroom, Johnson practiced boxing with Kid Conroy, then the cleverest lightweight in New Haven. Johnson was given his first ideas of physical condition by Sid Coe, Yale's colored athletic trainer, who took a fancy to him. He began winning fights as soon as he left here and has never stopped.

Johnson disposed of the rumor that he ever worked as a waiter at "Yale commons."

Ahearn Outpoints Holmes.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—With superior cleverness Young Ahearn, a promising English lightweight, outpointed "Darkey" Holmes of Philadelphia in a ten round bout at the Fairmont A. C. tonight.

KING COLE FIRST IN FEATURE PACE

Owner Dodge Drives Horse to Victory in 2:08 Event at Kalamazoo.

BILLY BURKE IS SPEEDY.

Four Year Old Wins One Heat of 2:15 Trot in 2:06¼ and Others in 2:08¼ and 2:08¾.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 26.—[Special.]—This was millionaires' day at the trotting track, no less than three plutocrats who train and drive their own horses, and also breed a few, taking a hand in the program. J. L. Dodge of New York, who bred the pacer King Cole, adjusted the first pair of hopples the colt wore, and taught him the intricacies of the game, won the 2:08 class for nags of his gait in 2:05¾, 2:08¼, and 2:08¼ from a big field that had some class.

The other plutocrats, F. G. Jones of Memphis, Tenn., and C. W. Lasell of Massachusetts, were not successful in collecting any money at the finish of the contests in which they engaged, but they had a lot of fun. Mr. Jones piloted Hallie Direct in the 2:08 pace and Mr. Lasell sat behind the trotter Oakland Flobar in the 2:15 trot.

Each horse was distanced in the final heat of its race, but for a while Hallie Direct was prominent, being a good third to Waverly, which won the opening heat of the pace in 2:04¾, and then second and third to King Cole in 2:05¾ and 2:08¼. But in the final miles he made a break at the five-eighths pole and finished back of the fateful red flag, waved by an unrelenting hired man.

Billy Burke Shows Speed.

Another feature of the sport was the remarkable race won by the 4 year old trotter Billy Burke, which in the $3,000 2:15 trot first drove out Robert McGregor in 2:06¼ and then came back three times in 2:08¼, 2:08¾, 2:06¾. An important fact in connection with this performance was that Billy Burke was forced out the last two heats by the Chicago trotter Henry H., which has improved wonderfully since last week at Grand Rapids, where it took him all the afternoon to win a race, no heat of which was as good as 2:10.

In the 2:06¾ heat Dean took Henry H. away from the wire at a great clip and before the eighth pole was reached he was in the lead, although Billy Burke hung to his wheel all the way. Henry passed the quarter in :31, the half in 1:03¼, and the three-quarters in 1:35, by which time all the field except the two leaders was hopelessly out of the contract.

Within a sixteenth of the wire Henry H. succumbed to the challenge of Billy Burke and broke. He at once fell back and from there to the wire Billy Burke was not driven out, but in spite of this he beat 2:07, and the race made him look like a 2:05 trotter any time he is stepped to his limit for the full mile.

Henry H. in M. and M.

Henry H. is in the M. and M. at Detroit, and looks like one of the money winners in the $10,000 event, as he beat 2:10 three times and with a little more improvement it will require three high class miles to take his measure at Detroit. Decoration and Oakland Flobar, which started in the race with Henry H., also are in the M. and M., but their work today does not give them a look-in for part of the big purse, Decoration being drawn on account of lameness after the first heat, while Oakland Flobar never finished better than sixth, and in the final round was distanced.

The horse that looked able to win the 2:18 trot had he stayed on his gait was Baron Penn. He won the first heat with ease from Sable Maid in 2:11¼, but in the succeeding miles made a break every time, and his mistakes were so disastrous that on regaining the trot he would be obliged to step the rest of the heat like a free for all horse in order to avoid being distanced. With Baron Penn on his bad behavior, Sable Maid easily was the best of the lot, the fastest mile required of her being 2:10¾, which she did with ease.

In the final mile Baron Penn got away well, but broke at the turn and fell a distance behind. By some phenomenal work in the next half he succeeded in getting up to the others, but in trying to pass them he broke again, and had the distance judge been prompt in dropping the flag the Indiana horse would have lost the second money which accrued to him through winning the opening heat.

Try Out The Harvester.

Having been drawn from the 2:07 trot yesterday because Geers was unable to drive him, The Harvester was given a stiff workout in order that he may be ready for his Detroit engagement next week, by which time it is expected his jockey will be in the sulky again. The Harvester was driven by Lafe Schaeffer and after some warming up heats he stepped a nicely rated mile in 2:07¾, then Geers concluded that a trifle stiffer heat was necessary to key up the stallion, although it was not to be done at his top speed.

With instructions to "let him step one in 2:06 or better," Schaeffer took the stallion away at a lively clip, but without the company of a pacemaker, which usually is a part of the stage setting of fast workout miles. Going away from the wire at what seemed to be an easy gait the stallion reached the quarter in :31½.

In the second quarter he had to step around a drag which was working the track and the incident added a few feet to the route and made the second quarter a trifle slower than the first, the time at the half mile being 1:03½. Then he went easily indeed to the three quarters in 1:34½. Down the home stretch the pace was increased a little, and without seeming to increase his efforts in the speed the stallion trotter covered the final quarter in :30½, making the mile 2:05.

Up to 2:03 Form Now.

From the way the trick was turned, there being no effort to see how fast the horse could go, but simply to drive him a stiff mile for training purposes, horsemen figure The Harvester to be up to a 2:03 mile right now, and plenty of them are of the opinion that if he is specially prepared for the feat he will be able to beat the record for trotting stallions, the 2:02¼ of Cresceus, before the season ends.

The 2:17 pace today started late and was not finished. As far as it went Hallie Lou was the best, winning the first and third heats in 2:07¼ and 2:11½. The Philistine, which took the second heat in 2:08¾, was driven in that and the succeeding mile by Ben Walker, whom the judges put up in place of Owings. Harold P., which hails from Chicago, was distanced in the opening mile.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

"With sails close reefed and in the teeth of a twenty mile gale the yachting squadron of the Chicago Yacht club set sail on the great annual cruise to Mackinac," breezes the yachting expert of a contemporary a block and a half removed in his vivid description of the start of the cup race. Recollection of the stirring event is that it was a spinnaker run with every stitch of cloth set. But what's the difference? That's as close to it as the litterati got to the recent prize fight.

◆

To add to the sprightliness of the midsummer social season we have Billy Papke honeymooning in his sixty horse roadster (make inadvertently scratched).

◆

GO ON WITH THIS ONE.

Miss Vida Llewellyn of fair La Grange,
Was beaten at golf, which was passing strange,
By Miss Ella Fulton of Hinsdale links
*With too much of a pull at the weights, methinks.

*Translated into chaste golf this phrase would read: "With a too liberal allowance of seven strokes in the handicap."

◆

You see it was this way in the Minneapolis golf tourney: Charles Evans Jr. came up with a creditable 75 as against the beautiful 74 of Paul Hunter and others. William Howland Jr. showed a sumptuous 72, but Harry Legg came along with a sublime 70 and they paid off on him. Now, if somebody does not come across with a thrilling 69 all will be well with the idol of Minikahda.

◆

The faithful A. P. in its account of the Kalamazoo trots hastens to add: "Country Jay's mile in 2:06¼, in addition to being the fastest trotted this year establishes a new mark for 14 year old trotters. The former record of 2:09½ was held by Van Sant. Country Jay also holds the record for 13 year old trotters, 2:07¼." We haven't heard so far that Tootsy G.'s mark of 2:26½ for 14 year old green broodmares with two white feet and a blaze has been disturbed, but the season still is young.

◆

We realize that it will serve no purpose to sound this note of warning, but some enterprising leader in the colored race is gwine to get his if a fund is started to buy Jack Johnson a jewel paved belt emblematic of the championship and that there is bound to result a crop of more or less piquant scandal dotted here and there with razor plays, and some blood letting. This is predicted on the history of concerted movements on the part of the colored brethren to glorify or relieve one of their number by the subscription. Somehow they jes' kain't trust one another when it comes to counting money.

◆

And by the way, why should the hard working Pullman car porters weigh in to buy Johnson a belt? We ask this question out of solicitude for the ultimate consumer, the white race, which is in bad enough as it is.

◆

This Tommy Burns has not sloughed any of his becoming modesty. When he fought Johnson he insisted on getting $30,000 to Johnson's $5,000, win, lose, or draw. Now recognizing Johnson's possession of the title he is willing to fight him for 35 per cent of the receipts and that Johnson should get 40 per cent. Seeing that the Canadian-Australian bounder who never did belong has no more chance of beating Johnson than he has of getting his picture in this column and that a match between them would be an affront even to the low grade of human intelligence that concerns itself in such matters, why, we ask, should anybody listen while that brand of barroom argument is going by?

T. C. BUNDY BEATS HAYES AT TENNIS

State Champion Eliminated in Western Meet, Losing Two of Three Sets.

COAST MAN IS IN FORM.

Gives Remarkable Exhibition of Accurate Return and Deceptive Service.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

In a match replete with spectacular tennis, Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles defeated Walter T. Hayes, Illinois state champion, two sets out of three in the fourth round of men's singles in the western tennis championships at the Onwentsia club.

Last year in the same tournament Bundy, who with T. W. Hendrick, holds the championship of the Pacific coast in doubles, was runner-up for the western title and met defeat in the championship match at the hands of Melville H. Long. The Californian's spectacular play yesterday was the best shown in the tournament so far.

His comparatively easy victory over Hayes by scores of 3—6, 6—4, 6—2 was a great surprise to friends of the Illinois champion, who had thought he might annex the western title. In the first set Hayes played well and showed flashes of the form that made him state champion for two consecutive years. Bundy played well in the first issue, but many of his intended place shots went wide of their mark, while Hayes outguessed his opponent repeatedly with his beautifully executed returns.

Hayes Has Good Start.

The easy manner in which Hayes took the first set, 6—3, led many to believe that he would come right back and take the second. He started out well and took the first two games, but at this stage Bundy got going and by a great exhibition of back hand strokes won the next two games, and finally managed to win four more, while the best Hayes could do was to win two. In this set both players executed successfully some beautiful shots, which brought rounds of applause from the fashionable gallery.

The third and deciding set brought out the same brand of tennis, only Bundy's game seemed to improve. The Californian won the first five games of the set before Hayes was able to register a single one. Despite the big handicap, Hayes never let up, but fought the westerner for every point, but his efforts were of no avail as Bundy finally took the set, 6—2.

Play in the woman's singles began yesterday and was featured by the match between Miss Margaret Davis of St. Paul and Mrs. Edward Brewer of Chicago. Both players were in perfect form and the match was prolific of as good tennis as a majority of the men competing in the tourney have displayed. The match went to Miss Davis, 1—6, 6—3, 6—4. Miss Davis executed perfectly some back hand returns which were brilliant, while Mrs. Brewer also displayed rare form.

Miss Rees Wins Easily.

Miss Gwendolyn Rees of St. Paul, who is looked upon as one of the strongest woman players in the tourney, easily defeated Miss Genevieve Murray, 6—1, 6—2, while Miss Jean Whiting played a fine match by defeating Mrs. George Massey, 6—4, 6—3.

Today two matches will be played which bid fair to be the hardest fought so far of the tourney. L. H. Waidner will meet E. Oelsner at 3 o'clock, and an hour later Charlie Peters will play Albrecht Ludke. It will be remembered that Peters and Ludke met in the final match of the state tourney to determine who should meet Hayes for the title. It was a hard fought match, but Ludke finally won.

STEEL EARNINGS EXCEL ESTIMATES

Net Returns of U. S. Corporation for Quarter Ended on June 30 Are $40,170,960.

ONE SHOWING IS LESS.

Concerns Unfilled Orders for Tonnage, Which Decrease 1,144,720 Tons.

Net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended June 30, 1910, were $40,170,960. This was at least $1,000,000 better than any of the estimates which had been made. It was over $3,500,000 larger than for the preceding quarter. The directors at the time they gave out yesterday the statement also declared the usual dividends.

The most interesting feature of the report for the quarter was the fact that unfilled orders for tonnage on June 30 were 4,257,794, which compared with 5,402,514 for the quarter ended March 31. This showed a decrease for the June quarter of 1,144,720 tons.

But compared with the June quarter for 1909 there was considerable improvement, the figures for the latter quarter being 4,057,000. For the June quarter in 1908 the unfilled tonnage was 3,313,000.

The net earnings for the half year ended June 30, 1910, were equal to 7.51 per cent on the common stock, as against 3 per cent for the first half of 1909 and 1.04 per cent for the first half of 1908.

For the June quarter, 1910, the balance available for common stock was 3.99 per cent, compared with 3.52 per cent for the quarter ended March 31, 1910, and with 1.90 per cent for the quarter ended June 30, 1909.

PRICES ON STEEL BEAMS CUT; ACTION PROVES A SURPRISE.

Chicago Jobbers Also Lower Quotations on Bessemer Bars, Despite Uniformly Good Business During Season.

Acting in accordance with their policy of maintaining as close a differential between mill and store prices as possible, Chicago jobbers of structural steel this week reduced their store quotations on beams, channels, Bessemer bars, and plates 10c per hundred each and made a reduction of 5c on the store price of blue annealed No. 10 sheets.

Business in structural steel has been uniformly and consistently good during the season and the reduction, therefore, comes somewhat as a surprise.

Take More Interest in Bars.

The railroads are taking more of an interest in bars, plates, and machinery, and as they must do something soon in the way of repairing cars for fall shipment of crops, considerable business is soon expected in the way of supplies for such repairs.

The market is strong on all lines except rivets and sheets. Independent mills are cutting prices on sheets and the rivet market has been weak on account of the stand taken by some of the mills in the face of a good market.

LATE WALL STREET NEWS AND GOSSIP.

A North Dakota banker, writing to his Wall street correspondent, frankly admitted the damage to crops in that state meant a bad year for farmers and business men. He thought, nevertheless, that the people would be able to live through the year without any other inconvenience than forced economy that in the end might prove wholesome. Farmers won't buy as many automobiles, he said, and they won't burn so many straw stacks. They'll find themselves able to get along without automobiles or find uses for straw. There will be healthier living and more prudent farming. The state had had nine good years, he added, and could stand one lean year, and he brought out the pertinent point that if crop damage had come it was advantageous that it had come early in the season. If it had come two months later, for instance, the farmers would have spent all their money and gone heavily into debt in anticipation of bountiful harvests.

The committee of bankers which has been working out plans to prevent the issue of fraudulent bills of lading on cotton Monday afternoon adopted a report recommending the issuance of validation certificates by the railroads. accompanying all cotton bills. This agreement was reached with officials of the southeastern railroads at a meeting in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., last week and it is understood a similar agreement will be adopted by all the western lines at a meeting to be held shortly. The bankers' committee has decided to send a committee of five to England and the continent for the purpose of presenting the plan to foreign bankers.

The Mercantile Cotton Crop Reporting corporation today issued its regular monthly report on the cotton crop. The corporation was organized by a number of cotton exchange firms for the purpose of getting accurate information in regard to the condition of the crop. Today's report of the corporation gives the indicated cotton crop at 10,664,000 bales, compared with 11,625,000 bales a month ago. It states it must not be understood these figures in any sense are a crop estimate, but simply a mathematical compilation of replies furnished to inquiries sent out by the organization.

Official announcement is made that at the recent special meeting of stockholders of the Safety Insulated Wire and Cable company the capital stock of the company was reduced from $1,500,000 to $750,000, or 50 per cent. Stockholders have exchanged their old certificates for new ones. Control of the company is held by H. E. Huntington, who is chairman of the board.

The steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II from Southampton arrived here today with eleven cases of gold bars, consigned to Lazard Frères.

Speyer & Co. announce that the Manila railroad company first mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds subscription lists have been closed, as the issue has been oversubscribed.

NEWS NOTES OF FINANCIAL WORLD.

No bids for the $500,000 4 per cent mortgage bonds of the Louisville Water company had been submitted when the board of sinking land commissioners met on Monday to receive sealed proposals.

The New York subtreasury lost $1,745,000 to the banks on Monday, making a cash net loss since Friday of $2,520,000.

The forthcoming annual report of the American Smelting and Refining company for the year ended April 30 last may show earnings of 7 per cent on the common stock. While the company is controlled by the same interests as the National Lead company, the dividend reduction of the latter has no bearing on Smelting's affairs. American Smelting and Refining sells pig lead to the National Lead company, but does not handle its ores nor has it stock ownership or control of the other.

The Kentucky and Indiana Bridge and Railway company is making plans for a $10,000,000 improvement bond issue.

FIRE AGENTS CUT EXPENSES

Committees Chosen to Apply Scheme in Larger Cities.

WILL EDUCATE THE PUBLIC.

Company Managers Hope to Secure Modification of Taxes.

Some seventy managers and officials of fire insurance companies met yesterday in Chicago to take initial steps in reducing expense of operation in the west. Chairman G. H. Lermit of the joint committee of union and non-union companies which has had the subject in charge, in addressing the meeting, stated that unless the companies take initiative in expense reduction the state will try to regulate this item. Sentiment of the meeting was unanimous in the scheme as outlined by committee.

In the first place, the committee is authorized to take such action as it thinks is necessary in calling attention of the public to excessive taxation levied on fire companies with a view of getting uniform legislation that will make profits of the business basis of taxation instead of premium receipts.

In the second place, sub-committees of general committees are to meet with local agents in Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Louisville with view of securing a reduction in expenses in each city. In cities where the brokerage system prevails rules should be passed by local agents limiting rate of brokerage.

The committee is also empowered to recommend at a subsequent meeting of companies what allowance, in addition to commissions, should be paid local agents to cover all incidental expenses, except local board expense, and including adjustment of small losses.

Lastly, the committee is requested to prepare a form of agreement to be signed by companies willing to collect earned premium on every policy in force.

Henry C. Eddy of the Commercial Union, presided at the meeting and Neal Bassett of the Firemen's was secretary. One hundred and thirty companies were represented in person or by letter.

After the general meeting, the expense reduction committee met and assigned their members to various large cities. Chairman G. H. Lermit and Secretary Neal Bassett, are ex-officio members of each subcommittee. The committees are:

Chicago—George W. Law, Royal, chairman; Fred S. James, National; C. E. Sheldon, American.
Cincinnati—T. E. Gallagher, Ætna, chairman; O. C. Kemp, general agency; G. W. Law.
Cleveland—E. G. Halle, Germania, chairman; W. H. Sage, German-American; O. C. Kemp.
Louisville—F. C. Buswell, Home, chairman; T. E. Gallagher and C. R. Tuttle, Continental.
Milwaukee—C. E. Sheldon, chairman; F. S. James, and F. C. Buswell.
St. Louis—W. H. Sage, chairman.

In an executive session at the La Salle hotel members of the Illinois fire insurance commission met to review testimony taken at public hearings of the commission. Another meeting will be held today, at the conclusion of which, it is expected, a report of findings of the commission will be presented to Gov. Deneen for consideration at the next meeting of the general assembly.

At public hearings of the commission witnesses were called and questioned as to the advisability of the state assuming control of fire insurance companies and establishing a uniform rate for all classes of hazards. According to testimony of insurance experts, this would not better conditions for policy holders, as at present the companies do not agree on a uniform classification of risks.

While it has not been definitely determined yet, it is believed the final report of the commission will contain a suggestion that state insurance officials be empowered to force companies to adopt a uniform method of classification.

O. B. Ryon, attorney to the commission and the state insurance department, said the department filed a bill in the Circuit court of Macon county at Decatur asking for dissolution of the charter of the Decatur Life association.

ASSIGN FROST & CO ASSETS.

Formal Action Taken by Receiver Seward Recalls Milwaukee Electric Line Receivership.

There was filed for record yesterday in the office of register of deeds at Kenosha, Wis., assignment of A. C. Frost & Co., dated Jan. 28, 1908, of all the firm's assets to George M. Seward, receiver. Mr. Seward has been in charge of Frost & Co.'s financial affairs since assignment, and recording of the deed of assignment was merely formal. The Frost banking concern was thrown into a receivership at the same time that receivers were appointed for Chicago and Milwaukee electric line, which was one of the properties Frost promoted.

WALL STREET GOT BANK LOOT

Russo-Chinese Branch Itemizes $600,000 in Stealings.

CASHIER WAS A PLUNGER.

Two Brokers Tell of Missing Man's Dealings in Stocks.

New York, July 26.—Erwin Wider, the young cashier of the New York branch of the Russo-Chinese bank, is still missing, but details of the $600,000 bond and stock theft with which he stands charged are coming to the surface, together with glimpses of his operations in the stock market.

Two prominent stock exchange firms admitted today having had him as a customer, and it became known that only a few weeks ago his standing as a speculator was placed before the officers of the New York stock exchange, scrutinized, and found acceptable.

The attention of the exchange had been called to his speculations by a firm which carried one of his accounts, but as cashier of his bank he was rated as an official, and the exchange authorities decided that he could not be barred under the rules which prohibit clerks and minor employés of firms from speculating.

Missing Shares Listed.

Throwing all secrecy aside, the Russo-Chinese bank gave out today for the first time the full list of missing shares which Wider is accused of stealing, in addition to the $80,000 in bonds announced last week. The list of shares follows:

2,350 shares Pennsylvania railroad.
1,300 shares Baltimore and Ohio
800 shares Missouri, Kansas and Texas.
350 shares Northern Pacific.
300 shares Reading.
200 shares Tennessee Copper.
200 shares New York Central.
200 shares Great Northern Ore.
200 shares Wabash preferred.
150 shares American Smelting and Refining.
100 shares St. Paul.
100 shares General Electric company.
100 shares Atchison.
50 shares Southern Pacific.
50 shares American Locomotive.
50 shares Erie first preferred .
25 shares Great Northern.

J. S. Bache & Co. and Dick Bros. & Co. are two of the firms with which the missing cashier dealt at one time. E. R. Dick of Dick Bros. explained that Wider's account with that firm was closed out long before the present trouble at Wider's own request and in a satisfactory business manner.

Firm Threw Out Account.

A member of the firm of J. S. Bache & Co. made the following statement:

"We had an account with Wider, but threw it out on July 9, 1909, because it became active and we were suspicious. When the account became active the firm asked Wider to submit a financial statement. This he refused to do."

Leon B. Ginsberg, counsel for Wider, said tonight that he had no idea where Wider was and had had no recent communication with him.

"I do not believe Wider has 'salted' away a penny from the stocks he has taken," said Ginsburg. "I think it will be found that all of the securities were used in speculation and that he was wiped out on the higher marginal transactions in Wall street."

COPPER PRODUCING INTERESTS AGREE TO RESTRICT OUTPUT.

Leading Mining Factors of World Said to Have Reached Agreement at Conference in Paris.

LONDON, July 26.—A well known New York banker is authority for the statement that the conferences of the copper producers of America and Europe lately held in Paris resulted in definitely harmonizing the interests, whereby the policy of each company producing its full capacity of metal regardless of the consuming needs of the world is to be abandoned.

NEW STEEL COMPANY FORMED.

Chickamauga Concern with $5,000,000 Capital Incorporated Under Laws of New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., July 26.—The Chickamauga Steel and Iron company, capital $5,000,000, was incorporated here today. The principal office of the company is in Jersey City. The incorporators are George W. Adams, Montclair, N. J.; Robert W. Pollock, New York City; and Francis Van Winkle, Brooklyn, N. Y. The company was organized for the purpose of engaging in the business of manufacturing steel and iron.

BUILDING STRIKE ENDING IN FIZZLE

Only 300 Men Out on Account of Fight Against the Machinists' Union.

CARPENTERS REFUSE AID.

Otis Elevator Stands Pat and Hesitating Agents Meet This Morning.

There will be no general strike of building trades workers. Developments in the dispute between machinists and striking elevator constructors indicated yesterday that a general strike movement will be opposed by the numerically strongest unions affiliated with the Building Trades council. These include carpenters and electrical workers.

Whether an extension of the strike will be made will be determined at a meeting of the board of business agents to be held this morning at 10 South Clark street. Secretary Robert Hanlon of the council admitted during the day that it is likely that the business agents will vote to postpone calling a strike and grant the Otis Elevator company further time in which to comply with the ultimatum of union leaders. The ultimatum demanded that the Otis company withdraw its machinists from all buildings and reinstate the elevator constructors by this morning or submit to a strike.

Only 300 Men on Strike Now.

Fewer than 300 men are out on strike at the present time. The strikers are those of various "pipe trades," such as steamfitters and gasfitters. A demand that striking steamfitters return to work at once was made by master steamfitters at a meeting of the joint arbitration board of employers and workmen held in the afternoon. Employers insisted that strikers are violating their agreements by walking out in sympathy with elevator constructors, whose dispute is jurisdictional with the International Association of Machinists.

That business agents decided to call a meeting this morning to take another vote on the question of extending the strike was regarded as a weakness by contractors and employers, and it was predicted that action would be taken postponing the strike indefinitely. Opposition of President John A. Metz of the Carpenters' District council to strike movement and dissension in the ranks among various crafts, it was pointed out, operated to discourage plans of those who favor a general tieup of building operations.

No Dispute Over Wages.

There is no dispute about wages between the Otis company and elevator constructors, machinists employed on erection work receiving a scale of $5.20 a day. This scale was demanded by elevator constructors when they struck against the Otis company on May 1, 1909.

M. H. Christophersen, general manager of the Otis company, said the concern will stand pat in retaining machinists in service.

ILLINOIS MINERS IN PROTEST.

Massmeetings Denounce Compromise Agreement Recommended and Demand Lewis' Resignation.

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—Massmeetings of miners were held today at Virden, Girard, and several other places at which the compromise agrement recommended by the representatives of the operators and miners was vigorously condemned and the resignation of National President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America demanded.

For tomorrow a great massmeeting is planned to be held in Springfield at the state armory. State President John Walker will be the principal speaker. Tonight he is so bitter in his denunciation of the compromise proposed he threatens to resign if the Illinois miners do not reject the compromise when the referendum vote is taken.

The miners' officials today issued circulars letters setting forth their attitude towards the strike compromise. Copies will be sent to every local in the state.

The circular points out that the conditions incorporated in the compromise are practically the same as those rejected at the Peoria convention.

A break between the Illinois officials and President Lewis is imminent as the result of an order from the latter directing all engineers and pumpmen to return to work. This conflicts directly with the action of the state officials.

NOTES OF THE LABOR WORLD.

BOSTON, Mass.—Dissatisfied with working conditions and demanding the recognition of the union, 200 photographers, employed by seventeen firms, went on strike. The men ask for a standard minimum wage rate of $21 a week and an eight hour day.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Nine members of the national board of the United Mine Workers of America are to aid Thomas L. Lewis, president, in negotiations with operators looking to a settlement of the coal strike in the southwest.

MANCHESTER, N. H.—The management of the Stark cotton duck mills here announces that all departments of the plant will be idle from July 29 to Aug. 15. The plant employs about 1,500 operatives.

LOWELL, Mass.—The Bay State mills in Collinsville have closed for two weeks. They are owned by the American Woolen company.

BANKS LOSE INTEREST IN CURRENCY ASSOCIATIONS.

Bureau at Washington Fails to Receive Expected Requests for Information, Indicating They Are Not Needed.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—At the currency bureau today it was stated that the inquiries about currency associations had altogether disappeared and that the banks were no longer even sending letters on the subject to the bureau.

R. O. Bailey, secretary to Secretary MacVeagh, who is keeping the secretary of the treasury closely in touch with matters here, states that nothing further in the way of applications for information has come in. Whatever is being done, therefore, is entirely outside of Washington.

Some treasury officers think that the New York banks will ultimately organize and that this may be followed by similar action elsewhere, but they hold fast to the view that there is no reason to expect the taking out of currency by such associations. They believe that the issue of emergency currency, should it occur, will be based on the outside bonds provided for in the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

Whether any such currency will be called for is, however, also a matter of the greatest doubt, and the character of the bank statement has strengthened the belief that it will not, as the banks will endeavor to get along without the expensive form of notes thus provided for. That they can be relied upon to aid one another in a material degree by rediscounts is indicated, it is thought here, by the great growth of strength in the reserve centers of the country, particularly in those centers where the call for crop moving money is likely to be heaviest.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Millers are holding off temporarily in buying wheat owing to the uncertainty in regard to the July future. Considerable wheat has been sold ahead for August and September shipment, but not much of any business based on July price is expected.

There is no object for the mills to take wheat on the present basis. The country continues to sell quite freely and aggregate purchases were again liberal yesterday. Prices paid were relatively just about the same as recently.

Duluth reported a brisk demand for No. 1 northern at higher premiums but there was a big run of winter to Minneapolis and millers were not anxious buyers. Only the choicest wheat was wanted, low grades being a drug. Southwest markets were firm. Farmers in Illinois and Indiana were especially free sellers.

Many traders believe that the advance has been too rapid in corn and as a result the professional contingent was inclined to play for a reaction. The trouble with the crop appears to be more potential than actual so far. In parts of Oklahoma actual damage has been sustained without any question, but elsewhere good rains would change the aspect of things materially.

Nebraska reports indicated that the crop could still go for some time without rains, and scattered showers through Iowa and Nebraska took the edge off bull enthusiasm for a time. The market was still flooded with complaints from the southwest, however, and that section has no relief from the drought of any consequence.

Baltimore reported a little wheat sold to go to Antwerp, but the amount was not large. French bids were said to be still out of line. San Francisco advices to Logan-Bryan reported a firmer tone for Walla Walla wheat with France bidding.

Brokers said that the Pacific coast wheat practically was on an export basis, with foreign bids around present prices. Seattle quoted blue steam wheat, 92@94c. Portland, Ore., quoted new crop blue stem, 90c; old 95c. France and other European countries at present relative prices will supply most of their needs from the Pacific coast rather than from this side of the Rockies.

W. H. Howard, Barrell's crop expert, advises from Anadarko, Okla.: "North state line to Enid, Meno, and Wantonga, corn no longer considered a possibility. Too far gone. Watonga to Anadarko, along Canadian rivers not so badly hurt. Immediate rains might save one-quarter to one-half a crop. This is the fourth day of hot winds. Clear and no indications of rain. Well posted persons tell me from here to Lawton and Waurika it is worse than here. Think you can drop central and western Oklahoma from corn calculations."

A special Russian cable said: "The weather in the south is good and harvesting is progressing rapidly. The returns from both the south and southwest are that yields are mostly satisfactory, but the quality is poor, owing to the storm's damage. Hot weather continues to cause damage in the southeast. Arrivals at Rostoff and Odessa are larger than expected, and indications are for large arrivals soon. Stocks are increasing slowly. The spring wheat crop, on the whole, is much below last year."

Traders are expecting fairly liberal deliveries of both wheat and oats before the end of the month. Elevator concerns have been heavy buyers of both wheat and oats and most of this grain, or a good share of it has been ordered to the elevators for delivery.

Theer is believed to be quite a large shortage in the oats, but not so large of wheat, although it is possible the sleeping interest in the latter is greater than generally believed. Peavey is supposed to be long both the wheat and oats. The short interest is scattered.

James S. Bell, president of the Washburn-Crosby company of Minneapolis, was on the floor during the day. He is of the opinion the northwest will raise more wheat this year than some of the bull reports indicate, but much will depend on the weather during harvest, as perfect conditions must prevail in order to save all the wheat. The flour trade was reported quiet, with little new business, mills running principally on old orders.

Lyle wired Chapin & Co. from Salina, Kas.: "Corn failing in southern Kansas, but improves as you work north, and is all right in this vicinity, where less in tassel and less susceptible of damage. Can stand a few more warm days. If damaging weather ceased at once in Kansas would not reduce prospective crop of 200,000,000 bu 5 per cent. Day was trifle less severe and increased damage. No sign of rain."

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following decreases:

	1910	1909
Wheat, east of Rockies	911,000	603,000
Canada	533,000	* 83,000
U. S. and Canada......	1,444,000	518,000
Europe and afloat	1,000,000	1,600,000
Total world's stock......	2,444,000	2,118,000
Corn	1,246,000	286,000
Oats	633,000	1,374,000

*Increase.

John Weinand reported corn conditions between Clinton and Cedar Rapids, Ia., to Ware-Leland as follows: Growth not so large and stand not so good. Corn seriously damaged by drought. Found twenty-one fields west of Cedar Rapids that were fired and evidences of more. If drought is not broken at once firing will be general."

Wheat near Casselton, N. D., is reported to be turning out 15 bu to the acre, and samples have been received of this wheat at Minneapolis. Harvesting in Red river valley will be general by the end of this week. Cutting will be started on the Dalrymple farm, near Larimore, today.

W. P. Anderson had letters from points in Wisconsin asking for prices on hay. Usually hay is one of the big crops in that state, and the requests show that the crop is short in many sections.

John Marfield wired from Minneapolis that the country longs were selling wheat on a large scale, and that the situation there looked weak.

The directors declared the G. H. Hammond Packing company's building No. 4, sixth floor, regular for the storage of provisions until June, 1911.

Bids on call for grain to arrive showed wheat ½c lower; corn, ½c lower to ½c higher; oats unchanged to ½c lower; rye, 1c lower.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 569 cars; corn, 122 cars; oats, 175 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 20 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

Deliveries on July contracts during the day were 75,000 bu wheat, 5,000 bu oats, and 750 tcs of lard.

Samuel Mincer and Roy W. Hitch have been elected to membership on the board of trade.

I C. CALLS TO ITS MEN FOR AID

Pamphlet Urges Employes to "Convert" Foes of Railroads.

LAWMAKERS ARE CRITICISED

Many Stopover Privileges Will Be Dropped After Oct. 1.

A strong plea for the coöperation of railroad employés with their employers in opposing the anti-railroad propaganda is being circulated by Vice President and General Manager W. L. Park of the Illinois Central. He has issued a pamphlet containing the railroad arguments which is being distributed among the 40,000 employés of the Illinois Central.

Mr. Park says that the apathy of employés and the adverse sentiments expressed by a few should be corrected by such as are naturally leaders by placing in the hands of the uninformed data showing the true condition of affairs. He suggests that each employé should in the course of a year "convert three or four of those who, from misinformation, are now opposed to the railroads." "The conductor can make a friend quite frequently of an entire stranger," he says, "by showing him a little extra attention. This is true also of the agent and station employés, who daily come in contact with the public. This propaganda among railroad employés," he says, "will go far to change sentiment against the railroads and positively must redound to the benefit of the employés."

Calls Attacks Unjust.

"Under the cloak that the railroads need regulation," he declares, "they are being unjustly attacked on all sides. Politicians of a certain stripe, financial and professional men with ulterior motives, and short sighted business men are banded together to bait the railroads, and will continue to do so until the influence of employés is exerted in behalf of their employers.

"The employé should consider an attack upon his employer as an attack upon himself.

"It must be understood that it is a financial impossibility for the railroad companies to continue to meet the demands for increased wages unless their earnings are bolstered by increased rates.

"Employés must make it understood to those in authority that just and reasonable treatment, no more, no less, must be accorded to the railroads or the employés will enter the political field and return to office men who will put railroad companies on the same plane that other corporations and individuals now occupy."

Will Discontinue Stopovers.

Railroads covering nearly every section of the country have decided to discontinue after Oct. 1 the practice of granting stopover privileges on limited tickets wherever such stopover operates to extend the original limits of the ticket. The roads have been trying to reach an agreement on this point for more than a year for the reason, they say, that the practice has increased by leaps and bounds until the prescribed limits of the tickets have been exceeded for all sorts of trivial causes.

CONFER ON GRAIN RATES TODAY.

Chairman Knapp Threatens to Suspend Middle Western Tariffs if Not Voluntarily Postponed.

St. Paul, Minn., July 26.—The conference of railroad commissioners of Minnesota, North, and South Dakota at the state capitol ended abruptly today, with the receipt of a telegram from Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, which said the carriers will have a conference in Chicago tomorrow. It added that unless the proposed increase in grain tariffs in middle western states are voluntarily postponed to Nov. 1 they will be suspended by the commission.

CROPS NEED RAIN IN 5 STATES

Sunshine Last Week Made Growing Weather, Bulletin Says.

DOWNPOUR SAVES IOWA CORN

Outlook in Cotton States Is Good; French Wheat Prices Jump.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—Sunshine in the great corn and winter wheat growing states during the last week was beneficial to the development of growing vegetation and for harvest purposes, according to the national weekly weather bulletin issued by the department of agriculture today.

Rain in many portions of the spring wheat region temporarily relieved the drought, but much more rain is needed.

The last week was the most favorable of the season over the cotton growing states east of the Mississippi, and conditions were favorable in the states west of the Mississippi.

Rain Needed in Five States.

The bulletin also says:

"The week was characterized by much bright, sunshiny weather, cool and bracing during the early part over the more eastern portion of the country, but generally hot and oppressive over the western portions during the entire week and over the eastern districts during the latter half.

"In the great corn and winter wheat growing states the lack of rain is becoming serious, especially in southern Kansas and the adjoining portions of Oklahoma, and rain is needed also over much of Iowa and in portions of Ohio and Indiana, but over the remaining corn growing states there is generally sufficient moisture in the soil.

"In the spring wheat region the soil is still dry to an unusual depth and much more rain is needed to put it in normal condition.

Cotton Outlook Is Good.

Only light showers occurred over the Atlantic coast districts from the Carolinas to New England, but other weather conditions were generally favorable, except that it is now becoming generally too dry, especially in New England and the eastern and southern portions of New York and over much of New Jersey. In fact, rain is needed in all portions of the district.

"Over the cotton growing states east of the Mississippi temperatures were only slightly below the normal, the rainfall was not excessive, and conditions were generally favorable for vegetable growth and the prosecution of field work. Conditions were favorable in Louisiana, Arkansas, and eastern Oklahoma, but it is still dry over much of central and western Oklahoma. There were light local showers over small areas in Texas, but over the greater part of the state no rain occurred and the ground now generally lacks sufficient moisture.

Rain Saves Iowa Corn.

Des Moines, Ia., July 26.—Copious rains which fell last night over the central and southern sections of Iowa, those portions of the state which needed it most, saved the corn crop in many instances, experts here believe. They had declared this week was the crisis for the yield in the major portion of Iowa.

Heat Damages Oklahoma Crop.

Guthrie, Ok., July 26.—Yesterday's intense heat was duplicated today and the corn crop is in a critical condition. The greatest damage to the corn is in the western counties. The board of agriculture estimated this year's crop at 120,000,000 bushels and the loss to date at 20,000,000.

Prize Tip for Flights Over Lake.

The Illinois Aero club is offering a prize of $1,000 to any local navigator of aeroplanes who during the next two months will make a flight from Chicago to South Haven.

LARGE WHEAT RUN DEPRESSES TRADE

Grain List Unsettled by Big Receipts and Demoralization in Stocks.

COUNTRY SELLS FREELY.

Rains Partially Relieve Drought in Corn Belt; Still Hot in the Southwest.

Demoralization in the stock market was a factor in depressing wheat values yesterday, notwithstanding the fact that the same developments regarding the crops that have been bearish on securities should work for the enhancement of grain prices.

Opening quotations were lower in sympathy with the lower Liverpool cables and large receipts, and the prospects for a liberal run of winter wheat, did not serve to encourage any new buying of importance. Corn values also were lower early and this started some selling of wheat.

Later when the stock list became radically weak, and reports came from the northwest of longs taking profits, there was no adequate support and prices eased off sharply. Final quotations were 1¼@1⅝c lower. Outside trade was light and the volume of business was small in the aggregate.

Wall Street Sells Grain.

In addition to peddling out securities on a large scale Wall street was accused of selling wheat and corn on quite a large scale. Logan-Bryan, Barrell, Clement-Curtis and other houses with eastern connections were free sellers at times and this unsettled the whole list.

The argument was put forward that country banks were urging the marketing of grains of all kinds as fast as possible, and the continued heavy receipts of wheat in the northwest in spite of the calamitous reports from that section, were regarded as an evidence of this tendency.

The spring wheat conditions apparently have been discounted largely, and the outsiders have not taken much interest in the market recently. With the new wheat movement increasing buyers have been scarce the past few days. Local traders have been a little bullish, but the market has not responded to their buying.

New Wheat Movement Gaining.

Country purchases were again of liberal volume, and farmers in Ilinois and Indiana, where a generous crop has been raised of excellent quality, are disposed to merchandise a fair percentage of their crop. Primary receipts, while not so large as a year ago, were substantial—1,204,000 bu—and there were 569 cars inspected here during the day. Receipts were posted at 339 cars.

A liberal accumulation of wheat is expected here, as the milling demand is slow and elevator interests are anxious to pile up a fair supply. Northwest receipts include a large percentage of winter wheat, but aside from that the movement is larger than a year ago, Duluth and Winnipeg receiving daily many more cars than a year ago.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 325,000 bu for three days. Bradstreet's showed a decrease for the week of 2,444,000 bu, against a loss of 2,118,000 bu for the same week last year.

Cutting Started Northwest.

Harvesting was reported under way in the Red river valley, and, barring a wet harvest, the spring wheat has been damaged now, probably, all that it will be. Estimates of the crop in the three states vary greatly, between 140,000,000 and 160,000,000 bu being the most conservative figures. Northern North Dakota probably will not have much of a crop. Stocks of old wheat, however, are understood to be large, and this is a factor of importance, making up in a way for the loss this year. Minneapolis reported country holders selling both cash wheat and futures.

Armour bought quite a lot of wheat on the dip, and Peavey and local bulls, inluding Lake and Cutten, were on the buying side. Liverpool closed 1⅛@1⅜d lower. Antwerp and Budapest were unchanged, Paris ½@1c lower, and Berlin ⅞c higher. Clearances for the day were 90,000 bu wheat and flour. Cash sales here were small.

Corn Trade More Normal.

Trade in corn was on a broad scale, but it lacked the startling features of the previous days. Reports of rain through Iowa, Nebraska, and the Ohio valley, with cooler and more seasonable weather in the northern part of the belt were the main factors and caused an early dip.

Later the market rallied sharply, but finished ¼c to ½c to ⅝c lower. In Oklahoma and Kansas the character of the news was not much changed and from many parts of the belt there were complaints of firing, but these reports were disregarded, except from the southern part of the belt, where the grain has tasseled.

The cash demand was fair with sales of 210,000 bu. Prices were about steady. Roberts, Ware-Leland, and A. S. White were fair buyers, and Shearson-Hammill and Cudahy were the leading sellers. Receipts here were 218 cars, with 122 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals aggregated 375,000 bu, against 598,000 bu a year ago. Country offerings were moderate. Cables were ½c to ⅝c higher at the close. World's stocks decreased 1,246,000 bu for the week.

Cash Houses Sell Oats.

Hedging sales were a feature of the trade in oats and, moreover, the weakness in other grains exerted quite a little influence. As a result, prices were ¼c to ½c lower. Cash houses and local traders were the principal sellers with commission houses taking the oats on the break.

December oats were relatively firm. Crop reports are generally favorable, except from the nothwest and a big crop seems to be assured. As the country carried over a large amount of old oats it is expected there will be a liberal movement soon.

Receipts here were 244 cars with 175 cars the estimate for today. Primary points had 545,000 bu, compared to 322,000 but a year ago. Cash prices were 1c to 1½c lower, with sales of 160,000 bu.

Cudahys Buyers of Lard.

The Cudahy interests were heavy buyers of October lard and there was also a good demand from the shorts, which helped to maintain a firm tone throughout the session. Offerings were not large and the deficiency in the western run compared to a year ago was a factor. Total receipts in the west were 69,100, against 76,600 a year ago. The local arrivals were counted at 16,000, with 21,000 the estimate for today.

Prices at the yards were not much changed. Receipts of product here were 21 cars, with shipments heavy at 148 cars. Trade in January product is becoming a little more active, there being good buying through commission houses of both lard and ribs for that delivery.

The reported damage to the wheat crop was an influence in stimulating the purchase of the January stuff.

Choice Rye in Demand.

Rye was steady. Demand was good for choice. September closed at 76c bid and 78c asked and December at 77c bid and 80c asked. Cash No. 2 sold at 77@78c; No. 3 was quoted at 70@77c, and No. 4 at 60@69c. Receipts were estimated at 3 cars.

Barley was unchanged to 1c lower. Trade was limited. Malting grades were quoted at 55@70c; mixing at 50@55c, and screenings at 30@50c. Receipts were estimated at 20 cars.

Timothy seed was easier. September and October were $5.50 bid, with the latter offered at $5.90. March was $5.60 bid.

Flaxseed in Duluth was ¼@5c lower. July closed at $2.55; September at $2.50¼, and October at $2.35. Receipts were 12 cars. Minneapolis was 2 lower, with cash on track $2.49. Receipts were 3 cars.

AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 26.—Weaker cables caused a lower opening today. Pressure of new wheat in the southwest and a more optimistic feeling in general concerning the domestic wheat situation caused a further decline. July closed ⅞c lower than yesterday; September, 1¼@1⅜c lower, and December 1⅜c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 325,000 bu for three days. Minneapolis today received 181 cars, against 68 cars a year ago; Duluth, 100 cars, against 26, and Winnipeg 231 cars, against 57. July opened, $1.23¾; high, $1.24½; low, $1.23¾; close, $1.24. September opened, $1.15½; high, $1.15½; low, $1.13¾; close, $1.14¾. December opened, $1.13¾; high, $1.13¾; low, $1.12; close, $1.12¼. Cash wheat was about steady. Demand was slow for all except the choice grades. Offerings of winter wheat were liberal, but sales were draggy; No. 1 northern sold for 1@3c above the July contract. Close: No. 1 northern, $1.25½@1.27½; to arrive, $1.24@1.25½; No. 2 northern, $1.23½@1.25½; to arrive, $1.22@1.23½; No. 3 wheat, $1.20½@1.23½. CORN—No. 3 yellow, 62@64½c. OATS—No. 3 white, 43@44c. LONDON, July 26.—The fourth series of the wool auction sales closed today. A miscellaneous assortment of 9,151 bales sold readily with the exception of faulty, which was weak. The sales follow: New South Wales, 900 bales; scoured, 1s 1d @1s 9d; greasy, 5d@1s 1d. Victoria, 1,200 bales; scoured, 1s@1s 11½d; greasy, 7d@1s 2½d. New Zealand, 5,300 bales; scoured, 1s@1s 10½d; greasy, 6¼d@1s 2d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 600 bales; scoured, 1s 1d@1s 9½d; greasy, 6¼@1s ½d. Punta Arenas, 1,100 bales; greasy, 6d@11½d. During the series home spinners were the principal buyers, but the continent operated with more freedom toward the close. American representatives, instead of buying, sold wool purchased earlier in the season. Merinos, crossbreds, and Cape of Good Hope and Natal closed from unchanged to 5 per cent lower than the May sales. Heavy scoured declined from 7½ to 10 per cent. Home traders bought 85,000 bales, the continent 42,000, and 32,000 were held over for the next sales.

DROUGHT HURTS POTATO CROP

Unsatisfactory News from Many States Boosts Prices.

CHICKEN PRICES ARE LOWER

Other Products Steady and Trade Has Active Undertone.

Reports that the early potato crop in the east and central west had been greatly impaired by drought and that even the late crop in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and other northern states was endangered had a strengthening influence on the market here, and further appreciations of 2c a bushel were made in prices. Evidence of the unsatisfactory condition of the crop in Ohio, New Jersey, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Missouri was seen in the unusually light arrivals, which aggregated only 63 cars for two days.

This was the most significant development in the Chicago produce trade yesterday. All other staple products, with the exception of chickens, which were ½c lower, held at steady prices, and the trade had a fairly active undertone.

EXPLAINS DRIED FRUIT BOOM

Investigator Lays Firm Demand to Prices for Staples.

EXPORT TRADE INCREASING.

Canned Goods of Various Kinds Show a Rise in Values.

With a steadily growing demand for dried fruits at a season of the year when the consumption ordinarily falls off to little or nothing, there has been much wonderment as to the cause for such a condition—a demand that would be great even at the height of the regular season in the fall.

A local authority who recently returned from an investigation of growing conditions in California and has made a close study of the situation has arrived at the conclusion that people are beginning to realize in a year when staples are high that there is lots of merit and lots of value in the dried fruits.

Prices Have Been Low.

"One reason for the unusual demand," said he, "is the fact that dried fruits have been phenomenally low. The consumers have largely been people of the poorer class.

"In the past most people ate dried fruits as a side dish—the same as one would eat berries. Now, however, they have come to a realization of their food value—of the fact that in this sense they may be regarded the same as cereals.

"Present consumption is largely in excess of the new acreage and this accounts for the steady advance in prices. Californians who handle the fruit have steadily been reaching out. The export trade has grown at a remarkable rate. Carload orders have been received from Russia, the Argentine Republic, and countries where no shipments had before been made. While buyers may feel that the packers' prices are too high, the demand from outside is as great as that of the foreign market. For instance, of the estimated apricot crop in California—16,000 tons—over half already has been sold to go abroad.

"Stocks of the 1909 market have practically been cleaned out and we go right into the new market with bare floors.

"From a personal examination of the orchards and vineyards I can safely say that the raisin, peach, and apricot crops were good this year, but, as I said before, the demand is in excess of production."

Canned Goods in Firm Demand.

Canned goods also are in firm demand. No. 1 oysters were advanced 10c per dozen cans this week by the packers, which was followed with a 5c compromise by the jobbers. Some jobbers have put up their prices on red kidney beans 10c a dozen. Scarcity of the dried bean is responsible.

Spot peas are going higher every day, but purchases are made by jobbers only where necessary. The sweet pea crop in Wisconsin, despite timely rains, will not amount to more than 50 per cent, according to reliable estimates.

New canned strawberries have been coming into the market for the last two weeks. They are of good quality and are selling for the same prices as last year at this time.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Evaporated apples are inactive, but prices are steady. On the spot fancy is quoted at 10¾@11½c; choice, 8¾@9c; prime 7¾@8c; common to fair, 6@7c. Prunes are firm but the demand is small. Quotations range from 3@9¼c for Californias up to 30-40 and 4½@9¾c for Oregons. Apricots are not active, but offerings are small and prices are firmly held. Choice, 9¾@10¼c; extra choice, 10¼@11c; fancy, 10¾@12½c. Peaches are quiet but steady. Choice, 6¼@6¾c; extra choice, 7@7¼c; fancy, 7¼@7¾c. Raisins are quiet and without new feature. Loose muscatels are quoted at 3¾@5¾c; choice to fancy seeded 4¾@6¾c; seedless, 3¾@4½c; London layers, $1.20@1.25.

Sugar and Coffees.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Sugar is exceptionally firm on account of the strike in the New York state refineries and is in good demand. There was no change in the strike situation during the day. Ruling quotations to the retail trade: Standard, cane, $5.47@5.57; cut loaf, H. & E., $5.90@6.00; standard granulated, $5.25; milk sugar, 12½@16c per lb in brl lots.

COFFEES.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Coffee is firm, with upward tendency on the milder grades, and in fair demand. Receipts of green coffee at Rio for two days amounted to 18,000 bags; at Santos, 50,000 bags.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points in sympathy with lower European cables. Offerings were not large at the start, but there seemed to be little support and with later cables showing no improvement abroad prices here eased off in the late trading under scattering liquidation and some Wall street selling which was attributed to the unsettling influence of a weak stock market. The close was steady, but at a net decline of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 24,750 bags. Closing bids follow: July, $6.70; August, $6.75; September, $6.80; October, $6.85; November, $6.90; December, $6.96; January, $6.98; February, $7.03; March, $7.07; April, $7.08; May, $7.10; and June $7.12. Havre closed unchanged to ¼c lower; Hamburg was ¼ to ½ lower. Rio, 25 reis higher 7's 4$8.25; Santos unchanged, 4s 4$3.00; 7's 4$1.50. Receipts at the two Brazilian ports, 68,000 bags, against 120,000; Jundiahy receipts, 44,800 bags, against 74,200 last year. New York warehouse deliveries yesterday, 3,167 bags, against 6,327 last year. Spot coffee steady; Rio No. 7, 8¾c; Santos, No. 4, 9¾c. Mild coffee quiet; Cordova, 10@12½c.

HOGS FIRM TO 5 CENTS HIGHER

Quality of Receipts Helps Force Killers to Meet Rise.

CATTLE TRADE IS STAGNANT.

Calves, Sheep, and Lambs Close at Decline in Values.

Packers continued to consider hogs well worth the money, and bought up the supply on the Chicago market yesterday at firm to 5c higher prices. Cattle trade was restricted to narrow confines by a limited supply of unattractive stock. Calves opened steady and active, but closed at a decline of 25c. Sheep and lambs suffered the first reaction in a long time and closed at a loss of 10c to 25c.

CATTLE.

Trade was stagnant throughout the session and nominal prices at the close were 15@25c lower than at the finish last week. Receipts were placed at 6,000 head, but consisted largely of feeding stock and the best price secured for native beef steers was $6.00. Rangers, of which there were 60 loads on the market, topped at $6.15.

Receipts of calves were placed at 4,000 head. The quality was good and early sales of prime vealers were made at $8.75@8.90. The market suffered a late reaction and closing transactions were made at $8.50 for the best killers. Quotations:

HOGS.

Packers' aggressiveness in the late Monday trade gave speculators more courage and they opened the day's market at an advance of 5c. The killers did not want to follow this appreciation, but receipts of 14,000 head included only a moderate proportion of desirable hogs and they were compelled to pay higher prices before they could fill orders.

Eastern shipping demand was of much lighter volume than on the preceding day, orders calling for only 1,500 head, against actual shipments of 6,358 head on Monday. Packers made up generous droves at an average cost of $8.61, against 8.56 the foregoing session, however, and the market closed with little stock left unsold.

Several loads of prime light hogs made $8.85@8.95, a few reached $9.00, and finally a top price of $9.05 was paid for fancy 180 lb. offerings. Mixed packing grades cleared at $8.35@8.60, with butchers at $8.65@8.80. Pigs sold up to $8.75@9.10. Quotations:

SHEEP.

Packers wanted moderate supplies of good to choice fat sheep and lambs and they paid steady prices for selections at the opening of business. They discriminated against the plain light offerings, however, and when the estimate on receipts was raised from 25,000 to 28,000 head they forced prices to a 10@15c lower level, with spots showing as much as 25c decline.

Feeders followed killers and applied sufficient bearish pressure on the late market to force a decline of 10@15c in the value of feeding stock after sales had been made at steady prices early. The general trade was fairly active at the prices and a good clearance of the supply was effected.

Native lambs topped at $7.50, with 54-lb rangers at $7.00. Range wethers sold up to $4.40, and yearlings topped at $5.50. Best feeding lambs made $6.35 and sheep $4.15, the former showing a decline of 15c, while the latter were off 10. Quotations:

DRY GOODS DEMAND GROWING; FANCY FABRICS TAKE LEAD.

Many New Patterns Brought Out for Prospective Buyers—Outlook for Further Export Business Not So Bright.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—The demand on new lines of fine and fancy cotton goods for next spring is gradually increasing. In several quarters advance bookings have been decidedly good, many new patterns brought out have taken well with buyers. Sales so far on several prominent lines have been in excess of those secured for the corresponding period last year. On lines of staple cotton goods for fall requirements orders are coming forward in better volume than has been the case in several weeks. Stocks on hand with jobbers in various sections are not large at the present time, supplies with which to fill out fall lines being picked up. There is no marked improvement in demand, but simply a steady, general improvement. Buyers have held off the market for so long on practically all lines of goods that they now are finding it necessary to replenish their future needs if they expect to do any early fall business.

The efforts in certain quarters to create the impression that business is beginning to boom not only is bound to react on the heads of those responsible for such reports but also serve to give the wrong idea of existing conditions. Trade has been through a serious period during the last four or five months and only is just commencing to emerge. The outlook for further export business with China in the immediate future is by no means bright at present. New lines of dress goods for next spring are being opened up this week and some reductions have been named in several quarters. Buyers are quietly operating in the print cloth market, while individual sales are not large and demand as a whole is steady. Sellers are putting through sales on 30 inch 68x72 squares at 5½c. Mills are only willing to accept small orders on 28 inch 64 squares at 3¾c and moderate business is in progress.

White Goods Prices Favorable.

Buyers of white goods for spring have been operating steadily. They are not plunging, although some sizable orders have been booked in specific instances. The prices named are so attractive that buyers whose hands have been tied by merchandise managers have telegraphed for releases, as on many lines it is certain that the initial prices will be advanced in the near future. The white goods houses have gone a long way in favoring the buyer this year, but there is a limit to the purses of mills.

While some buyers are ordering the heavier styles of white goods, most buyers are ordering the sheer lines, which preponderate in the offerings of the best known houses. Some exquisite novelties in white cottons are shown in a few places and no difficulty has been experienced in getting the prices placed upon them. The output will be limited and every buyer is not troubled to look at the cloths as they are too high priced for some. Some novelties in 80s and 100s combed yarn warps with fine satin stripe and cord effects are being snapped up.

Wide Range of Patterns.

Buyers say there has been no season in their recollection when sellers were showing such wide ranges of patterns. It is no fault of mills if buyers are not tempted. While many of the lower priced lines are offered in open weaves, the buyers are paying more attention to the higher priced cloths of this construction. There is a fear that some of the open woven cloths will not wear well and the desire to avoid complaints is general at this time. When the demand broadens and the limited output is appreciated doubtless the cheaper made cloths will find a place.

The call for fine cotton voiles, marquisettes, grenadines, zephyrs, etc., in white and colors is expanding steadily. Some very fine printed voiles are being shown, and while the prices are fairly high the quality of the fabric is thoroughly guaranteed. The variety of the cheaper zephyrs on the market in sample lines is abundant enough to suit the most careful buyer. He can have almost any weave he seeks.

Swisses are again being ordered freely for the coming spring season. Some of the domestic lines have been so much improved that foreign low priced lines are having a hard time. There is a growing demand for fine qualities of silk and cotton plaids.

Silk and Cotton Lines.

Silk and cotton lines for the new season are being shown in the largest houses. Buyers are wary of some of them, but others are being bought liberally. The cutting on these goods was confined this season to the wholesale markets. The retailers did a profitable business on many of the new silks and cottons and they are looking forward to a still larger business next season. The large retailers who seek exclusive patterns and can get them from some mills because of the size of the orders placed have been in the market looking around and have been making reservations of styles already.

Leslie D. Ward's Will Probated.

WILL ADD TO SKYSCRAPER

McCormick Estate Buys More Michigan Avenue Property.

PURCHASE LARGEST OF YEAR

Dwight Bros. Paper Company to Have Large Building.

The estate of Leander J. McCormick, represented by R. Hall McCormick, trustee, has purchased the land and building at 189 to 192 Michigan boulevard from S. Karpen & Bros. for $1,148,000, and will erect at that place a twenty-two story addition to the handsome store and office building which the estate has just completed at the northwest corner of Van Buren street, making an investment in land and building of practically $2,500,000. This transaction, which is the most important of the year in Chicago real estate, was negotiated by Albert L. Strauss.

The property purchased has a frontage of 82 feet on Michigan boulevard and a depth of 171 feet. It is improved with a six story brick and stone building erected many years ago by the late John W. Masury, having been purchased from the estate of the latter by S. Karpen & Bros. in 1903 for $450,000. It will thus be seen that this transaction nets the sellers a profit of $698,000 in seven years. The board of review valued the property at $624,450, of which $52,500 is in the building. The value of the building was not taken into consideration in the transaction just closed, and the sale, it will be seen, is therefore on the basis of $14,000 a front foot and $81.88 a square foot.

Addition to New Structure.

The purchase is the result of the satisfactory outcome of the construction of the McCormick building at the northwest corner of Michigan boulevard and Van Buren street, which the property just purchased adjoins on the north, the building on the corner being twenty-two stories high with a frontage of 101 feet on the boulevard and 171 feet in Van Buren street. When the addition is completed the McCormick building will have a total frontage of 183 feet on Michigan boulevard.

The new building will correspond both in beauty of exterior and finish of the interior to the present structure and it is the intention of Mr. McCormick to have a light court in the new structure, together with that provided in the present building of probably 90x110 feet, making the offices in the rear unusually attractive, particularly in respect to light and quiet. Insofar as the operation of the building is concerned, it will be possible to operate the new structure from the present elevator and heating and lighting plant and the saving in this direction will amount to a considerable return upon the investment.

The property just purchased adjoins on the south 187 and 188, 33x171 feet, belonging to S. Karpen & Bros., who now occupy it with their furniture showrooms, but on May 1 next will move to their new warerooms at the southwest corner of Michigan boulevard and Eldridge court.

Big Building for Clark Street.

Another big building will be erected in South Clark street, the whole project involving $500,000, the transaction having been brought to a close yesterday by Farnham, Willoughby & Co., Clifton R. Bechtel being in immediate charge of the negotiations. Dwight Bros. Paper company have entered into a contract with A. J. Franks, who owns the property at 366 to 376 South Clark street, by which he will build for their occupancy a ten story fireproof building to cost upwards of $250,000. The land which is east front, 150 feet south of Harrison street, has a frontage of 125.73 feet and a depth of 103 feet to an alley. The land was acquired on a lease for a term of twenty-five years at an annual rental of $10,000, or 4 per cent on $250,000, being at the rate of a little less than $2,000 a front foot and about $20 a square foot. The rental of the building will be 8 per cent on the cost of construction. The board of review valued the property at $147,275, of which $2,400 is in the buildings which are really of little value, being two story frame structures erected many years ago. Construction on the new building will be commenced within sixty days, plans for the structure now being prepared by Architects Richard E. Schmidt and Garden & Martin. It will be of reinforced concrete construction and will be heavy and substantial, as a considerable part of it will be used for the storage and handling of paper.

Brand's Sons May Buy Property.

Six parcels of real estate have been conveyed by Michael W. Brand to his sons, Virgil M., Armin W., and Horace L. Brand, aggregating a total consideration of $148,700. GOTHAM BANKERS MORE OPTIMISTIC

George M. Reynolds of Chicago Tells of Improved Sentiment in East.

LOCAL STOCKS DECLINE.

Business Not Large Enough, However, to Suggest Alarming Situation.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank, returned yesterday from New York. Speaking of the situation there he said:

"I found sentiment better than at the time of my previous visit. I do not mean that the bankers have changed their position that money will be in good demand and command high rates in the coming autumn, but they are taking a little more cheerful view of the general outlook.

"They expect to organize a currency association in New York next Saturday. They will do this, they say, not because they consider it a necessary act but they think it advisable to be as prudent as may be and to show to congress that they are willing to avail themselves of such remedial legislation as congress has granted. They wish to show proper appreciation and coöperation. They expect that currency associations will be organized in the west.

Strong in Cash Resources.

"Meantime, the large banks in New York are running strong in cash resources. The reserve of about a dozen of the larger institutions is between 29 and 30 per cent. The heads of the banks say they feel able to take care of the demands that will be made upon them.

"As to the situation with us here in Chicago, I can say it is better. Our deposits are about where they were one year ago. Loans made to country banks are being paid off. Further, there has been improvement in the practical side of the situation in that there has been a curtailment of extravagances.

"I do not look forward to anything more than high rates this fall. Inasmuch as the western banks generally have been preparing for such a situation, they should be the better able to take care of it when it comes."

Local Stock Prices Decline.

Prices of Chicago stocks fell away rapidly in sympathy with the weakness in New York. The volume of business was not sufficiently large in any one issue to suggest an alarming situation. But there was constant shrinkage in market values without any supporting orders. Illinois Brick led the decline, dropping to 53 from an opening at 58. The close was at 54¼.

Diamond Match was again weak, making a new low record at 83 and closing at the bottom quotation. So far as news developments go the position of the company is not bad.

The Chicago Pneumatic Tool had a slump of 4½ points, closing at 25½. An official of the company declared there did not exist in the business of the corporation any basis for sacrifice of the stock. He said the company has no floating debt; that it is discounting all its bills, drawing interest on substantial balances of cash in the banks, and operating its plants at their full capacity.

Street's preferred sold at 40, as against 45 the last previous quotation. Boxboard was lower at 6, while American Can preferred dropped 2½ points, closing at 62½. Chicago Telephone was off 1 point and Commonwealth Edison ¾. The public seems disposed to believe in a period of lower earnings for industrial corporations.

Little Doing in Railways.

Sears-Roebuck common dropped 2¼ points, closing at the low price of 150.

There was nothing of consequence doing in the surface street railroad issues. Although holders of series 1 of the participation certificates of the Chicago Railways company are displeased over the proposed settlement with the Consolidated Traction company, which they claim would place $11,000,000 bonds ahead of the certificates, the price of the series has remained around 16 for some days.

Of course, the Consolidated traction lines would be expected to earn most of the interest to be paid on the bonds, although no one expects the returns to be immediately satisfactory.

Diamond Match Statement.

The appended statement was issued during the day on behalf of the Diamond Match company. It indicates what was pointed out a few days ago—that if use of phosphorus is to be prohibited in the manufacture of matches in this country, then the Diamond company will, through ownership of a patented process, be at an advantage over its competitors. The statement follows:

It is altogether too early to make any forecast of results of the year's lumber operations in California. Recent reports, however, justify expectation that profits for the year 1910 will be appreciably greater than during 1909.

Within the last few years practically all European countries have prohibited the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches and there is little doubt that like action will be taken in one form or another in this country in the near future.

The ingredient used by manufacturers in foreign countries as a substitute is covered by patents and is controlled by the Diamond Match company in so far as the United States is concerned.

A meeting of directors will be held in Chicago at an early date, at which time action will no doubt be taken in regard to terms under which licenses will be granted by the Diamond Match company to its competitors to operate under the patents referred to.

Plate Glass Stock Issue.

President L. W. Clause of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company has issued the following statement to shareholders:

"In accordance with our letter of June 17 announcing a proposed increase in the capital stock, we now wish to advise you that the company's business for the first six months of this year aggregates $11,276,660, showing an increase of 22.8 per cent over the first six months of 1909. The net profits were $1,181,879, as compared with $788,405 for 1909, showing an increase of practically 50 per cent.

"These sales and profits are the largest for any corresponding period of our business. It is impossible to definitely forecast just what the profits for the last six months will be, but we feel that it is safe to anticipate a satisfactory increase for the remaining portion of the year, as our fall business is usually the best and we shall have an increased output that is practically contracted for.

"The actual book value of the stock on July 1 was $133.60 per share on a conservative basis. The book value after the new stock has been issued will be about $125.84 per share."

American Can.

The business of the American Can company is reported as showing steady improvement, though this has not been so marked as was anticipated early in the year—due to short crops in the first part of the summer. The present indications of large late crops, such as corn, tomatoes, and fruit, promise better returns later on.

Another fact that encourages friends of the company is that since 1907, wholesalers and jobbers have kept almost no stocks on hand and this would indicate a continued steady demand for immediate consumption. Since the opening of the packing season all of the company plants have been operating on a normal basis and the output is fully as large as that of 1909.

Unlike most of the industrials American Can has been affected little by industrial depressions, and except for 1908, when a 4 per cent. decrease was noted, business has shown a slow, steady increase. From 1906 to 1907 earnings increased over $700,000 and net profits about $540,000. Earnings in 1907 were $3,246,827, in 1908 $3,111,898, in 1909 $3,301,678. Net profits in 1907 were $2,652,892, in 1908 $2,706,264, in 1909 $2,756,152.

The company's agents in different sections of the country report cautious but normal buying.

Pittsburg Coal Earnings.

The report of the Pittsburg Coal company for the six months ended June 30 shows good recovery from the last two years. Figures are still considerably below those of 1907, which showed gross of $2,525,108 and a surplus of $1,128,011. Coal tonnage is also 1,858,000 tons below 1907, though coke shows a 56,000 ton improvement. Figures for the six months period compare as follows with 1909 and 1908.

SELLING CAUSES LOSSES IN STOCKS

Forced Liquidation Accounts for Declines Ranging from 3 to 12 Points.

CROP REPORTS FACTOR.

Steel Corporation's Record for Quarter Favorable Save in One Particular.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Forced liquidation accounted for declines of from 3 to 12 points on nondividend paying and inactive shares on the stock exchange today. Securities of this kind always accumulate in speculative accounts in the course of rising markets like those witnessed in 1909, the intention of holders being to liquidate them at a profit upon their entrance into the dividend class or upon the creation of a wide public stock market.

Disappointed in that purpose in the present instance, speculators have been carrying these shares by means of bank loans through declining markets, which have ruled since the opening of the year, but now the banks are working to fortify themselves against heavy demands in prospect this autumn, and they are insisting upon the elimination of shares of this kind from loans.

Breaks in Many Issues.

It is a salutary process, of course, in its effects upon both stock and money markets, but this is the calmer view and one not apt to be taken by markets which have been undergoing such rapid readjustment as have our own of late. Today the forcing out of Missouri Pacific, Rock Island preferred, Southern Railway preferred, St. Louis and Southwestern preferred, and a score of industrial shares having at the best only a narrow market, was accompanied by breaks which naturally unsettled the balance of the market. Standard railroad stocks and the best industrials reflected the disturbance in sentiment, and it was not until late in the afternoon the moderate support accorded the market began to be effective.

Prices steadied, then rallied sharply on short covering, and closed a point or so up for the leading shares above the day's low. The character of the day's business as a whole as well as the volume of trading, this running to more than 1,300,000 shares, pointed rather strongly to better conditions.

It hardly is to be expected that Wall street should pay a great deal of attention to matters outside its own precincts, but there was, nevertheless, material for encouragement in numerous advices from the crop country, particularly those from a large section of the corn belt which was visited over Monday night by a timely rainfall. Elsewhere in the corn county rain is still needed, but the weather is much cooler, a fact also true of the northwest, where estimates of the spring wheat yield are undergoing daily revision upward.

Report on Steel Favorable.

The report of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended June 30 was as usual made public after the close of business, and was, therefore, not a stock exchange factor in any way. Perhaps it will be possible to say the same thing after tomorrow's session when figures have been carefully gone over in the financial dstrict, for the showing is better in some respects than had been expected and poorer in others.

The net earnings of $40,170,000 are larger than had been foreshadowed, exceeding those of the previous quarter by $2,554,000, but on the other hand the tonnage of unfilled orders on the company's books is smaller than had been looked for, standing at 4,257,000 tons, as against 5,402,000 tons three months ago. This loss of 1,145,000 tons is one of the sharpest reported by the company in so brief a period, but it remains to be said there is almost invariably a decease on orders in this period, and considering reports of curtailment in trade the falling off is by no means extraordinary.

Money on call easy, 1@2 per cent; ruling rate, 2 per cent; closing bid, 1 per cent; offered at 1½ per cent. Time loans firm; 60 days, 3¼ per cent, and 90 days, 3¾@4 per cent; six months, 5@5¼ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange barely steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.55@4.83.60 for 60 day bills, and at $4.85.50 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.82¾@4.83¼. Bar silver, 53¾c; Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds, steady. Railroads bonds, weak.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, July 26.—Money and discount rates were quiet today. The stock market was unsettled despite the easier carryover rates, the large differences disclosed by the settlement, owing to recent liquidation, causing some apprehension. Home rails recovered a fraction, but kaffirs, rubber, oil, and copper shares were decidedly weak. American securities opened a fraction above parity, but most of the gains were lost under realizing during the first hour. Unfavorable reports of the American corn crops and New York and Amsterdam selling caused further weakness in the afternoon and the market closed dull, a fraction above the lowest.

BERLIN, July 26.—Prices were slightly weaker on the boerse today. Exchange on London, 20m 45pfgs for checks. Money 3 per cent. Private discount rate 3 per cent.

PARIS, July 26.—A heavy tone prevailed on the bourse today. Three per cent rentes 97f 17½cl for the account. Exchange on London 25f 19½cl for checks.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 26.—[Special.]—Boston coppers merely reflected the weakness of the New York market throughout the day, closing prices showing declines of 1@2⅞ points. Calumet and Hecla and Tamarack were the only coppers to show net gains, the former being up 4 and the latter up 1. Osceola lost 2⅞; Mohawk, 2; North Butte, 1¾; Quincy, 1½; Utah Consolidated, 1; Indiana, 1; and Lake, 1. American Telephone sold off 3¾, leading the list. American Zinc lost 1½; United Fruit, 2; United States Smelting, 1½. Call money, 3@3½; time loans, short dates, 4@4¾ per cent; time loans, six months, 5@5½ per cent.

U. S. SPENDS MONEY RAPIDLY.

Working Balance of Treasury Is Again Depleted by Excess of Disbursements Over Receipts.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—An excess of $1,780,343 in disbursements over receipts sent the working balance of the treasury down to $29,893,332 today. This balance is $1,796,736 below that of yesterday.

Today's report shows considerable falling off in customs, corporation and ordinary internal revenue tax receipts and an increase all along the line in expenses, including an excess of $30,200 of public debt disbursements over the public debt receipts. There was $57,500 of lawful money deposited to retire national bank notes under the act of July 14, 1890, while the government paid out $87,400, to redeem such notes.

So far this month all government disbursements, including ordinary, Panama canal and public debt transactions, have exceeded all receipts by $14,042,846, against a similar excess of $18,472,031 at the same date in the last fiscal year.

COTTON MARKET UNSETTLED; NET DECLINE 9 TO 31 POINTS.

Late Positions Receive Good Support After Opening—Few Buyers of Old Crop at Any Time During Day.

New York, July 26.—The cotton market was unsettled today as a result of old crop liquidation and prices have ruled generally lower with the close barely steady at a net decline of 9 to 31 points. The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 4 points, the new crop being relatively steady on cables and the continued hot, dry weather in the southwest.

Late positions received good support after the opening, but the old crop was heavy under some scattered selling of July, which was believed to be against late arrivals at New York for delivery on contracts and liquidation of August.

With the western belt forecast calling for partly cloudy and continued hot weather, the new crop was slow to follow the decline, but gradually eased off and in the late trading became weak under rumors of rains at two or three points in Texas and Wall street selling, while local bear pressure was also encouraged by the weakness of the stock market.

Few Buyers of Old Crop.

There appeared to be few buyers of the old crop at any time during the day and July sold off to 15.37c, or 31 points net lower, while August touched 14.91c, or 27 points lower and the lowest prices reached since the culmination of the July covering movement at 16.55c for that position last week. The new crop at the worst showed a net loss of only 12@13 points and last prices were well up from the lowest on covering.

It seems that a little more cotton is reaching heer for July delivery than had been anticipated, and it is believed that this accounts for much of today's selling.

The bull leaders were credited with selling some August, but a good deal of the liquidation of this position was believed to be by "trailers" who were replacing their purchases of the new crop months at the decline. Receipts of cotton at the ports today, 3,660, against 13,963 last week and 3,139 last year. For the week, 45,000 bales, against 56,441 last week and 13,401 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 1,434 bales, against 333 last year, and at Houston, 961, against 150 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 25 points decline; middling uplands, 15.50c; middling gulf, 15.75c. Sales, 16,965 bales. Quotations on futures:

PERSONAL—TO SALARIED PEOPLE—
Living cost has increased. Has your salary gone up in proportion? Many people now holding good positions look forward to the time when by some stroke of luck they will have a sufficient sum of money to forever keep the wolf from the door. To do this is possible, but in a large majority of cases it is highly improbable. The advertiser wants to get in touch with the salaried man or woman who realizes that the successful foundation on which to build for future independence commences with the first DOLLAR saved and well invested. The advertiser is in position to offer those who realize the correctness of the above statements, an opportunity TO COMMENCE NOW, by the purchase of a contract, guaranteed by a big bank and trust company, of unquestioned standing, that will afford any person or family absolute independence for their declining years. This is a business proposition, conducted by business men, and we are desirous of getting in touch with the salaried man, now possessing $100 or more, who desires to secure permanent relief from high living cost, and who is anxious in his producing years to provide a condition that will insure future financial and physical comfort and independence. Address K O 63, Tribune.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 minutes from loop district] and my being the president of a large wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing] and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. My customer's name and address are known only to me; my employes know accounts only by serial number. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges for any time are burdensome. My average price, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, often less, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care the Englewood Co., 1101-1103 E. 63d-st., corner Greenwood-av. Telephone Hyde Park 4333.

BARGAINS

DEAR SIR:

Did you ever visit my place of business? It is at 2437-2439 Michigan-av. It is a three story building, 20,000 square feet of floor space devoted exclusively to rebuilding used cars. I have been located on Michigan-av. and engaged in this work for the last eleven years, and I ought to be the best expert in that line of business.

I buy cars for cash, run them through the shop, remanufacture them, in fact, and when they come out they not only look as good as new but they really are and should give as good service as new machines.

I am expert on buying cars and do not buy anything but what is well worth the money. Having experts in the shop to overhaul a car and put it in the right condition at the least expense puts me in a position to offer unusually good bargains.

Besides having about 150 remanufactured cars in the building, we also have the agency of 21 different makes of new cars that we can sell, giving you the chance to choose and make your selection.

While we have this nice weather and while you have the automobile fever you ought to come down and see what you can buy and I feel certain that you will be surprised when you hear the prices that we are asking.

We have touring cars—good ones—all the way from $350 and up. We have runabouts, roadsters, five passenger touring cars, and seven passenger cars; in fact, we have everything and at a price that would make anybody buy.

Hoping to be favored with a visit from you soon and assuring you of satisfaction, I am,
